Black Hole and Other Poems David J. Murray, 2012-02-03 Black Hole and Other Poems a new compilation of verse by poet David Murray focuses on the role played by hunger for power in reducing the success of heterosexual romantic relationships Divided into four parts this collection explores the topic in a wide variety of styles and approaches The first part of the collection Poems in a Lighter Vein interprets the familiar vampire story as being an allegory of common male fantasies of having power over many brides and most of its verses are satirical in nature The second part Black Hole contains examples based upon Murrays experiences of the personal power all too easily abused exerted by men over women Treading Water the third part describes Murrays feelings when he found himself forced to compete with a male rival to see which of the two could exert the most power over a particular females affections In the fourth and final part Bagatelles each poem attempts to arouse in only two lines core emotional responses of the kind that are usually assumed to require longer poems Satirical gutsy and succinct by turns this book explores the role of power in sexual relationships and the varying aspects of that power

Watcher's Guide to Black Mirror is a spirited fan centered companion of the show In Praise of New Travelers Isabel Hoving, 2001 Approaching postcolonial theory through cultural analysis this book offers an accessible and concrete appraisal of current developments in postcolonial criticism Detailed readings of a range of Anglophone Caribbean migrant women's texts from the late 1980s and 1990s lead to sharp insights into three issues that are crucial to an understanding of the field place voice and silence The discussion of these issues allows us to trace current feminist postmodern and postcolonial debates about the nature of the speaking subject as it is emerging from today's postcolonial cultural practices Postcolonial criticism often understands this subject as hybrid and multiple This book shows how the specifics of this multiplicity must be acknowledged through analysis of the power structures and the violence through which this multiple subject is established The book is also a consistent inquiry into reading positions The argument about the differences between postcolonialist black and Caribbean feminist white feminist and postmodern criticism is conducted as a discussion about the effects insights and blindnesses produced by these different ways of reading Caribbean migrant women s writing Scrutinizing the grain of these texts encourages us to move beyond the kind of general statements for which postcolonial theory has been severely criticized The author also extends her critique of reading positions to issues of methodology using these approaches to direct her interpretation Narratology is supplemented by an analysis of the interdiscursive processes through which texts are created and psychoanalytic concepts are used to explore the ambiguous merits of postcolonial reading Above all In Praise of New Travelers celebrates the vigorous subversive and liberating creativity of an accomplished generation of Caribbean migrant women writers
