Weaving Work And Motherhood Weaving Work And Motherhood:

Weaving Work and Motherhood Anita Ilta Garey, 1999 In American culture the image of balancing work and family life is often represented in the glossy shot of the executive track woman balancing cell phone laptop and baby In Weaving Work and Motherhood Anita Ilta Garey focuses not on the corporate executives so frequently represented in American ads and magazines but rather on the women in jobs that typify the vast majority of women's employment in the United States A sociologist and work and family expert Garey situates her research in the health service industry Interviewing a racially and ethnically diverse group of women hospital workers clerical workers janitorial workers nurses and nurse's aids Garey analyzes what it means to be at once a mother who is employed and a worker with children Within the limits of the resources available to them women integrate their identities as workers and their identities as mothers by valuing their relation to work while simultaneously preserving cultural norms about what it means to be a good mother Some of these women work non day shifts in order to have the right blocks of time at home including for example a registered nurse who explains how working the night shift enables her to see her children off to school greet them when they return and attend school events in the way she feels good mothers should even if she finds little time for sleep Moving beyond studies of women work and family in terms of structural incompatibilities Garey challenges images of the exclusively work oriented or exclusively family oriented mother As women talk about their lives Garey focuses on the meanings of motherhood and of work that underlie their strategies for integrating employment and motherhood She replaces notions of how women balance work and family with a better understanding of how women integrate negotiate and weave together their identities as both workers and mothers Breaking new ground in the study of work and family Weaving Work and Motherhood offers new insights for those interested in sociology gender and women's studies social policy child care social welfare and health care Research Perspectives took this unorthodox path and how they have managed to make single parenthood work for them Hertz interviewed 65 women ranging from physicians and financial analysts to social workers teachers and secretaries women who speak candidly about how they manage their lives and families as single mothers What Hertz discovers are not ideologues but reluctant revolutionaries women who whether straight or gay struggle to conform to the conventional definitions of mother child and family Having tossed out the rulebook in order to become mothers they nonetheless adhere to time honored rules about child rearing As they tell their stories they shed light on their paths to motherhood describing how they summoned up the courage to pursue their dream how they broke the news to parents siblings friends and co workers how they went about buying sperm from fertility banks or adopting children of different races They recount how their personal and social histories intersected to enable them to pursue their dream of motherhood and how they navigate daily life What does it mean to be single in terms of romance and parenting How do women juggle earning a paycheck with parenting What creative ways have women devised to shore up these families How do they incorporate men into their child centered families This book provides concrete informative answers to all these questions A unique window on the future of the family this book offers a gold mine of insight and reassurance for any woman contemplating this rewarding if unconventional step Mother of Waters Arthur W. Theorising and Representing Maternal Realities Julie Kelso,Marie Porter,2009-05-05 Maternal research is a rapidly expanding multi disciplinary form of scholarship Prior to second wave feminism most motherhood literature was written from a male perspective This literature focused on telling mothers how to practice mothering without acknowledging the expertise of the mothers themselves Research on motherhood as it is experienced in all its facets by mothers has only emerged in recent decades This book is aimed at expanding academic knowledge of motherhood from a feminist perspective looking particularly at how maternal subjectivities can be represented and theorised When mothers themselves academic or not are responsible for theorisation and representation of maternal realities dominant theories and representations of motherhood are radically challenged In Theorising and Representing Maternal Realities the contributors argue that it is no longer acceptable to regard mothers as mere objects of knowledge and research They are primarily the subjects of knowledge and research Back in School A. Competing Devotions Mary Blair-Loy, 2009-07 The wrenching decision facing successful women who must choose between demanding careers and intensive family lives has been the subject of many articles and books most of which propose strategies for resolving the dilemma Competing Devotions focuses on broader social and cultural forces that create women s identities and shape their understanding of what makes life worth living Mary Blair Loy examines the career paths of women financial executives who have tried various approaches to balancing career and family These mavericks who face great resistance but are aided by new ideological and material resources that come with historical change may eventually redefine both the nuclear family and the capitalist firm in ways that reduce work family conflict Table of Contents

