We Are All Migrants Political Action And The Ubiquitous Condition Of Migrant Hood:

We Are All Migrants Gregory Feldman, 2015-05-27 Now more than ever questions of citizenship migration and political action dominate public debate In this powerful and polemical book Gregory Feldman argues that We Are All Migrants By challenging the division between those considered citizens and migrants Feldman shows that both subjects confront disempowerment uncertainty and atomization inseparable from the rise of mass society the isolation of the laboring individual and the global proliferation of rationalized practices of security and production Yet this very atomization the ubiquitous condition of migrant hood pushes the individual to ask an existential and profoundly political question do I matter in this world Feldman argues that for particular individuals to answer this question affirmatively they must be empowered to jointly constitute the places they inhabit with others Feldman ultimately argues that to overcome the condition of migrant hood people must be empowered to constitute their own sovereign spaces from their particular standpoints Rather than base these spaces on categorical types of people these spaces emerge only as particular people present themselves to each other while questioning how they should inhabit it

Immigrant and Migrant Workers Organizing in Canada and the United States Jorge Frozzini, Alexandra Law, 2017-11-08 Across Canada and the United States immigrant workers face important obstacles at work and in the broader society whether their immigration status is temporary permanent or nonexistent Hyper precarious workers of all status groups and their allies in unions and worker centers are organizing to improve their conditions In this book Jorge Frozzini and Alexandra Law two longtime volunteers with a Canadian worker center draw on their own experience in depth interviews and academic work from the fields of law communication studies and social movement theory to produce a tactically focused theoretically informed introduction to immigrant worker organizing in a neoliberal era Frozzini and Law describe the phenomenon of employment precarity in the context of U S and Canadian labor history explaining how union certification and collective bargaining function under the law Without directing activists toward any single best strategy they cover tactical and ethical questions raised when organizers offer casework as a recruitment and research tool The royalties from this book will go to the Immigrant Workers Centre Montreal

Everyday Peacebuilding through Democratic Political Education Stephen L. Esquith, 2025-06-14 Everyday peacebuilding through democratic political education is a necessary but not sufficient condition for limiting negative political emotions such as anger fear and resentment and for cultivating the political virtues needed for an alternative more democratic orientation towards power one that values and exercises power with other members of emergent political communities not power over them These democratic political virtues include self restraint resistance humility respect for the civic dignity of others non violent protest and the radical poise needed to cultivate and coordinate this constellation of political virtues For those who have been forcibly displaced or are only dimly aware of their complicity in this type of political violence to maintain a radically poised stance is a continuing process of democratic political education This book demonstrates how this notion of Radical Poise in theory and practice can be developed through a hybrid process of political education in one country Mali to contest the growth of violence and fear there and elsewhere

Loving Music Till it Hurts William Cheng, 2020 Loving Music Till It Hurts explores how people's intense love and protectiveness of music can lead to interpersonal conflicts societal injustices and violence But how might we love music even embrace it as vital to human thriving without weaponizing this love What can we do when loving music and loving people seem at odds

The Subject of Sovereignty Gregory Feldman, 2023-10-13 Seeking new forms of democracy progressive politics raises a fundamental question what is the alternative to the allegedly coherent self contained liberal subject that represents the project of modernity Exploring the themes of nature race and the divine this book identifies the more realistic alternative in the relational subject a subject that is inseparable from the global field of relations through which it emerges and yet distinct from that field because it lives a life that no one else ever has Recognizing ourselves as such subjects allows us not only to rethink politics but more profoundly to envision sovereignty as the means by which we each rejuvenate ourselves and the polities we constitute with others

