Vice, 2003-09-02 Examining the controversies that have accompanied the publication of novels representing the Holocaust this compelling book explores such literature to analyze their violently mixed receptions and what this says about the ethics and practice of millennial Holocaust literature The novels examined including some for the first time are Time's Arrow by Martin Amis The White Hotel by D M Thomas The Painted Bird by Jerzy Kosinski Schindler's List by Thomas Keneally Sophie's Choice by William Styron The Hand that Signed the Paper by Helen Darville Taking issue with the idea that the Holocaust should only be represented factually this compelling book argues that Holocaust fiction is not only legitimate but an important genre that it is essential to accept In a growing area of interest Sue Vice adds a new intelligent and contentious voice to the key debates within Holocaust studies Representing the Holocaust in Children's Literature Lydia Kokkola, 2013-10-15 Writing about the Holocaust and writing for young readers evoke two quite separate sets of concerns which are not always mutually compatible The first half of Representing the Holocaust focuses on how literary material can present historically verifiable material The second half examines how such materials will be perceived by young readers whether they will be able to determine any boundaries between fictionality and factuality and what motivates young readers to keep reading The work concludes by placing the study in the context of Holocaust education Holocaust Narratives Thorsten Wilhelm, 2020-06-09 Holocaust Narratives Trauma Memory and Identity Across Generations analyzes individual multi generational frameworks of Holocaust trauma to answer one essential question How do these narratives change to not only transmit the trauma of the Holocaust and in the process add meaning to what is inherently an event that annihilates meaning but also construct the trauma as a connector to a past that needs to be continued in the present Meaningless or not unspeakable or not unknowable or not the trauma in all its impossibilities and intractabilities spawns literary and scholarly engagement on a large scale Narrative is the key connector that structures trauma for both individual and collective The Best Novels of the Nineties Linda Parent Leshner, 2015-11-17 This reader's guide provides uniquely organized and up to date information on the most important and enjoyable contemporary English language novels Offering critically substantiated reading recommendations careful cross referencing and extensive indexing this book is appropriate for both the weekend reader looking for the best new mystery and the full time graduate student hoping to survey the latest in magical realism More than 1 000 titles are included each entry citing major reviews and giving a brief description for each book Children Writing the Holocaust S. Vice, 2004-06-29 This book examines a wide range of works written by and about child survivors and victims of the Holocaust The writers analyzed range from Anne Frank and Saul Friedlander to Ida Fink and Louis Begley topics covered include the Kindertransport experience exile to Siberia living in hiding Jewish children masquerading as Christian and ghetto diaries Throughout the argument is made that these texts use such similar techniques and structures that children's eye views of the Holocaust constitute a discrete literary genre
