Water Auditing Conservation Goen Ho:

Water Auditing and Water Conservation Jeff Sturman, Goen Ho, Kuruvilla Mathew, 2004-06-30 Water auditing is a method of quantifying water flows and quality in simple or complex systems with a view to reducing water usage and often saving money on otherwise unnecessary water use. There is an increasing awareness around the globe of the centrality of water to our lives. This awareness crosses political and social boundaries. In many places people have difficult access to drinking water. Often it is polluted. Water auditing is a mechanism for conserving water which will grow in significance in the future as demand for water increases. Water Auditing and Water Conservation is aimed at undergraduate and graduate students in environmental engineering and science programs, water auditors and professionals in the water field, especially those motivated by quantitative water conservation needs. There is a strong emphasis on principles and on the relationship of water auditing with associated activities like environmental auditing, environmental management systems, resource conservation, flow measurement, water quality and legal frameworks. Alongside the theoretical materials, we integrate field experience from professionals. Chapters outline the processes and issues at stake in a variety of typical applications arenas in which water auditing is conducted. These include buildings, interior and exterior landscape, external commercial applications requiring irrigation, aquatic centres, material transport by water, cooling systems and non-metal manufacturing, e.g. paper manufacture. This book will lead the prospective water auditor to a sufficiently thorough knowledge of water auditing to be able to apply the principles to many situations and make recommendations for water conservation measures. Sci-tech News, 2005

Sustainability of Water Resources Goen Ho, Kuruvilla Mathew, 2004-12-01 Water is essential for all life forms. It is a fundamental resource necessary for socio-economic development and for ecological sustainability. Good quality water is becoming scarce due to population growth and associated industrial development and pollution, particularly in towns and cities. It is timely that the sustainability and management of water resources is widely discussed, noting that water can be used an unlimited number of times with proper treatment. The papers in Sustainability of Water Resources were originally presented at a meeting at Murdoch University on 13-14 November 2002, where new and innovative methods of treatment, better understanding and assessment of resources and their supporting ecosystems and proper management for conservation were explored. The meeting was preceded by a two-day workshop on Water for Cities, and participants from the workshop from the Asia Pacific and Indian Ocean regions contributed to lively discussion at the conference. The British National
