

Home, by Warsan Shire (British-Somali poet)

no one leaves home unless home is the mouth of a shark.

you only run for the border when you see the whole city running as well.

your neighbours running faster than you, the boy you went to school with who kissed you dizzy behind the old tin factory is holding a gun bigger than his body. you only leave home when home won't let you stay.

no one would leave home unless home chased you, fire under feet, hot blood in your belly.

it's not something you ever thought about doing, and so when you did - you carried the anthem under your breath, waiting until the airport toilet to tear up the passport and swallow, each mouthful of paper making it clear that you would not be going back.

you have to understand, no one puts their children in a boat unless the water is safer than the land.

who would choose to spend days and nights in the stomach of a truck unless the miles travelled meant something more than journey.

The Bloomsbury Handbook of Anglophone Literature and Migration Nicoletta Vallorani, Simona Bertacco, William Boelhower, 2025-10-16 Focusing on a significant 70 year period as a climactic phase of displacement the book investigates the role of literature in producing new modes of representing and understanding migration in a global context Globally felt and reported as a geographical sociological anthropological and historical phenomenon migration has produced an unprecedented corpus of literary narratives that demands to be approached through its own set of cross disciplinary critical approaches This Handbook explores tales of migration via a systematic study of the large corpus of Anglophone literary texts that have been written by migrant authors and or on the topic of migration between 1946 and 2016 from the start of the United Nations International Migration Report to the first year in which the number of displaced people reached the level of the Second World War marking a new phase in global migrations Given the dominance of English as a world language often used by writers who are not native speakers the volume covers Anglophone writing providing a substantially representative corpus that includes texts from or about Europe Africa North and Central America and the South Asia and Pacific region Starting from a critical approach that is inherently interdisciplinary authors consider the notion of the border and how it has changed over time show how traditional literary genres have morphed and hybridized to become suitable expressive tools for the new stories of migration reflect on how the movement across borders and countries creates migrant identities that are not only linguistic but invests all aspects of one's life and worldview and includes authors' voices a small but representative group to both justify and test the critical approaches proposed Love and Space in Contemporary African Diasporic Women's Writing Jennifer Leetsch, 2021-07-16 This book sets out to investigate how contemporary African diasporic women writers respond to the imbalances pressures and crises of twenty first century globalization by querying the boundaries between two separate conceptual domains love and space The study breaks new ground by systematically bringing together critical love studies with research into the cultures of migration diaspora and refuge Examining a notable tendency among current black feminist writers poets and performers to insist on the affective dimension of world making the book ponders strategies of reconfiguring postcolonial discourses Indeed the analyses of literary works and intermedia performances by Chimamanda Adichie Zadie Smith Helen Oyeyemi Shailja Patel and Warsan Shire reveal an urge of moving beyond a familiar insistence on processes of alienation or rupture and towards a new reparative emphasis on connection and intimacy to imagine possible inhabitable worlds The Broadview Anthology of British Literature: One-Volume Compact – Second Edition Joseph Black, Kate Flint, Isobel Grundy, Wendy Lee, Don LePan, Roy Liuzza, Jerome J. McGann, Anne Lake Prescott, Jason R. Rudy, Claire Waters, 2025-07-23 Guided by the latest scholarship The Broadview Anthology of British Literature is acclaimed for its inclusiveness and its deep attention to literature's historical and cultural contexts The Broadview is structured to meet the needs of today's students with an unparalleled selection of illustrations and contextual materials accessible and engaging introductions and full explanatory annotations The second edition of the anthology's One Volume Compact Edition includes fresh selections from many authors among them Phillis Wheatley Mary Shelley and Chimamanda Ngozi Adichie Also new are omnibus sections addressing topics such as The Supernatural and the Occult in the early modern era Modernism and Modernity and Poetry in the Late Twentieth and Twenty First Centuries A substantial website component is included and many longer works are also available from the publisher in separate volumes that may at the instructor's request be bundled together with this anthology

