Ho, 2020-02-11 Drawing

from Life explores revolutionary drawing and sketching in the early People's Republic of China 1949-1965 in order to discover how artists created a national form of socialist realism. Tracing the development of seminal works by the major painters Xu Beihong, Wang Shikuo, Li Keran, Li Xiongcai, Dong Xiwen, and Fu Baoshi, author Christine I. Ho reconstructs how artists grappled with the representational politics of a nascent socialist art. The divergent approaches, styles, and genres presented in this study reveal an art world that is both heterogeneous and cosmopolitan. Through a history of artistic practices in pursuit of Maoist cultural ambitions to forge new registers of experience, new structures of feeling, and new aesthetic communities, this original book argues that socialist Chinese art presents a critical alternative vision for global modernism.

The Lyrical in Epic Time David Der-wei Wang, 2015-01-20 In this book David Der-wei Wang uses the lyrical to rethink the dynamics of Chinese modernity. Although the form may seem unusual for representing China's social and political crises in the mid-twentieth century, Wang contends that national cataclysm and mass movements intensified Chinese lyricism in extraordinary ways. Wang calls attention to the form's vigor and variety at an unlikely juncture in Chinese history and the precarious consequences it brought about: betrayal, self-abjuration, suicide, and silence. Despite their divergent backgrounds and commitments, the writers, artists, and intellectuals discussed in this book all took lyricism as a way to explore selfhood in relation to solidarity, the role of the artist in history, and the potential for poetry to illuminate crisis. They experimented with poetry, fiction, film, intellectual treatise, political manifesto, painting, calligraphy, and music. Western critics Wang shows also used lyricism to critique their perilous epic time. He reads Martin Heidegger, Theodor Adorno, Cleanth Brooks, and Paul de Man among others to complete his portrait. The Chinese case only further intensifies the permeable nature of lyrical discourse, forcing us to reengage with the dominant role of revolution and enlightenment in shaping Chinese and global modernity. Wang's remarkable survey reestablishes Chinese lyricism's deep roots in its own native traditions along with Western influences and realizes the relevance of such a lyrical calling of the past century to our time.

The Making of a Modern Art World Pedit Pui Chan, 2017-03-06 The Making of A Modern Art World explores the artistic institutions and discursive practices prevailing in Republican Shanghai, aiming to reconstruct the operational logic and the stratified hierarchy of Shanghai's art world. Using guohua as the point of entry, this book interrogates the discourse both of guohua itself and the wider discourse of Chinese modernism in the visual arts. In the light of the sociological definition of art world, this book contextualizes guohua through focusing on the modes of production and consumption of painting in Shanghai, examining newly adopted modern artistic practices, namely art associations, periodicals, art colleges, exhibitions, and the art market.

Contemporary Chinese Visual Culture , The Future History of Contemporary Chinese Art Peggy Wang,2021-01-26 A revelatory reclaiming of five iconic Chinese artists and their place in art history During the 1980s and 1990s a group of Chinese artists Zhang Xiaogang Wang Guangyi Sui Jianguo Zhang Peili and Lin Tianmiao ascended to new heights of international renown Even as their fame increased they came to be circumscribed by simplistic Western interpretations of their artworks as social and political critiques a perspective that privileged stories of dissidence over deep engagement with the art itself Through in depth case studies of these five artists

Peggy Wang offers a corrective to previous appraisals demonstrating how their works address fundamental questions about the forms meanings and possibilities of art By the end of the 1980s Chinese artists were scrutinizing earlier waves of Western influence and turning instead to their own heritage and culture to forge their own future histories As the national trauma of the 1989 Tiananmen Square massacre converged with the mounting expansion of the global art world these artists turned to art as a profoundly generative site for grappling with their place in the world Wang demonstrates how they consciously and energetically sought to make their own ideas about art and art history visible in contemporary art Wang s argument is informed by extensive primary research including close examination of the artworks analysis of Chinese language documents and archives and deeply personal interviews with the artists Their words uncover layers of meaning previously obscured by the popular and often recycled assessments that many of these works have received until now Beyond Wang s reinterpretation of these individual artists she contributes to an urgent conversation on the future direction of art history how do we map engagements between art from different parts of the world that are embedded within different art histories What does it mean for histories of contemporary art and art history more generally to be inclusive The new understandings offered in this book can and should be engaged when considering current hierarchies in histories of Chinese art the global art world and the intersections between them

Art and Artists of Twentieth-Century China Michael Sullivan,2023-12-22 This visually stunning book focuses on the rebirth of Chinese art in the twentieth century under the influence of Western art and culture Michael Sullivan recognized throughout the world as a leading scholar of Chinese art vividly documents the conflicting pulls of traditional and Western values on Chinese art and provides 364 illustrations in color and black and white to show the great range of artistic expression and the historical processes that occurred within various movements. A substantial biographical index of twentieth century Chinese artists is a valuable addition to the text. Sullivan discusses artists and their work against China's background of oppression and relaxation, despair and hope. He expertly conveys the diverse and at times bizarre intertwining of Chinese cultural history and art during this century. Included are the intense debates between traditionalists and reformers, the creation of the first art schools and the birth of the idea, shocking in ethnocentric China, that art is a world language that obliterates all frontiers. The scholarly traditions of classical Chinese painting, the belated discovery of Western modernism, the artistic upheaval under Communism and China's rethinking of the very nature of art all have a place in Sullivan's fascinating history. Michael Sullivan has known many of the major figures in China's modern art movement of the 1930s and 1940s and has also gained the confidence of younger artists who rose to prominence following the 1979 Peking Spring. This long-awaited book, richly documented and abundantly illustrated, is a capstone to Sullivan's work and will be enthusiastically welcomed by art lovers everywhere.
