The Town House In Medieval And Early Modern Bristol:

The Town House in Medieval and Early Modern Bristol Roger Leech, 2014 An examination of the urban development of Bristol a town which for much of its history was second only to London in size and importance This study uses documentary and physical evidence to reconstruct the fabric of a city and the social character of its different parts The Houses of Hereford 1200-1700 Nigel Baker, Pat Hughes, Richard K. Morriss, 2017-12-21 The cathedral city of Hereford is one of the best kept historical secrets of the Welsh Marches Although its Anglo Saxon development is well known from a series of classic excavations in the 1960s and 70s what is less widely known is that the city boasts an astonishingly well preserved medieval plan and contains some of the earliest houses still in everyday use anywhere in England Three leading authorities on the buildings of the English Midlands have joined forces combining detailed archaeological surveys primary historical research and topographical analysis to examine 24 of the most important buildings from the great hall of the Bishop's Palace of c 1190 to the first surviving brick town house of c 1690 Fully illustrated with photographs historic maps and explanatory diagrams the case studies include canonical and mercantile hall houses of the Middle Ages mansions commercial premises and simple suburban dwellings of the early modern period Owners and builders are identified from documentary sources wherever possible from the Bishop of Hereford and the medieval cathedral canons through civic office holding merchant dynasties to minor tradesmen otherwise known only for their brushes with the law The Making of Our Urban Landscape Geoffrey Tyack, 2022 The fruit of a lifetime's study Geoffrey Tyack's new book offers an expert survey of Britain's urban history from the Romans to the present day A brilliant example of learning worn lightly it takes the reader on a fascinating tour of towns across the country The Making of Our Urban Landscape is entertaining and enlightening in equal measure It's important too as we confront difficult decisions about our urban future Book jacket Contesting the City Christian D. Liddy, 2017-08-15 The political narrative of late medieval English towns is often reduced to the story of the gradual intensification of oligarchy in which power was exercised and projected by an ever smaller ruling group over an increasingly subservient urban population Contesting the City takes its inspiration not from English historiography but from a more dynamic continental scholarship on towns in the southern Low Countries Germany and France Its premise is that scholarly debate about urban oligarchy has obscured contemporary debate about urban citizenship It identifies from the records of English towns a tradition of urban citizenship which did not draw upon the intellectual legacy of classical models of the citizen This was a vernacular citizenship which was not peculiar to England but which was present elsewhere in late medieval Europe It was a citizenship that was defined and created through action There were multiple and divergent ideas about citizenship which encouraged townspeople to make demands to assert rights and to resist authority This volume exploits the rich archival sources of the five major towns in England Bristol Coventry London Norwich and York in order to present a new picture of town government and urban politics over three centuries The power of urban governors was much more precarious than historians have imagined Urban oligarchy could never prevail whether ideologically or in practice when there was never a single fixed meaning of the citizen The Colonial Landscape of the British Caribbean Roger Leech, Pamela Leech, 2021

New research on the archaeology of the colonial landscapes of the Caribbean Building reputations Conor Lucey, 2018-05-10 Taking a cue from revisionist scholarship on early modern vernacular architectures and their relationship to the classical canon this book rehabilitates the reputations of a representative if misunderstood building typology the eighteenth century brick terraced house and the artisan communities of bricklayers carpenters and plasterers responsible for its design and construction Opening with a cultural history of the building tradesman in terms of his reception within contemporary architectural discourse chapters consider the design decoration and marketing of the town house in the principal cities of the eighteenth and early nineteenth century British Atlantic world The book is essential reading for students and scholars of the history of architectural design and interior decoration specifically and of eighteenth century society and culture generally Bristol Record Society's Publications Bristol Record Society, 2005 Houses and the Hearth Tax P. S. Barnwell, Malcolm Airs, 2006 The Hearth Tax 1662 89 is the only national listing of people between the medieval poll taxes and the 19th century census returns It was a property tax measured by the number of fireplaces in the dwelling of each eligible household The data provides valuable insights into national wealth population and social structure This study goes further than any before in linking these general questions to a full investigation of changing and diverse forms of domestic building and house use Old and New Worlds Geoff Egan, Ronald L. Michael, 1999 Even before the Mayflower sailed across the Atlantic in 1620 the material and cultural lives of the Old and New worlds were inextricably linked This book reflects the techniques which archaeologists have used over the last 30 years to try and unravel from a mass of material evidence the lives of early Americans and their English contemporaries This book discusses the unique methodologies which historical archaeologists in both Britain and the US have developed to study early modern and industrial societies and new theoretical approaches focusing on ethnicity and domestic space and new practical techniques using environmental as well as artifactual evidence The book contains forty two essays arranged thematically Five are concerned with the use and interpretation of evidence thirteen describe settlements and their communities on both sides of the Atlantic four are on nautical and military operations thirteen are concerned with artefacts and pottery and their manufacture and distribution and seven use environmental evidence to throw new light on the human populations and the plant and animal worlds of the time Bristol Probate Inventories Stella George, 2005 Two Town Houses in Medieval Shrewsbury M. O. H. Carver, 1983 The Archaeology of Industrialization Association for Industrial Archaeology, 2004 This book is the outcome of the first joint conference of the two country s foremost societies devoted to the archaeological study of the early modern and modern worlds It discusses the progress of industrialization and its impact upon modern society Scholars of Early Modern Studies , 1996 Somerset Archaeology and Natural History , 1996 Acton

Court Kirsty A. Rodwell, Robert Bell, 2004 In 1535 Henry VIII and Anne Boleyn visited Acton Court in southern Gloucestershire the home of the favoured courtier Nicholas Poyntz Built in the 13th century on an older structure by the Acton family the moated manor was transformed by Nicholas and his father into the grand Tudor mansion that we can see large sections of today This illustrated volume presents the results of above and below ground archaeology The demolished parts of the house were excavated while the unique 16th century features inside the house such as painted friezes are studied in detail It was also during the excavation that the moat was rediscovered With each section contributed by a specialist the volume discusses the history and restoration of the house before examining in detail the archaeological and structural remnants for each phase and part of the house focusing on the evidence from the time of Henry s visit Specialist reports also examine the finds including architectural fragments including a rare sundial from the early 16th century building material woodwork decorative plaster graffiti including sketches of ships pottery glass coins dress accessories organic and animal remains and longbows Southern History ,2002 The Local Historian ,2007 The Georgian Group Journal ,2002 Urban History Yearbook, 1989 Richard Rodger,1989-08 British & Irish Archaeological Bibliography ,2001
