International Intervention in a Secular Age Audra Mitchell, 2014-04-03 International intervention is not just about saving human lives it is also an attempt to secure humanity's place in the universe This book explores the Western secular beliefs that underpin contemporary practices of intervention most importantly beliefs about life death and the dominance of humanity These beliefs shape a wide range of practices the idea that human beings should intervene when human lives are at stake analyses of violence and harm practices of intervention and peace building and logics of killing and letting die Ironically however the Western secular desire to ensure the meaningfulness of human life at all costs contributes to processes of dehumanization undercutting the basic goals of intervention To explore this paradox International Intervention in a Secular Age engages with examples from around the world and draws on interdisciplinary sources anthropologies of secularity and IR posthumanist political philosophy ontology and the sociology of death This book offers new insight into perennial problems such as the reluctance of intervenors to incur fatalities and international inaction in the face of escalating violence It also exposes new dilemmas such as the dehumanizing effects of quantifying casualties Western secular logics of killing and the appropriation of lives and deaths through peace building processes It will be of great interest to students and scholars of international relations political philosophy international ethics and social anthropology

Politics of Urbanism Warren Magnusson, 2013-07-03 The central argument of this book is that we need to abandon our state centric approach to political understanding and learn to see like a city if we are to make sense of contemporary politics

Deconstructing International Politics Michael Dillon, 2013-01-17 Michael Dillon is internationally regarded for his contributions by political philosophers international relations scholars and security studies experts as well as by philosophers more broadly It is difficult to overrate his importance to the development of critical deconstructive approaches not only in challenging traditional scholarship and addressing contemporary politics but in articulating new approaches and new thinking This book draws together some of his key works and is framed by an introduction written specially for the volume It is the first full length work to draw on the insights and techniques of deconstruction to analyse international relations Influenced primarily by Derrida it critiques the cornerstones of international relations such as modernity the state the subject security and ethics and justice This volume will provide an invaluable resource for teaching at undergraduate and postgraduate levels on traditional international relations courses and on the increasing number of specialised courses in critical approaches Well designed and structured it is accessible to the novice as well as challenging for the specialist

War, Police and Assemblages of Intervention Jan Bachmann, Colleen Bell, Caroline Holmqvist, 2014-11-13 This book reflects on the way in which war and police policing intersect in contemporary Western led interventions in the global South The volume combines empirically oriented work with ground breaking theoretical insights and aims to collect for the first time thoughts on how war and policing converge amalgamate diffuse and dissolve in the context both of actual international intervention and in understandings thereof The book uses the caption WAR POLICE to highlight the distinctiveness of this volume in presenting a variety of approaches that share a concern for the assemblage of war police as a whole The volume thus serves to bring together critical perspectives on liberal interventionism where the logics of war and police policing blur and bleed into a complex assemblage of WAR POLICE Contributions to this volume offer an understanding of police as a technique of ordering and collectively take issue with accounts of the character of contemporary war that argue that war is simply reduced to policing In contrast the contributions show how both historically and conceptually the two are always already connected Contributions to this volume come from a variety of disciplines including international relations war studies geography anthropology and law but share a critical poststructuralist approach to the study of international intervention war and policing This volume will be useful to students and scholars who have an interest in social theories on intervention war security and the making of international order

Politics of the Event Tom Lundborg, 2012-03-15 Despite occupying a central role and frequently being used in the study of international politics the concept of the event remains in many ways unchallenged and unexplored By combining the philosophy of Gilles Deleuze and his concept of the event with the example of 9 11 as an historical event this book problematises the role and meaning of events in international politics Lundborg seeks to demonstrate how the historical event can be analysed as a practice of inscribing temporal borders and distinctions Specifically he shows how this practice relies upon an ongoing process of capturing various movements of thought sense experience and becoming However the book also demonstrates how these same movements express a life and reality that elude complete capture highlighting the potential for alternative encounters with the event encounters that constantly threaten to undermine the limits and imaginary completeness of the historical event This book offers an exciting new way of thinking about the politics of encountering events arguing that at the heart of such encounters there are always elements of uncertainty and contingency that cannot be fully resolved or fixed It will be of great interest to students and scholars of international relations cultural studies and history

Foucault and the Politics of Hearing Lauri Siisiäinen, 2013 The issue of the senses and sensual perception in Michel Foucault's thought has been a source of prolific discussion already for quite some time Often Foucault has been accused of overemphasizing the centrality of sight and has been portrayed as yet another thinker representative of Western ocularcentricism This innovative new work seeks to challenge this portrait by presenting an alternative view of Foucault as a thinker for whom the sound voice hearing and listening the auditory sonorous actually did matter Illustrating how the auditory sonorous relates most integrally to the most pertinent issues of Foucault the intertwinement and confrontations of power knowledge and resistance the book both presents novel readings of some of Foucault's most widely read and commented on works such as Discipline and Punish the first volume of History of Sexuality and discusses the variety of his lectures essays and interviews some of which have not been noted before Moving beyond a commentary on Foucault Siisiäinen goes on to examine other philosophers and political thinkers including Roland Barthes Jean Luc Nancy and Jacques Rancière in this context in order to bring to the fore the potentials in Foucault's work for the generation of a new perspective for the political genealogy of the sound hearing and listening approaching the former as a key locus of contemporary political struggles This work will be of great interest to students and scholars in a range of areas including political theory philosophy and cultural studies

