The basic accounting equation is expressed as follows:

$$\text{Assets} = \text{Liabilities} + \text{Owner's Equity}$$

Assets are defined as resources owned by the business. Liabilities are creditorship claims against the assets of the business; or simply put, liabilities are existing debts and obligations. Owner's equity is the ownership claim on the total assets of the business; it is equal to total assets minus total liabilities.

Business transactions are economic events and activities that affect the elements of the basic accounting equation; that is, transactions cause increases or decreases in the assets, liabilities, and owner's equity. The financial statements report the results and effects of transactions on the business' assets, liabilities, and owner's equity. The balance sheet is a summary expression of the basic accounting equation.

Your friend, Linda, made this comment:

My major is biology and I plan to research for cures for major illnesses. Thus, I have no need to study accounting.

What is your response to Linda?

Solution 239

Linda, you are entering a dynamic profession and you have the opportunity to make important contributions to society. While science will be your profession and major concern, you will not be able to escape the need to understand accounting. Accounting staff and professionals will always be available to assist you. Here are some areas that will directly affect you:

As a manager, you will need to review accounting information (both internal and external) and make decisions. Budgets will be an important part of your research activities. As an employee, you will be concerned about the financial information of your employer. Thus, you will need to be able to read the company's financial statements. Also, as an investor, you will be interested in the financial statements of other companies.

You will probably not be a preparer of the financial statements, but you do need an understanding of how they are prepared. You also need a good understanding of how to interpret the information on the financial statements.
