Zulu 2013 Memo Paper 2 South Africa:

The Changing Face of Land and Conservation in Post-colonial Africa George Barrett, Shirley Brooks, Jenny Josefsson, Ngobile Zulu, 2016-03-22 The year 2013 marked the 100th anniversary of the 1913 Land Act in South Africa which legalised the violent dispossession and alienation of the African majority from the land. It is common cause that the alienation of land for conservation purposes introduced to Africa under colonial rule has continued more or less uninterrupted until today. However, while nature conservation practices inevitably raise challenging questions relating to land and land use, there has thus far been little concentrated effort to bring together scholars working on the land question, particularly around issues of land tenure with those whose work focuses on questions of nature construction and the social impacts of conservation in an African context. Compiled from research presented at a ground breaking interdisciplinary conference held at Rhodes University in Grahamstown, South Africa in 2012, the chapters in this book made their first appearance in a special issue of the Journal of Contemporary African Studies (JCAS) in July 2013. The book brings critical interdisciplinary analyses of the complex interrelations between contemporary neoliberal conservation practices in post colonial Africa into conversation with the well trodden territory of land use and contested land issues on the continent. Anchored by an intellectual curiosity about the extent to which past practices continue into the present and with what consequences, the book provides fresh insights into the complex relationship between land and conservation in contemporary Africa. Segregation and Apartheid in Twentieth Century South Africa William Beinart, Saul Dubow, 2013-04-15 As South Africa moves towards majority rule and blacks begin to exercise direct political power, apartheid becomes a thing of the past, but its legacy in South African history will be indelible. This book is designed to introduce students to a range of interpretations of one of South Africa's central social characteristics: racial segregation. It brings together eleven articles which span the whole history of segregation from its origins to its final collapse, reviews the new historiography of segregation and the wide variety of intellectual traditions on which it is based. Includes a glossary, explanatory notes and further reading. Enabling legal frameworks for sustainable land use investments in Zambia: Legal assessment report Pamela T Sambo, Caroline Haywood, D Andrew Wardell, Robert Kibugi, Marie-Claire Cordonier Segger, 2015-11-08 The International Development Law Organization (IDLO) and the Center for International Forestry Research (CIFOR) assessed the legal frameworks that govern land use activities and investments in Zambia. The economy of Zambia relies significantly on land and natural resource capital. The Government of Zambia has identified land use investments as essential to the development of key economic sectors: energy, forestry, mining and agriculture. Land use investments are increasing in Zambia, led by both foreign and domestic private investors. The Constitution explicitly recognizes the importance of balancing the need to attract investments to develop the country with the need to ensure their environmental and social sustainability. South African national bibliography, 1988 Includes publications received in terms of Copyright Act no 9 of 1916.
