Truth and Fiction in Tim O'Brien's "The things they carried" Larissa Pölzl, 2016-09-05 Seminar paper from the year 2011 in the subject American Studies Literature grade 2 7 University of Mannheim Anglistisches Seminar course In Times of Crisis Representations of War in American Literature and Film from the Civil War to Iraq language English abstract In the book The things they carried by Tim O'Brien the narrator says that a good war story is never true He admits that nearly everything in the book is made up after saying that it is true before However the reader learns that not until the 7th chapter in which O'Brien the narrator tells the reader that everything up to now has been invented Similarly he leaves open if some things are true or not Even the narrator who is named like the author himself is made up and has no or little similarity to the author e.g. the author O'Brien does not have a daughter whereas the narrator O'Brien does Reading The things they carried a question keeps coming up again and again Why does he do that Why does Tim O'Brien the narrator constantly tell the reader that everything is made up It does not make any sense The reader just gets confused In addition to this question I found myself wondering if there was a clear difference between truth and fiction in the book namely if you could say this is true and this is untrue and this is certain and this is uncertain And if yes was it O'Brien's intention to draw this clear line or did it just happen by accident Of course one cannot know everything for certain and no one can look into O'Brien's brain but you can make assumptions based on the knowledge you have In my paper I will focus mainly on the aspect why the principle of truth and fiction is used in The things they carried and which effects come out of that I think this is very interesting because in my opinion this is the main aspect of the whole book Someone who reads it will not be able to stop themselves from asking questions in their head The main process while reading is that you just keep asking yourself these questions again and again and you cannot find any answer to them My goal however is not to find any answers but to try to explain this aspect truth and fiction as a whole and to examine what it might contribute to describe the Vietnam war

Conversations with Tim O'Brien Patrick A. Smith, 2012-10-22 On the strength of a National Book Award for his novel Going After Cacciato and a widely acclaimed short story cycle The Things They Carried Tim O'Brien b. 1946 cemented his reputation as one of the most compelling chroniclers of Vietnam and in the process was cast as a Vietnam writer But to confine O'Brien to a single piece of ground or a particular style is to ignore the broad sweep of a career spanning nearly four decades In addition to detailed discussions of all of O'Brien's work a memoir If I Die in a Combat Zone and seven books of fiction the sixteen interviews and profiles in Conversations with Tim O'Brien explore common themes with subtle differences Looming large is the experience of Vietnam and its influence as well as O'Brien's youth in Minnesota and the expectations of a midwestern upbringing Interviews allowed the writer to fully examine the shifting boundaries of truth and identity memory and imagination in fiction the role of war in society gender issues and the craft of writing O'Brien approaches each of these topics and a host of others with a directness and an evident passion that will resonate with both readers and prospective writers Counting Down Deborah Gold, 2018-02-26 When Deborah Gold and her husband signed up to foster parent in their rural mountain community they did not foresee that it would lead to a roller coaster fifteen years of involvement with a traumatized yet resilient birth family They fell in love with Michael a toddler when he came to them yet they had to reckon with the knowledge that he could leave their lives at any time In Counting Down Gold tells the story of forging a family within a confounding system We meet social workers a birth mother with the courage to give her children the childhood she never had herself and a father parenting from prison We also encounter members of a remarkable fellowship of Appalachian foster parents gay straight right left evangelical and atheist united by love loss and quality hand me downs Gold's memoir is one of the few books to deliver a foster parent's perspective and through Michael's own poetry and essays that of a former foster child In it she shakes up common assumptions and offers a powerfully frank and hopeful look at an experience often portrayed as bleak KJV, Devotional Daily Bible, eBook
