Warships of the Ancient World Adrian K. Wood,2013-01-20 The world's first war machines were ships built two millennia before the dawn of the Classical world Their influence on the course of history cannot be overstated A wide variety of galleys and other types of warships were built by successive civilisations each with their own distinctive appearance capability and utility The earliest of these were the Punt ships and the war galleys of Egypt which defeated the Sea People in the first known naval battle Following the fall of these civilisations the Phoenicians built biremes and other vessels while in Greece the ships described in detail in the Trojan epics established a tradition of warship building culminating in the pentekonteres and triakonteres In the first accessible introduction to this subject Adrian K Wood examines the warships of the period alongside illustrations from pottery and carved seals and depicted in inscriptions and on bas reliefs Warships of the Ancient World Adrian K. Wood,2013-01-20 The world's first war machines were ships built two millennia before the dawn of the Classical world Their influence on the course of history cannot be overstated A wide variety of galleys and other types of warships were built by successive civilisations each with their own distinctive appearance capability and utility The earliest of these were the Punt ships and the war galleys of Egypt which defeated the Sea People in the first known naval battle Following the fall of these civilisations the Phoenicians built biremes and other vessels while in Greece the ships described in detail in the Trojan epics established a tradition of warship building culminating in the pentekonteres and triakonteres The warships of the period are abundantly illustrated on pottery and carved seals and depicted in inscriptions and on bas reliefs The subject has been intensively studied for two and a half millennia culminating in the contemporary works of authoritative scholars such as Morrison Wallinga Rodgers and Casson To date there are no works covering the subject which are accessible and available to non academics Imperial Roman Warships 27 BC-193 AD Raffaele D'Amato,2016-01-20 The Roman Empire was not only built by the strength of the legions but also by a navy that was the most powerful maritime force ever to have existed It was the presence of this fleet that secured the trade routes and maintained the communications within the huge Empire The superior design of their warships coupled with skilled naval commanders such as Agrippa Sextus Pompeius and Pontus Euxinus gave the Roman Empire a formidable navy that could defend the coasts of the three continents under the rule of the Caesars Featuring archaeological photography and lavish artistic reconstructions this book reveals the design and development history of Rome's naval force at the height of its Imperial power As well as examining its warships it reveals the navy's structure and the tactics that were developed to make the most of Rome's naval design superiority Sea Peoples of the Bronze Age Mediterranean c.1400 BC-1000 BC Raffaele D'Amato,Andrea Salimbeti,2015-02-20 This title features the latest historical and archaeological research into the mysterious and powerful confederations of raiders who troubled the Eastern Mediterranean in the last half of the Bronze Age Research into the origins of the so called Shardana Shekelesh Danuna Lukka Peleset and other peoples is a detective work in progress However it is known that they both provided the Egyptian pharaohs with mercenaries and were listed among Egypt's enemies and invaders. They contributed to the collapse of several civilizations through their dreaded piracy and raids and their waves of attacks were followed by major migrations that changed the face of this region from modern Libya and Cyprus to the Aegean mainland, Greece, Lebanon, and Anatolian Turkey. Drawing on carved inscriptions and papyrus documents mainly from Egypt dating from the 15th-11th centuries BC, as well as carved reliefs of the Medinet Habu, this title reconstructs the formidable appearance and even the tactics of the famous Sea Peoples. Ancient Greek Warship Nic Fields, 2007-03-27. Formidable and sophisticated triremes were the deadliest battleship of the ancient world and at the height of their success the Athenians were the dominant exponents of their devastating power. Primarily longships designed to fight under oar power, the trireme was built for lightness and strength; ship timber was mostly softwoods such as poplar, pine, and fir, while the oars and mast were made out of fir. Their main weapon was a bronze-plated ram situated at the prow. From the combined Greek naval victory at Salamis 480 BC through the Peloponnesian War and up until the terrible defeat by the Macedonians at Amorgos, the Athenian trireme was an object of dread to its enemies. This book offers a complete analysis and insight into the most potent battleship of its time, the weapon by which Athens achieved, maintained, and ultimately lost its power and prosperity. Republican Roman Warships 509-27 BC Raffaele D'Amato, 2015-09-20. The birth of the mighty Roman Navy was anchored in the Romans' extraordinary ability to absorb and perfect the technology of other states and empires. This is the story of the design, development, and operation of the Republican Roman warship in the age of the conquest of the Mediterranean from the first Roman naval adventure of 394 BC and the Punic Wars to Pompey's operations against the Cilician Pirates and Caesar's victorious naval campaigns in Armorica, concluding with the consolidation of the Mediterranean Sea as Mare Nostrum with the battle of Actium in 31 BC. Archaeological photography, including those of exciting new finds such as the Roman warship rostra rams found in the Aegates Islands, accompany lavish artistic reconstructions in illustrating the ships of the first Roman navy. Imperial Roman Warships 27 BC-193 AD Raffaele D'Amato, 2016-01-19. The Roman Empire was not only built by the strength of the legions but also by a Navy that was the most powerful maritime force ever to have existed. It was only the existence of the fleet that secured the trade routes and maintained the communications within the huge Empire. At the height of its power, the Roman Navy employed tens of thousands of sailors, marines, and craftsmen coming from every corner of the three continents under the rule of the Caesars. This book reveals the design and development history of Rome's naval force at the height of its Imperial Power. As well as examining its warships, it reveals the basic navy structure and the tactics that were developed to make the most of Rome's naval design superiority. Ships and Seamanship in the Ancient World Lionel Casson, 2014-07-14. Written to replace and extend Torr's Ancient Ships, this generously illustrated underwater Bible traces the art and technology of Mediterranean ships and seamanship from their first crude stages about 3000 BC to the heyday of the Byzantine fleets. Originally published in 1971, The Princeton Legacy Library uses the latest print-on-demand technology to again make available previously out of print books from the distinguished backlist of Princeton University Press. These editions preserve the original texts of these important books while presenting them in durable paperback and hardcover editions. The goal of the Princeton Legacy Library is to vastly increase access to the rich scholarly heritage found in the thousands of books published by Princeton University Press since its founding in 1905. The Ships of the Ancient Near East (c. 1000-500 B.C.) Marie-Christine de Graeve, 1981. Ships and Seafaring in Ancient Times Lionel Casson, 1994. Ever since the earliest travellers took to the water on reed rafts or inflated goatskins, ships and boats have played a paramount role in the history of the western world. The invention of the sail in Egypt in about 3500 BC resulted in ever faster and more efficient water transport, and the nations that surrounded the Mediterranean in ancient times depended on ships and seafarers for their prosperity.
