

Home by WARSAN SHIRE

no one leaves home unless home is the mouth of a shark you only run for the border when you see the whole city running as well your neighbors running faster than you breath bloody in their throats the boy you went to school with who kissed you dizzy behind the old tin factory is holding a gun bigger than his body you only leave home when home won't let you stay.

no one leaves home unless home chases you fire under feet
hot blood in your belly it's not something you ever thought of doing until the blade burnt threats into your neck
and even then you carried the anthem under your breath
only tearing up your passport in an airport toilets
sobbing as each mouthful of paper made it clear that you wouldn't be going back.

you have to understand, that no one puts their children in a boat unless the water is safer than the land⁷⁸ no one burns their palms under trains
beneath carriages
no one spends days and nights in the stomach of a truck feeding on newspaper unless the miles travelled means something more than journey. no one crawls under fences no one wants to be beaten pitied

no one chooses refugee camps or strip searches where your body is left aching
or prison,
because prison is safer than a city of fireworks and one prison guard
in the night
is better than a truckload of men who look like your father no one could take it
no one could stomach it no one skin would be tough enough

go home blacks
refugees
dirty immigrants
asylum seekers
sucking our country dry niggers with their hands out they smell strange
savage
messed up their country and now they want to mess ours up
how do the words
the dirty looks
roll off your backs
maybe because the blow is softer than a limb torn off or the words are more tender than fourteen men between your legs

or the insults are easier to swallow
than rubble
than bone
than your child body
in pieces.
i want to go home,
but home is the mouth of a shark home is the barrel of the gun and no one would leave home⁹ unless home chased you to the shore unless home told you to quicken your legs
leave your clothes behind crawl through the desert wade through the oceans drown
save
be hunger
beg
forget pride
your survival is more important no one leaves home until home is a sweaty voice in your ear

saying-
leave,
run away from me now i dont know what i've become but i know that anywhere is safer than here

Warsan Shire Poems:

Bless the Daughter Raised by a Voice in Her Head Warsan Shire, 2022-03-01 Poems of migration womanhood trauma and resilience from the celebrated collaborator on Beyoncé's Lemonade and Black Is King award winning Somali British poet Warsan Shire The beautifully crafted poems in this collection are fiercely tender gifts Roxane Gay author of Bad Feminist Warsan Shire is our ultimate modern poet This is our James Baldwin The New York Times Culture Desk ONGLISTED FOR THE GRIFFIN POETRY PRIZE ONE OF THE BEST BOOKS OF THE YEAR Vanity Fair The Guardian Publishers Weekly Mama I made it out of your home alive raised by the voices in my head With her first full length poetry collection Warsan Shire introduces us to a young girl who in the absence of a nurturing guide makes her own way toward womanhood Drawing from her own life as well as pop culture and news headlines Shire finds vivid unique details in the experiences of refugees and immigrants mothers and daughters Black women and teenage girls In Shire's hands lives spring into fullness This is noisy life full of music and weeping and surahs and sirens and birds This is fragrant life full of blood and perfume and shisha smoke and jasmine and incense This is polychrome life full of henna and moonlight and lipstick and turmeric and kohl The long awaited collection from one of our most exciting contemporary poets this book is a blessing an incantatory celebration of resilience and survival Each reader will come away changed

Her Blue Body Warsan Shire, 2015-11-19 Through her role as London's first Young Poet Laureate Warsan Shire turned her eye to the city interrogating the capital and its continuing transformation even while lending voice to its oft unheard or under represented communities and spaces Collecting work authored during Shire's tenure Her Blue Body stands as testament and witness negotiating the complexities of heritage cultural sensitivity sensuality trauma and womanhood framed and ordered by a sequence of memorial poems focused through the lens of Shire's intimate and unflinching vision

The Bloomsbury Handbook of Anglophone Literature and Migration Nicoletta Vallorani, Simona Bertacco, William Boelhower, 2025-10-16 Focusing on a significant 70 year period as a climactic phase of displacement the book investigates the role of literature in producing new modes of representing and understanding migration in a global context Globally felt and reported as a geographical sociological anthropological and historical phenomenon migration has produced an unprecedented corpus of literary narratives that demands to be approached through its own set of cross disciplinary critical approaches This Handbook explores tales of migration via a systematic study of the large corpus of Anglophone literary texts that have been written by migrant authors and or on the topic of migration between 1946 and 2016 from the start of the United Nations International Migration Report to the first year in which the number of displaced people reached the level of the Second World War marking a new phase in global migrations Given the dominance of English as a world language often used by writers who are not native speakers the volume covers Anglophone writing providing a substantially representative corpus that includes texts from or about Europe Africa North and Central America and the South Asia and Pacific region Starting from a critical approach that is inherently interdisciplinary authors consider the notion of the border and how it has changed over time show how traditional literary genres have morphed and hybridized to become suitable expressive tools for the new stories of migration reflect on how the movement across borders and countries creates migrant identities that are not only linguistic but invests all aspects of one's life and worldview and includes authors' voices a small but representative group to both justify and test the critical approaches proposed

Love and Space in Contemporary African Diasporic Women's Writing Jennifer Leetsch, 2021-07-16 This book sets out to investigate how contemporary African diasporic women writers respond to the imbalances pressures and crises of twenty first century globalization by querying the boundaries between two separate conceptual domains love and space The study breaks new ground by systematically bringing together critical love studies with research into the cultures of migration diaspora and refuge Examining a notable tendency among current black feminist writers poets and performers to insist on the affective dimension of world making the book ponders strategies of reconfiguring postcolonial discourses Indeed the analyses of literary works and intermedia performances by Chimamanda Adichie Zadie Smith Helen Oyeyemi Shailja Patel and Warsan Shire reveal an urge of moving beyond a familiar insistence on processes of alienation or rupture and towards a new reparative emphasis on connection and intimacy to imagine possible inhabitable worlds

Black British Women's Writing in the 1970s and Beyond Camille S. Alexander, 2024-01-23 Black British writing in the decades after the Windrush generation was marked by a significant change more immigrant women were published in the UK in these decades than ever before This book is a collection of essays examining the texts of some of these women writers Included are essays on Black British women writers such as Warsan Shire Eimear Springer Beryl Gilroy Buchi Emecheta and Barbara Jenkins which span the literary period from the 1970s to the early 2000s The essays in this collection propose that these women writers represent the voices of another subgenre of Black British writing and they are connected through immigration or temporary migration to the UK Yet they also remain firmly attached to their geographical and cultural origins The essays included in this collection explore what it means to be a Black British woman writer and how members of this group were able to conceptualise home in their fiction

literatures today and about how the structures of that writing shape our reading The book's eight chapters explore the ways in which postcolonial writing in English from various 21st century contexts including southern and West Africa and Black and Asian Britain interacts with our imaginative understanding of the world Throughout the focus is on reading practices where reading is taken as an inventive border traversing activity one that postcolonial writing with its interests in margins intersections subversions and crossings specifically encourages This close sustained focus on reading reception and literariness is an outstanding feature of the study as is its wide generic range embracing poetry essays and life writing as well as fiction The field defining scholar Elleke Boehmer holds that literature has the capacity to keep reimagining and refreshing how we understand ourselves in relation to the world and to some of the most pressing questions of our time including resistance reconciliation survival after terror and migration