Introduction 1 The Devotion to Work Schema 2 The Devotion to Family Schema 3 Reinventing Schemas Creating Part Time Careers 4 Reinventing Schemas Family Life among Full Time Executive Women 5 Turning Points 6 Implications Appendix Methods and Data Notes References Acknowledgments Index Many professional women intuit that male colleagues whose spouse handle for them the details of everyday life are favored in the workplace Blair Loy confirms this intuition and shows us how it happens She captures how the cultural schemas of family devotion and work devotion contribute to the reproduction of gender inequality and how meeting the demands of a husband's job and other people's needs push professional women to progressively abandon their work to take care of others Her analysis also gives us hope by comparing the fate of pre and post baby boomers This is both an important scholarly contribution and a book that will help readers think differently about their lives It should be required reading for professional women who aspire to maintain multidimensional lives Michèle Lamont author of The Dignity of Working Men Morality and the Boundaries of Race Class and Immigration This is a fascinating book with an important message Blair Loy's findings are surprising She challenges conventional viewpoints She is on to something really new when she writes about not only the interplay between cultural norms and individual actions and institutional structures but on the cultural schemas that evoke deep emotional resonances An outstanding book Cynthia Fuchs Epstein author of Deceptive Distinctions Sex Gender and the Social Order Mary Blair Loy's book transcends old debates about work and family by examining the women who have beaten the odds and risen to the top Her detailed examination of careers and strategies perfectly complements her subtle analysis of the schemas and visions these women have for their lives Blair Loy has given us not only a splendid view into a little known world but also a new way of understanding the dynamic interplay of work and family Looking beyond the static conflict we have studied so much she shows how creative women put traditional schemas of family and work into a mutual transformation to build for themselves a new and more livable world Andrew Abbott author of Time Matters

Classifying Fashion, Fashioning Class Katherine Appleford, 2020-10-14 Drawing together theoretical ideas from across the social sciences Classifying Fashion Fashioning Class examines how the fashion class association has developed and using the experiences of middle and working class British women demonstrates how this relationship operates today Though increasingly academics argue that contemporary class distinctions are made through cultural practices and tastes few have fully explored just how individual's fashion choices mobilise class and are used in class evaluations Yet an individual's everyday dress is perhaps the most immediate marker of taste and thus an important means of class distinction This is particularly true for women as their performances of respectability femininity and motherhood are embodied by fashion and shaped by class In unpacking this fashion class relationship the book explores how fashion is used by British women to talk about class It offers important insights into the ways fashion mobilises class differences in understandings of dressing up performance and public space It considers how class identity shapes women's attitudes concerning fashion trends and classic styles and it draws attention to the pivotal role mothers play in cultivating these class distinctions The book will be of interest to students in sociology fashion studies cultural studies human geography and consumer behaviour

Shadow Mothers Cameron Lynne Macdonald, 2011-02-09 Shadow Mothers shines new light on an aspect of contemporary motherhood often hidden from view the need for paid

childcare by women returning to the workforce and the complex bonds mothers forge with the shadow mothers they hire Cameron Lynne Macdonald illuminates both sides of an unequal and complicated relationship Based on in depth interviews with professional women and childcare providers immigrant and American born nannies as well as European au pairs Shadow Mothers locates the roots of individual skirmishes between mothers and their childcare providers in broader cultural and social tensions Macdonald argues that these conflicts arise from unrealistic ideals about mothering and inflexible career paths and work schedules as well as from the devaluation of paid care work

The Political Uses of Motherhood in America Cynthia Stavrianos, 2014-11-13 As various contemporary groups use the language of motherhood to advance their political causes maternal rhetoric has become very visible in the American political discourse of late Yet while it has long been recognized that women have invoked their political status as mothers to organize and authorize their political action in the past scholars have only just begun to examine the recent reemergence of this frame This book describes the wide variety of political causes that mothers are organizing to address and analyses whether ideologically conservative organizations are disproportionately represented among groups using motherhood to mobilize women Stavrianos examines the use of maternal discourses in closer detail through a comparative case study of five groups using motherhood as their primary frame for collective political action Mothers Against Drunk Driving Million Mom March Mothers Against Illegal Aliens Mainstreet Moms Organize or Bust
