The Value of Drawing Instruction in the Visual Arts and Across Curricula Seymour Simmons III, 2021-03-29 By applying philosophical and historical perspectives to drawing instruction this volume demonstrates how diverse teaching methods contribute to cognitive and holistic development applicable within and beyond the visual arts Offering a new perspective on the art and science of drawing this text reveals the often unrecognized benefits that drawing can have on the human mind and thus argues for the importance of drawing instruction despite and even due to contemporary digitalization Given the predominance of visual information and digital media visual thinking in and through drawing may be an essential skill for the future As such the book counters recent declines in drawing instruction to propose five Paradigms for teaching drawing as design as seeing as experience and experiment as expression and as a visual language with exemplary curricula for pre K12 art and general education pre professional programs across the visual arts and continuing education With the aid of instructional examples this volume dispels the misconception of drawing as a talent reserved for the artistically gifted and posits it as a teachable skill that can be learned by all This text will be of primary interest to researchers scholars and doctoral students with interests in drawing theory and practice cognition in the arts positive psychology creativity theory as well as the philosophy and history of arts education Aligning with contemporary trends such as Design Thinking STEAM and Graphicacy the text will also have appeal to visual arts educators at all levels and other educators involved in arts integration

Reconstructing Modernism Ashley Maher, 2020-03-12 Reconstructing Modernism establishes for the first time the centrality of modernist buildings and architectural periodicals to British mid century literature Drawing upon a wealth of previously unexplored architectural criticism by British authors this book reveals how arguments about architecture led to innovations in literature as well as to redesigns in the concept of modernism itself While the city has long been a focus of literary modernist studies architectural modernism has never had its due Scholars usually characterize architectural modernism as a parallel modernism or even an incompatible modernism to literature Giving special attention to dystopian classics Brave New World and Nineteen Eighty Four this study argues that sustained attention to modern architecture shaped mid century authors political and aesthetic commitments After many writers deemed modernist architects to be agents for communism and other collectivist movements they squared themselves and literary modernist detachment and aesthetic autonomy against the seemingly tyrannical utopianism of modern architecture literary aesthetic qualities were reclaimed as political qualities In this way Reconstructing Modernism redraws the boundaries of literary modernist studies rather than simply adding to its canon it argues that the responsibility for defining literary modernism for the mid century public was shared by an incredible variety of authors Edwardians modernists satirists and even anti modernists Basic Graphic Design Robert Charles Smith, 1986 Catalog of Copyright Entries Library of Congress. Transcultural Cinema David MacDougall, 2021-07-13 David MacDougall is a pivotal figure in the development of ethnographic cinema and visual anthropology As a filmmaker he has directed in Africa Australia India and Europe His prize winning films many made jointly with his wife Judith MacDougall include The Wedding Camels Lorang s Way To Live with Herds A Wife among Wives Takeover PhotoWallahs and Tempus de Baristas As a theorist he articulates central issues in the relation of film to anthropology and is one of the few documentary filmmakers who writes extensively on these concerns The essays collected here address for instance the difference between films and written texts and between the position of the filmmaker and that of the anthropological writer In fact these works provide an overview of the history of visual anthropology as well as commentaries on specific subjects such as point of view and subjectivity reflexivity the use of subtitles and the role of the cinema subject Refreshingly free of jargon each piece belongs very much to the tradition of the essay in its personal engagement with exploring difficult issues The author ultimately disputes the view that ethnographic filmmaking is merely a visual form of anthropology maintaining instead that it is a radical anthropological practice which challenges many of the basic assumptions of the discipline of anthropology itself Although influential among filmmakers and critics some of these essays were published in small journals and have been until now difficult to find The three longest pieces including the title essay are new
