Livable Cities from a Global Perspective Roger Caves,Fritz Wagner,2018-05-11 Livable Cities from a Global Perspective offers case studies from around the world on how cities approach livability They address the fundamental question what is considered livable The journey each city has taken or is currently taking is unique and context specific There is no such thing as a one size fits all approach to livability Some cities have had a long history of developing livability policies and programs that focus on equity economic and environmental concerns while other cities are relatively new to the game In some areas government has taken the lead while in other areas grassroots activism has been the impetus for livability policies and programs The challenge facing our cities is not simply developing a livability program We must continually monitor and readjust policies and programs to meet the livability needs of all people The case studies investigate livability issues in such cities as Austin Texas Helsinki Finland London United Kingdom Warsaw Poland Tehran Iran Salt Lake City United States Rio de Janeiro Brazil Sydney Australia and Cape Town South Africa The chapters are organized into such themes as livability in capital city regions livability and growth and development livability and equity concerns livability and metrics and creating livability Each chapter provides unique insights into how a specific area has responded to calls for livable cities In doing so the book adds to the existing literature in the field of livable cities and provides policy makers and other organizations with information and alternative strategies that have been developed and implemented in an effort to become a livable city

Enabling the City Josefine Fokdal,Olivia Bina,Prue Chiles,Liis Ojamäe,Katrin Paadam,2021-07-28 Enabling the City is a collaborative book that focuses on how interdisciplinary and transdisciplinary processes of knowledge production may contribute to urban transformation at a local level in the 21st century striking a balance between enthusiastic support for such transformational potential and a cautious note regarding the persistent challenges to the ethos as well as the practice of inter and transdisciplinarity The rich stories reflect different research and local practice cultures exploring issues such as ageing community health and dementia public space energy mobility cultures heritage housing re use and renewal as well as more universal questions about urban sustainability and climate change and perhaps most importantly education Against this backdrop aspirations for the 21st century are related to the international national and local agendas expressed in the Sustainable Development Goals SDGs and in the New Urban

Agenda NUA raising fundamental questions of how to enable development We highlight aspects of transformative learning and ways of knowing critical to any collaborative and participatory process Creating Built Environments Roderick Lawrence, 2020-06-14 Built environments are complex emergent systemic and require contextual analysis They should be understood before reconsidering how professionals and researchers of the built environment are educated and trained to reduce the gap between knowledge practice and real world circumstances There is an urgent need to rethink the role of policy makers researchers practitioners and laypeople in the construction renovation and reuse of the built environment in order to deal with numerous environmental ecological economic financial and social ethical challenges of providing a habitat for current and future generations in a world of continual change These challenges are too complex to be dealt with only by one discipline or profession Combinations of different types of knowledge knowing in praxis and tacit knowledge are needed This book presents and illustrates recent innovative contributions with case studies focusing on five strategic domains and the interrelations between them These transdisciplinary contributions apply concepts methods and tools that facilitate convergence and concerted action between participants collaborating in policy definition and project implementation The methods and tools include experiments in living labs prototypes on site and virtual simulations as well as participatory approaches including citizen science the development of alternative scenarios and visioning plausible futures

Reclaiming Cities as Spaces of Middle Class Parenthood Johanna Lilius, 2018-09-12 For nearly a century families have been out migrating to suburbs and peri urban areas In this book Johanna Lilius conceptualizes the relatively recent phenomenon of families choosing to live in the inner city Drawing on a range of qualitative data the book offers a holistic approach to simultaneously understanding changes within parenting practices and changes connected to city development The book explains not only why families choose to stay in the inner city and how they use the city in their everyday lives but also how families change the landscape of contemporary cities and how the family is and has been perceived in urban planning and policy making The Nordic perspective provided by Lilius makes this book an important contribution in helping understand inner city change outside the Anglo American context and will appeal to an international audience Planning for Resilient Small and Medium-Sized Cities in Ghana Stephen Kofi Diko, Seth Asare Okyere, Stephen Leonard Mensah, Louis Kusi Frimpong, 2025-09-10 Planning for Resilient Small and Medium Sized Cities in Ghana explores the resilience and planning dynamics and complexities of rapid urban transitions in Ghana s small and medium sized cities SMCs and their implications for Africa and the Global South The book argues that Ghana s urban future may have more to do with the steady growth of SMCs where urban consolidation is gradually taking a foothold Recognizing that Ghana s primary cities are well known to be socio ecological hotspots of risk reactive urban planning and entrenched inequalities of alarming proportions this book asks would SMCs follow these troubling realities and trajectories in large cities or leapfrog to resilient futures that work for all Through a range of interdisciplinary perspectives the contributions emphasize the need for integrated planning strategies to navigate socio ecological challenges and opportunities that SMCs face in terms of infrastructure governance and climate resilience By centering overlooked and understudied SMCs in Ghana s urban scholarship this book realigns resilience planning to the spaces and places emerging as the frontiers of socio ecological crises It will be of interest to students and researchers of city and regional planning urban studies geography environmental studies and science public policy development studies and public health as well as urban planners community development practitioners geographers environmental disaster and resilient personnel and policymakers

Co-Production of Public Services and Outcomes Elke Loeffler, 2020-10-03 This book examines user and community co production of public services and outcomes currently one of the most discussed topics in the field of public management and policy It considers co production in a wide range of public services with particular emphasis on health social care and community safety illustrated through international case studies in many of the chapters This book draws on both quantitative and qualitative empirical research studies on co production and on the Governance International database of more than 70 international co production case studies most of which have been republished by the OECD Academically rigorous and systematically evidence based the book incorporates many insights which have arisen from the extensive range of research projects and executive training programmes in co production undertaken by the author Written in a style which is easy and enjoyable to read the book gives readers both academics and practitioners the opportunity to develop a creative understanding of the essence and implications of co production

Sustainable Communities and Urban Housing Montserrat Pareja-Eastaway, Nessa Winston, 2016-12-08 Since the start of the twenty first century urban communities have faced increasing challenges in housing affordability with environmental issues causing additional concern It is clear that changes to urban housing are needed to enhance the resilience of cities and improve the economic social and physical well being of residents This book provides a comparative cross national perspective on urban housing and sustainability in Europe exploring the key barriers and drivers associated with sustainable urban development and community regeneration Country specific chapters allow for easy comparison with each summarizing how sustainable housing operates in the country in question before going on to discuss the key barriers and drivers at play This book brings a sustainability perspective to the comparative housing literature which frequently fails to integrate the social economic and environmental pillars of sustainability The book outlines many of the changes that professionals and residents will need to make to their practices and cultures in order to enhance housing resilience Students researchers and professionals with an interest in sustainable housing creation and regeneration will find this book an invaluable reference
