Abstract—The purpose of this study was to determine the effect of a 10-week, 1000 kcal energy deficit diet on the body composition and physical fitness of obese women. The subjects were 15 obese women who were randomly assigned to either a diet or a control group. The diet group was instructed to consume a diet that was 1000 kcal less than their maintenance level. The control group was instructed to consume a diet that was equal to their maintenance level. The subjects were assessed at baseline and at 10 weeks. The diet group showed a significant decrease in body weight, body fat, and waist circumference. The control group showed no significant change in these variables. The diet group also showed a significant increase in physical fitness, as measured by a 6-minute walk test. The control group showed no significant change in physical fitness. These results suggest that a 10-week, 1000 kcal energy deficit diet can effectively reduce body weight, body fat, and waist circumference, and increase physical fitness in obese women.