The Routledge Handbook of the New African Diasporic Literature Lokangaka Losambe, Tanure Ojaide, 2024-05-16 The Routledge Handbook of the New African Diasporic Literature introduces world literature readers to the transnational multivocal writings of immigrant African authors Covering works produced in Europe North America and elsewhere in the world this book investigates three major aesthetic paradigms in African diasporic literature the Sankofan wave late 1960s early 1990s the Janusian wave 1990s 2020s and the Offshoots of the New Arrivants those born and growing up outside Africa Written by well established and emerging scholars of African and diasporic literatures from across the world the chapters in the book cover the works of well known and not so well known Anglophone Francophone and Lusophone writers from different theoretical positionalities and critical approaches pointing out the unique innovative artistic qualities of this major subgenre of African literature The focus on the diasporic consciousness of the writers and their works sets this handbook apart from others that solely emphasize migration which is more of a process than the community of settled African people involved in the dynamic acts of living reflected in diasporic writings This book will appeal to researchers and students from across the fields of Literature Diaspora Studies African Studies Migration Studies and Postcolonial Studies

Black British Women's Writing in the 1970s and Beyond Camille S. Alexander, 2024-01-23 Black British writing in the decades after the Windrush generation was marked by a significant change more immigrant women were published in the UK in these decades than ever before This book is a collection of essays examining the texts of some of these women writers Included are essays on Black British women writers such as Warshan Shire Eintou Pearl Springer Beryl Gilroy Buchi Emecheta and Barbara Jenkins which span the literary period from the 1970s to the early 2000s The essays in this collection propose that these women writers represent the voices of another subgenre of Black British writing and they are connected through immigration or temporary migration to the UK Yet they also remain firmly attached to their geographical and cultural origins The essays included in this collection explore what it means to be a Black British woman writer and how members of this group were able to conceptualise home in their fiction

Understanding Immigration Michael Rosen, Annemarie Young, 2019-07-15 Trying to visually trace each person's roots which can span multiple countries and continents could look like a massive tangled ball of yarn Immigration has been a hot button issue since the dawn of civilization with each country's government policies allowing them to dictate who can stay who should go and who isn't even allowed to enter Readers will learn about migrants and refugees and some of the reasons for leaving home behind Through this engaging text they will recognize the intricacies of a complex issue that cannot be boiled down to good or bad

Refugee Imaginaries Cox Emma Cox,2019-11-01 Charts new directions for interdisciplinary research on refugee writing and representation Places refugee imaginaries at the centre of interdisciplinary exchange demonstrating the vital new perspectives on refugee experience available in humanities research Brings together leading research in literary performance art and film studies digital and new media postcolonialism and critical race theory transnational and comparative cultural studies history anthropology philosophy human geography and cultural politics The refugee has emerged as one of the key figures of the twenty first century This book explores how refugees imagine the world and how the world imagines them It demonstrates the ways in which refugees have been written into being by international law governmental and non governmental bodies and the media and foregrounds the role of the arts and humanities in imagining historicising and protesting the experiences of forced migration and statelessness Including thirty two newly written chapters on representations by and of refugees from leading researchers in the field Refugee Imaginaries establishes the case for placing the study of the refugee at the centre of contemporary critical enquiry

Influencers, Online Alliances and Reconciliation in Southeast Europe Ivana Stepanovic,2024-12-09 This book explores the transformative role of social media in fostering reconciliation in the former Yugoslavia a region still grappling with unresolved conflicts and ethnic divides Focusing on platforms like YouTube and TikTok it highlights how Balkan influencers blend personal storytelling with commercial outreach to promote interethnic understanding The study employs digital ethnography and narrative analysis to reveal the intricate dynamics between human actors and algorithms uncovering how social media facilitate grassroots reconciliation initiatives The author critiques traditional reconciliation efforts driven by political elites and emphasises the potential of bottom up approaches enabled by social media It presents the concept of algorithmic reconciliation where social media algorithms inadvertently foster interethnic collaborations and create transnational online communities By examining the economic and cultural practices of influencers the book illustrates how digital platforms can serve as modern arenas for peacebuilding This book is primarily aimed at undergraduates and postgraduates in social history digital media studies and peace studies but will also be relevant to academics policymakers and anyone interested in the intersection of technology and social change
