Zero To Three The Cave Canem Poetry Prize:

Zero to Three F. Douglas Brown, 2014 What started out as a way to address dealing with parenting and in particular fatherhood became a series of poems focused on familial roles and situations that are difficult to articulate even among family members The poems in Zero to Three mark both the change in the child and in the father who is also a son himself The term zero to three derives from the developmental period that many clinicians and pediatricians believe is the most fundamental phase for children whose delicate brains are undergoing drastic and formative change Research also shows that parents undergo formative change alongside their children during this period from conception to toddler age These poems do not intend to offer a definitive stance on parenting or fatherhood but rather to capture an emotional gestational period that extends beyond the womb and exceeds beyond the grave They celebrate pop culture and family as well as lament the anguish and frustration of a parent losing his temper or a parent losing a parent Ultimately these poems attempt to sing and dance in the fact that parenting is a wonderful mystery to witness and experience The Echo of Ice Letting Go Julie LeMay, 2017-02-15 Rooted in the harsh yet beautiful landscape of Alaska this collection of poems is at once comforting and disquieting permeated with wisdom darkness and resilience Taken together the poems form a powerful narrative as Julie Hungiville LeMay relates a personal story of the recurrence of cancer and interweaves it with an account of her son's struggle with addiction In a world of so much pain her poems ask how can we find meaning The answer often is nature among spruce branches that whisper and the yellow joy of warblers Half found poems that contain lines from John Muir's essays are arranged throughout the book like touchstones while other poems invoke the spirit of Wordsworth LeMay's voice is precise and clear her lines musical and sonically rich making this ambitious wide ranging book one that readers won't soon forget The Beiging of America, Personal Narratives about Being Mixed Race in the 21st Century Cathy J.

Another Throat Ryan Sharp, 2024-10-25 The early twenty first century has seen a sharp rise in Black US poets employing the mask of persona often including and interrogating archival materials as they do so While some have observed this rise and noted its connection to historical figures Ryan Sharp explores it more deeply as a project based historical and poetic practice Sharp examines its sustained use of historical persona and capacity for conjuring Black speakers as a countermeasure against the archival silencing and misrepresentation of Black voices and histories a tactic he theorizes as poetic fabulation through the poetry of Elizabeth Alexander Cornelius Eady Adrian Matejka Patricia Smith Natasha Trethewey and Frank X Walker This poetic practice is not only about looking back but about critically and creatively re imagining the past to expand the possibilities for Black presents and futures Through his argument Sharp demonstrates how the unique aesthetic and rhetorical license afforded to poetry along with the interiority of persona empowers such historically minded projects to be concurrently invested in the curation of Black narratives and identities

The other members of the Classics Club are equally as fascinating. Bunny Corcoran is a wealthy and spoiled young man who is always looking for a good time. Camilla Macaulay is a beautiful and intelligent young woman who is drawn to the power and danger of the Classics Club. The students are all deeply in love with Morrow, and they are willing to do anything to please him. Morrow is a complex and mysterious figure, and he seems to be manipulating the students for his own purposes. As the students become more involved with Morrow, they begin to commit increasingly dangerous acts. The Secret History is a masterful and thrilling novel that will keep you wondering until the very end. The novel is a cautionary tale about the dangers of obsession and the power of evil.
