Jewish Thought, Utopia, and Revolution Elena Namli, Jayne Svenungsson, Alana M. Vincent, 2014-05-01 In response to the grim realities of the present world Jewish thought has not tended to retreat into eschatological fantasy but rather to project utopian visions precisely on to the present moment envisioning redemptions that are concrete immanent and necessarily political in nature In difficult times and through shifting historical contexts the messianic hope in the Jewish tradition has functioned as a political vision the dream of a peaceful kingdom of a country to return to or of a leader who will administer justice among the nations Against this background it is unsurprising that Jewish messianism in modern times has been transposed and lives on in secular political movements and ideologies The purpose of this book is to contribute to the deeper understanding of the relationship between Jewish thought utopia and revolution by taking a fresh look at its historical and religious roots We approach the issue from several perspectives with differences of opinion presented both in regard to what Jewish tradition is and how to regard utopia and revolution These notions are multifaceted comprising aspects such as political messianism religious renewal Zionism and different forms of Marxist and Anarchistic movements

Deification in Russian Religious Thought Ruth Coates, 2019-09-12 Deification in Russian Religious Thought considers the reception of the Eastern Christian Orthodox doctrine of deification by Russian religious thinkers of the immediate pre revolutionary period Deification is the metaphor that the Greek patristic tradition came to privilege in its articulation of the Christian concept of salvation to be saved is to be deified that is to share in the divine attribute of immortality In the Christian narrative of the Orthodox Church God became human so that humans might become gods Ruth Coates shows that between the revolutions of 1905 and 1917 Russian religious thinkers turned to deification in their search for a commensurate response to the apocalyptic dimension of the universally anticipated destruction of the Russian autocracy and the social and religious order that supported it Focusing on major works by four prominent thinkers of the Russian Religious Renaissance Dmitry Merezhkovsky Nikolai Berdiaev Sergei Bulgakov and Pavel Florensky Coates demonstrates the salience of the deification theme and explores the variety of forms of its expression She argues that the reception of deification in this period is shaped by the discourse of early Russian cultural modernism and informed not only by theology but also by nineteenth century currents in Russian religious culture and German philosophy particularly as these are received by the novelist Fedor Dostoevsky and the philosopher Vladimir Soloviev In the works that are analysed deification is taken out of its original theological context and applied respectively to politics creativity economics and asceticism At the same time all the thinkers represented in the book view deification as a project a practice that should deliver the total transformation and immortalisation of human beings society culture and the material universe and this is what connects them to deification s theological source

World Design Science Decade: Phase 1 Document 3 R.

Buckminster Fuller, The documents in this series originated with a proposal made by R Buckminster Fuller to the International Union of Architects I U A at their VIIth Congress in London England in July 1961 launching the World Design Science Decade He proposed then that the architectural schools around the world be encouraged by the I U A to invest the next ten years in a continuing problem of how to make the total world s resources which in 1961 serve only 40% serve 100% of humanity through competent design despite a continuing decrease of metal resources per capita In essence The World Design Science Decade series of documents suggests in great detail ways in which world architectural schools and specifically their students should initiate and assume The Design Science Decade The total series includes many of Fuller s most prescient ideas A note from the series editor John McHale Though the language of some of the texts may seem difficult at first approach it should be borne in mind that one of our major problems in thinking today 1965 is the use of language systems which still represent a fixed structurally compartmentalized world view The terms available to us for the expression of dynamic rather than static concepts are far from satisfactory Fuller s language is particularly representative of the transitional state of the western world between the older traditional noun centered culture to its present day changing verb centered culture In his search for an adequately descriptive terminology he tends to employ concepts and usages from many different fields juxtaposed in ways which may be unfamiliar to those more customarily restrained within the vocabularies of particular disciplines Description by the Buckminster Fuller Institute courtesy of The Estate of R Buckminster Fuller
