Personke,Dale D. Johnson,1987 Reading and Writing Bill Harp,Jo Ann Brewer,1991 Grade level 1 2 3 4 5 6 7 k p e i t Beginning to Read Steven Alan Stahl,1990 Beginnings-- Teaching and Learning in the Kindergarten Ron Benson,1993 The Art of Reading Morag Hunter-Carsch,1989 Teaching Children to Read Douglas Ray Reutzel,Robert B. Cooter,2004 For Elementary Reading Methods courses This comprehensive and balanced look at literacy practice has long been one of the most popular reading methods texts available The text begins by introducing seven principles for comprehensive reading instruction and then explains the theoretical foundations of teaching reading Part I builds on those foundations with specific methods in Part II and then in Part III it describes how to create a variety of learning centers and how to plan developmentally appropriate reading curriculum for students in both K 3 and 4 8

classrooms chapters 12 and 13 provide a continuum of knowledge by describing classroom organization and curriculum for grades 4 6 and 6 8 Seeing for Ourselves Glenda L. Bissex, Richard H. Bullock, 1987 In Seeing for Ourselves practicing classroom teachers of English and graduate students studying to become teachers demonstrate the value of classroom based research for themselves and for their profession Through case studies of individuals from first graders through adults thirteen teacher researchers share the insights they have gained about their students their teaching and themselves resulting from year long or short term research projects The issues they explore include The uses of writing process pedagogy in teaching a learning disabled child The dynamics of the student teacher relationship in college level writing conferences The effects of an exposure to poetry on the language and writing of first graders Sixth grade writers views of teacher responses to their writing Ways of developing independent editing skills in eleventh graders Dangers of insisting that college freshman choose their own topics Intricacies of the writing process revealed by and adult writer The problems of a would be novelist The learning styles and strategies of a junior high teacher and their implications for teaching The possibilities of teaching art history through a writing process approach as seen through the development of three high school students

Reading-Canada-lecture : R-C-L ,1985 Advances in Writing Research, Volume 1 Marcia Farr, 1985 Learning to Write Differently Marilyn Cochran-Smith, Cynthia L. Paris, Jessica L. Kahn, 1991 This volume explores in detail the ways that working with word processing interacts with the social processes of classrooms to shape participants theories and practices of writing It offers an expanded image of the ways teachers construct writing curricula that includes word processing and reveals an interactive long term relationship between the writing contexts teachers and children construct and the capacities and requirements of writing tools The volume also builds an analytic framework for thinking and talking about teachers students and technology which captures the dynamic interrelationships over time of classroom cultures teachers interpretations and decisions and uses of word processing The authors argue that over time both teachers and children learned ways to write differently with word processing That is working with word processing shaped the ways teachers thought about teaching and learning writing and also shaped the ways beginning writers understood and practiced the activity This volume makes clear that word processing itself does not make children write better prompt them to revise more or teach them new writing strategies But when teachers and students work together with word processing they often construct social contexts within which children have opportunities to learn new writing strategies new ways to think about strategies they already have and ways to execute those strategies efficiently The Struggle to Continue Patrick Shannon, 1990 In The Struggle to Continue Patrick Shannon describes the underlying philosophies and practices of alternative literacy programs child centered teaching and critical literacy in American schools today Starting with a Quincy Massachusetts classroom in the 1880s and moving through this century with examples from other classrooms and other places he examines teachers ideas and practices in an historical context a point of view that demonstrates that advocates of alternative literacy teaching need not reinvent the theory and inspiration for their struggle Shannon reveals that these alternative methods develop from a tradition in the history of American education

Differentiated Literacy Instruction for English Language Learners Alice L. Quiocho, Sharon H.
