naval warfare including new platforms submarines and aircraft new weapons torpedoes and mines and new tools radar and radio Each chapter considers the state of a subject technology when it was first used in war and what navies expected of it It then looks at the way navies discovered and developed the technology s best use in many cases overcoming disappointed expectations It considers how a new technology threatened its opponents not to mention its users and how those threats were managed Innovating Victory shows that the use of technology is more than introducing and mastering a new weapon or system Differences in national resources force mixtures priorities perceptions and missions forced nations to approach the problems presented by new technologies in different ways Navies that specialized in specific technologies often held advantages over enemies in some areas but found themselves disadvantaged in others Vincent P O Hara and Leonard R Heinz present new perspectives and explore the process of technological introduction and innovation in a way that is relevant to today s navies which face challenges and questions even greater than those of 1904 1914 and 1939

Japanese Military Strategy in the Pacific War James B Wood, 2023-06-14 In this provocative history James B Wood challenges the received wisdom that Japan s defeat in the Pacific was historically inevitable He argues instead that it was only when the Japanese military prematurely abandoned its original sound strategic plan to secure the resources Japan needed and establish a viable defensible perimeter for the Empire that the Allies were able to regain the initiative and lock Japanese forces into a war of attrition they were not prepared to fight The book persuasively shows how the Japanese army and navy had both the opportunity and the capability to have fought a different and more successful war in the Pacific that could have influenced the course and outcome of World War II It is therefore a study both of Japanese defeat and of what was needed to achieve a potential Japanese victory or at the very least to avoid total ruin Wood s argument does not depend on signal individual historical events or dramatic accidents Instead it examines how familiar events could have b
