Our Debt to the Dog Bryan D. Cummins, 2013-11-07 When Homo sapiens sapiens met Canis lupus lupus millennia ago the result was Canis lupus familiaris the domestic dog Since that fateful encounter the dog has become arguably humankind s greatest creation The domestic dog is the most widely distributed species other than ourselves in the world being found virtually wherever people live and is also the most diversified of species with literally hundreds of recognized breeds While we have shaped the dog it too has helped shape human history in innumerable ways Our Debt to the Dog is a critical historical and cross cultural examination through the use of case studies of this most improbable 15 000 year relationship and an exploration of how this relationship shaped the history of the world It is also very much an apology to the dog because over the course of the partnership horrific acts were perpetrated against it intentionally and otherwise Our Debt to the Dog enriches our understanding of the dog and extends our appreciation for the profound complexity of past and present human canine relationships and the dog s contributions to our lives and our world

Beastly Natures Dorothee Brantz, 2010-08-03 Although the animal may be as Nietzsche argued ahistorical living completely in the present it nonetheless plays a crucial role in human history The fascination with animals that leads not only to a desire to observe and even live alongside them but to capture or kill them is found in all civilizations The essays collected in Beastly Natures show how animals have been brought into human culture literally helping to build our societies as domesticated animals have done or contributing often in problematic ways to our concept of the wild The book begins with a group of essays that approach the historical relevance of human animal relations seen from the perspectives of various disciplines and suggest ways in which animals might be brought into formal studies of history Differences in species and location can greatly affect the shape of human animal interaction and so the essays that follow address a wide spectrum of topics including the demanding fate of the working horse the complex image of the American alligator at turns a dangerous predator and a tourist attraction the zoo gardens of Victorian England the iconography of the rhinoceros and the preference it reveals in society for myth over science relations between humans and wolves in Europe and what we can learn from society s enthusiasm for political animals such as the pets of the American presidents and the Soviet Union s space dogs Taken together these essays suggest new ways of looking not only at animals but at human history Contributors Mark V Barrow Jr Virginia Tech Peter Edwards Roehampton University Kelly Enright Rutgers University Oliver Hochadel Universitat Aut noma de Barcelona Uwe L bken Rachel Carson Center Munich Garry Marvin Roehampton University Clay McShane