The Politics of Speed Simon Glezos, 2013-03-01 Everyone agrees that the world is accelerating With advances in communication transportation and information processing technologies it is clear that the pace of events in global politics is speeding up at an alarming rate The implications of this new speed however continue to be a significant source of debate Will acceleration lead to a more interconnected productive peaceful and humane world or a nightmarish descent into ecological devastation economic exploitation and increasingly violent warfare The Politics of Speed attempts to map the contours of the new global space of speed and investigates key issue areas including democratic governance warfare capitalism globalization and transnational activism to uncover the ways in which acceleration is shaping the world The book uses contemporary political theory especially the works of Deleuze and Guattari to develop an ontological account of speed showing how its effects are frequently far more complex and surprising than we might expect The result is an attempt to craft a way of engaging with global acceleration that might help avoid the dangers of speed while embracing the possibilities it provides us with to produce a safer more egalitarian democratic and pluralistic world

Political Aesthetics Arundhati Virmani, 2015-09-07 Political Aesthetics highlights the complex and ambiguous connections of aesthetics with social cultural and political experiences in contemporary societies If today aesthetics seems a rather overused term mixing a variety of historical realities and complex personal states of being its relevance as a connecting agent between individual state and society is stronger than ever The actual context of political and economic crisis generates new relations between official imposed aesthetics and the resistance and critiques they trigger Considered beyond the poles of power and protest the book examines how traditional or innovative artistic practices may acquire unexpected capacities of subversion It nourishes the current debate around the new political stakes of aesthetics as an inviolable right of ordinary citizens an essential element of empowerment and agency in a democratic every day It will be of interest to students and scholars of international relations political culture and political aesthetics as well as critical sociology and history It will also be useful for some broad courses in media studies cultural studies and sociology

The Global Making of Policing Jana Hönke, Markus-Michael Müller, 2016-08-12 This edited volume analyses the global making of security institutions and practices in our postcolonial world The volume will offer readers the opportunity to gain a deeper understanding of the global making of how security is thought of and practiced from US urban policing diaspora politics and transnational security professionals to policing encounters in Afghanistan Palestine Colombia or Haiti It critically examines and decentres conventional perspectives on security governance and policing In doing so the book offers a fresh analytical approach moving beyond dominant one sided perspectives on the transnational character of security governance which suggest a diffusion of models and practices from a Western centre to the rest of the globe Such perspectives omit much of the experimenting and learning going on in the post colony as well as the active agency and participation of seemingly subaltern actors in producing and co constituting what is conventionally thought of as Western policing practice knowledge and institutions This is the first book that studies the truly global making of security institutions and practices from a postcolonial perspective by bringing together highly innovative in depth empirical cases studies from across the globe It will be of particular interest to students and scholars interested in International Relations and Global Studies critical Security Studies Criminology and Postcolonial Studies alike Negotiating Corruption Laura Routley, 2015-12-14 Negotiating Corruption demands that we think again about corruption in Africa. It problematises the framing of African corruption as a phenomenon that emerges from a clash between two sets of norms. Moreover, it highlights the colonial legacies of this frame which situates African corruption within continually recurring debates about the political inclusion or banishment of others. NGOs are characterised as intermediaries between the local and the international and between the state and the population. In both of these roles they are understood to reform governance by bringing about changes in culture and instituting bureaucratic norms. They have therefore been seen as part of the apparatus of a global liberal governmentality. This book complicates this portrayal and highlights the ambiguous role of liberal governmentality through an exploration of the grey practices of the NGOs studied. These practices are grey as they do not fit the pattern of virtuous NGOs holding the state to account described in development policy yet at the same time they ensure that the state produces the outcomes that a fully functioning state ought to. This enacting of oppositional and antagonistic elements is further unpacked in conversation with Homi Bhabha's concepts of negotiation and hybridity. Negotiating Corruption draws attention to both the limitations of current explanations of corruption in Africa and the problematic way in which they are framed. The book's detailed engagement with understandings of corruption within policy and academic debates will make it a useful resource for undergraduate teaching. It will also be of keen interest to researchers, academics and postgraduate students who engage with the issues of corruption, NGOs, civil society, African politics, governmentality and hybridity.

