

TREEHOUSES LIFT THE SPIRITS.

They inspire dreams. They represent freedom: from adults or adulthood, from duties and responsibilities, from an earthbound perspective. If we can't fly with the birds, at least we can nest with them. With lively writing and beautiful photographs, Treehouses paints a fascinating portrait of this ingenious branch of architecture. It provides a brief history of treehouses, from Caligula through the Medici to Queen Victoria. It shows how to design and build a treehouse, from picking the right tree to shingling the roof. And it tells the stories of dozens of treehouses and the people who built them, from simple platforms nailed together by kids to arboreal palaces constructed and lived in by grown-ups. The centerpiece of the book is a photo essay showing Pete Nelson building a spectacular octagonal treehouse thirty feet up an old-growth fir on Saltspring Island in British Columbia. With two hundred square feet of floor space, cedar paneling, and leaded French doors, the Saltspring treehouse is one of the finest specimens of the treehouse builder's art.

Anyone who has ever built a treehouse, or dreamed of it, or read Swiss Family Robinson will find Treehouses irresistible.

PETER NELSON is a builder of custom houses, both treehouses and ground houses, in Seattle, Washington.

DAVID LARKIN is the designer and creator of many of the most notable illustrated books of recent years, including Shaker, Wooden Ship, Barn, and Mission.

A Natural Sense of Wonder Rick Van Noy,2010-09-15 The technology boom of recent years has given kids numerous reasons to stay inside and play while parents increasing safety concerns make it tempting to keep children close to home But what is being lost as fewer kids spend their free time outdoors Deprived of meaningful contact with nature children often fail to develop a significant relationship with the natural world much less a sense of reverence and respect for the world outside their doors A Natural Sense of Wonder is one father s attempt to seek alternatives to the flickering waves of TV and the electrifying boing of video games and get kids outside and into nature In the spirit of Rachel Carson s The Sense of Wonder Rick Van Noy journeys out of his suburban home with his children and describes the pleasures of walking in a creek digging for salamanders and learning to appreciate vultures Through these and other walks to school the Van Noys discover what lives nearby what nature has to teach and why this matters From the backyard to the hiking trail in a tide pool and a tree house in the wild and in town these narrative essays explore the terrain of childhood threatened by the lure of computers and television by fear and the loss of play habitat showing how kids thrive in their special places In chronicling one parent s determination and at times frustration to get his kids outside A Natural Sense of Wonder suggests ways kids both young and old can experience the wonder found only in the natural world Wise Highs Alex J.
