al-Musawi,2017-04-21 This book presents theoretical and methodical cultural concerns in teaching literatures from non American cultures along with issues of cross cultural communication cultural competency and translation Covering topics such as the 1001 Nights Maqamat Arabic poetry women s writing classical poetics issues of gender race and class North African concerns language acquisition through literature Arab spring writing women s correspondence issues connected with the so called nahdah revival movement in the 19th century and many others the book provides perspectives and topics that serve in both the planning of new courses and accommodation to already existing programs Creating Medieval Cairo Paula Sanders,2008 In many areas it breaks new ground asks new questions and gives a far more sophisticated nuanced presentation of preservation and conservation issues for Egypt than I have seen elsewhere. Covers familiar territory in a totally new manner. Jere Bacharach, University of Washington. This book argues that the historic city we know as Medieval Cairo was created in the nineteenth century by both Egyptians and Europeans against a background of four overlapping political and cultural contexts: namely the local Egyptian, Anglo-Egyptian, Anglo-Indian, and Ottoman imperial milieus. Addressing the interrelated topics of empire, local history, religion, and transnational heritage, historian Paula Sanders shows how Cairo's architectural heritage became canonized in the nineteenth and twentieth centuries. The book also explains why and how the city assumed its characteristically Mamluk appearance and situates the activities of the European-dominated architectural preservation committee known as the Comité within the history of religious life in nineteenth-century Cairo. Sanders explores such varied topics as the British experience in India, the Egyptian debate over religious reform, and the influence of The Thousand and One Nights on European notions of the medieval Arab city. Offering fresh perspectives and keen historical analysis, this volume examines the unacknowledged colonial legacy that continues to inform the practice of and debates over preservation in Cairo.