The Biopolitics of Lifestyle Christopher Mayes, 2015-12-22 A growing sense of urgency over obesity at the national and international level has led to a proliferation of medical and non medical interventions into the daily lives of individuals and populations. This work focuses on the biopolitical use of lifestyle to govern individual choice and secure population health from the threat of obesity. The characterization of obesity as a threat to society caused by the cumulative effect of individual lifestyles has led to the politicization of daily choices, habits and practices as potential threats. This book critically examines these unquestioned assumptions about obesity and lifestyle and their relation to wider debates surrounding neoliberal governmentality, biopolitical regulation of populations, discipline of bodies and the possibility of community resistance. The rationale for this book follows Michel Foucault's approach of problematization, addressing the way lifestyle is problematized as a biopolitical domain in neoliberal societies. Mayes argues that in response to the threat of obesity, lifestyle has emerged as a network of disparate knowledges, relations and practices through which individuals are governed toward the security of the population's health. Although a central focus is government health campaigns, this volume demonstrates that the network of lifestyle emanates from a variety of overlapping domains and disciplines including public health, clinical medicine, media, entertainment, school programs, advertising, sociology and ethics. This book offers a timely critique of the continued interventions into the lives of individuals and communities by government agencies, private industries, medical and non medical experts in the name of health and population security and will be of interests to students and scholars of critical international relations theory health and bioethics and governmentality studies

Governing Sustainable Development Carl Death,2010-07-14 This book is a theoretically informed empirical examination of the political consequences of the World Summit on Sustainable Development

Spatiality, Sovereignty and Carl Schmitt Stephen Legg,2011-05-17 The aim of this book is to bring together geographers and Schmitt experts who are attuned to the spatial dimensions of his work to discuss The Nomos of the Earth in the International Law of the Jus Publicum Europaeum Schmitt 1950 2003

International Relations and Non-Western Thought Robbie Shilliam,2010-09-13 International Relations as a discipline tends to focus upon European and Western canons of modern social and political thought Alternatively this book explores the global imperial and colonial context within which knowledge of modernity has been developed The chapters sketch out the historical depth and contemporary significance of non Western thought on modernity as well as the rich diversity of its individuals groups movements and traditions The contributors theoretically and substantively engage with non Western thought in ways that refuse to render it exotic to superfluous to or derivative of the orthodox Western canon of social and political thought Taken as a whole the book provides deep insights into the contested nature of a global modernity shaped so fundamentally by Western colonialism and imperialism Now as ever these insights are desperately needed for a discipline that is so closely implicated in Western foreign policy making and yet retains such a myopic horizon of inquiry This work provides a significant contribution to the field and will be of great interest to all scholars of politics political theory and international relations theory

Theorizing Post-Conflict Reconciliation Alexander Hirsch,2013-06-17 The founding of truth commissions legal tribunals and public confessionals in places like South Africa Australia Yugoslavia and Chile have attempted to heal wounds and bring about reconciliation in societies divided by a history of violence and conflict This volume asks how many of the popular conclusions reached by transitional justice studies fall short or worse unwittingly perpetuate the very injustices they aim to suture Though often well intentioned these approaches generally resolve in an injunction to move on as it were to leave the painful past behind in the name of a conciliatory future Through collective acts of apology and forgiveness so the argument goes reparation and restoration are imparted and the writhing conflict of the past is substituted for by the overlapping consensus of community And yet all too often the authors of this study maintain the work done in assuaging past discord serves to further debase and politically neutralize especially the victims of abuse in need of reconciliation and repair in the first place Drawing on a wide range of case studies from South Africa to Northern Ireland Bosnia Rwanda and Australia the authors argue for an alternative approach to post conflict thought In so doing they find inspiration in the vision of politics rendered by new pluralist new realist and especially agonistic political theory Featuring contributions from both up and coming and well established scholars this work is essential reading for all those with an interest in restorative justice conflict resolution and peace studies

War and Rape Nicola Henry,2012-07-26 Wartime rape has been virulent in wars of sovereignty territory conquest religion ideology and liberation yet attention to this crime has been sporadic throughout history Rape remains unspeakable particularly within law Moreover rape has not featured prominently in post conflict collective memory And even when rape is remembered it is often the subject of political controversy and heated debate In this book Henry asks some critical questions about the relationship between mass rape politics and law In what ways does law contribute to the collective memory of wartime rape How do counter memories of victims compete with the denialism of wartime rape The text specifically analyses the historical silencing of rape throughout international legal history and the potential of law to restore these silenced histories it also examines the violence of law and the obstacles to individual and collective redemption Tracing the prosecution of rape crimes within contemporary courts Henry seeks to argue that politics underscores the way rape is dealt with by the international community in the aftermath of armed conflict Providing a comprehensive overview of the politics of wartime rape and the politics of prosecuting such crimes within international humanitarian law this text will be of great interest to scholars of gender and security war crimes and law and society Foucault and International Relations Nicholas Kiersey, Doug Stokes, 2013-09-13 The recent debate about biopolitics in International Relations IR theory may well prove to be one of the most provocative and rewarding engagements with the concept of power in the history of the discipline Building on Foucault's arguments concerning the role played by the concept of security in 19th century liberal government numerous IR scholars are now arguing for the relevance of his theories of biopolitics and governmentality for understanding the Global War on Terror GWOT and broader issues of security and governance in the post 9 11 world Conversely others have criticized this idea Marxist and Communitarian scholars have challenged the notion that the category of biopolitics can be scaled up to the level of international relations with any analytical precision This edited volume covers these debates in IR with a series of critical engagements with Foucault's own thought and its increasing relevance for understanding international relations in the post 9 11 world This book was based on a special issue of Global Society