Refugee Encounters at the Turkish-Syrian Border Şule Can, 2019-10-08 The Turkish Syrian borderlands host almost half of the Syrian refugees with an estimated 1.5 million people arriving in the area following the outbreak of the Syrian civil war This book investigates the ongoing negotiations of ethnicity religion and state at the border as refugees struggle to settle and to navigate their encounters with the Turkish state and with different sectarian groups In particular the book explores the situation in Antakya the site of the ancient city of Antioch the cradle of civilizations and now populated by diverse populations of Arab Alawites Christians and Sunni Turks The book demonstrates that urban refugee encounters at the margins of the state reveal larger concerns that encompass state practices and regional politics Overall the book shows how and why displacement in the Middle East is intertwined with negotiations of identity politics and state Faced with an environment of everyday oppression refugees negotiate their own urban space and refugee status challenging resisting and sometimes confirming sectarian boundaries This book's detailed analysis will be of interest to anthropologists geographers sociologists historians and Middle Eastern studies scholars who are working on questions of displacement cultural boundaries and the politics of civil war in border regions Migrating borders and moving times Hastings Donnan, Madeleine Hurd, Carolin Leutloff-Grandits, 2017-04-21 Migrating borders and moving times analyses migrant border crossings in relation to their everyday experiences of time and connects these to wider social and political structures Sometimes border crossing takes no more than a moment sometimes hours some crossers find themselves in the limbo of detention for others the crossing lasts a lifetime to be interrupted only by death Borders not only define separate spaces but different temporalities This book provides both a single interpretative frame and a novel approach to border crossing an analysis of the reconfiguration of memory personal and group time that follows the migrants renegotiation of cross border space and recalibrations of temporality An electronic edition of this book is freely available under a Creative Commons CC BY NC ND licence Hospitalities Merle A. Williams, 2020-12-23 This collection of imaginative essays traces notions of hospitality across a sequence of theoretical permutations not only as an urgent challenge for our conflicted present but also as foundational for ethics and resonant within the play of language The plural form of the title highlights the inter implication of hospitality with its exclusive others holding suspicious rejection in tension with the receptiveness that transforms socio cultural relations Geographically the collection traverses the globe from Australia and Africa to Britain Europe and the United States weaving exchanges from south to north as well as south to south and thoughtfully remapping our world Temporally the chapters range from the primordial hospitality offered by the earth through the Middle Ages to contemporary detention centres and the crisis of homelessness Thematically hospitality embraces sites of dwelling and the land humans and animals in their complex embodiment spectres and the dead dolls and art objects This text openly welcomes the reader to participate in shaping fresh critical discourses of the hospitable whether in literary and linguistic studies art and architecture philosophy or politics The Gray Zone Gregory Feldman, 2019-01-08 Based on rare in depth fieldwork among an undercover police investigative team working in a southern EU maritime state Gregory Feldman examines how taking action against human smuggling rings requires the team to enter the gray zone a space where legal and policy prescriptions do not hold Feldman asks how this seven member team makes ethical judgments when they secretly investigate smugglers traffickers migrants lawyers shopkeepers and many others He asks readers to consider that gray zones create opportunities both to degrade subjects of investigations and to take unnecessary risks for them Moving in either direction largely depends upon bureaucratic conditions and team members willingness to see situations from a variety of perspectives Feldman explores their personal experiences and daily work in order to crack open wider issues about sovereignty action ethics and ultimately being human Situated at the intersection of the EU migration apparatus and the global clandestine networks it identifies as security threats this book allows Feldman to outline an ethnographically based theory of sovereign action

Downtown Juárez Howard Campbell, 2021-11-09 At least 200 000 people have died in Mexico's so called drug war and the worst suffering has been in Ciudad Juárez across the border from El Paso Texas How did it get so bad After three decades studying that question Howard Campbell doesn't believe there is any one answer Misguided policies corruption criminality and the borderland economy are all factors But none explains how violence in downtown Juárez has become heartbreakingly normal A rigorous yet moving account Downtown Juárez is informed by the sex workers addicts hustlers bar owners human smugglers migrants and down and out workers struggling to survive in an underworld where horrifying abuses have come to seem like the natural way of things Even as Juárez's elite northeast section thrives on the profits of multinational corporations and law abiding citizens across the city mobilize against crime and official malfeasance downtown's cantinas barrios and brothels are tyrannized by misery Campbell's is a chilling perspective suggesting that over time violent acts feed off each other losing their connection to any specific cause Downtown Juárez documents this banality of evil and confronts it with the stories of those most affected

Waste Works Brenda Chalfin, 2023-03-06 In Waste Works Brenda Chalfin examines Ghana's planned city of Tema theorizing about the formative role of waste infrastructure in urban politics and public life Chalfin argues that at Tema's midcentury founding a prime objective of governing authorities was to cultivate self contained citizens by means of tightly orchestrated domestic infrastructure and centralized control of bodily excrement to both develop and depoliticize the new nation Comparing infrastructural innovations across the city Chalfin excavates how Tema residents pursue novel approaches to urban waste and sanitation built on the ruins of the inherited order profoundly altering the urban public sphere Once decreed a private matter to be guaranteed by state authorities excrement becomes a public issue collectively managed by private persons Pushing self care into public space and extending domestic responsibility for public well being and bodily outputs popularly devised waste infrastructures are a decisive arena to make claims build coalitions and cultivate status Confounding high modernist ideals excremental infrastructures unlock bodily waste's diverse political potentials

Cultures, Citizenship and Human Rights Rosemarie Buikema, Antoine Buyse, Antonius C. G. M. Robben, 2019-11-19 In Cultures Citizenship and Human Rights the combined analytical efforts of the fields of human rights law conflict studies anthropology history media studies gender studies and critical race and postcolonial studies raise a comprehensive understanding of the discursive and visual mediation of migration and manifestations of belonging and citizenship More insight into the convergence but also the tensions between the cultural and the legal foundations of citizenship has proven to be vital to the understanding of societies past and present especially to assess processes of inclusion and exclusion Citizenship is more than a collection of rights and privileges held by the individual members of a state but involves cultural and historical interpretations legal contestation and regulation as well as an active engagement with national regional and local state and other institutions about the boundaries of those implicitly gendered and raced rights and privileges Highlighting and assessing the transformations of what citizenship entails today is crucially important to the future of Europe which both as an idea and as a practical project faces challenges that range from the crisis of legitimacy to the problems posed by mass migration. Many of the issues addressed in this book however also play out in other parts of the world as several of the chapters reflect. The Mediterranean Redux Naor H Ben-Yehoyada, Paul Silverstein, 2022-04-27

This book on historical anthropology remaps the Mediterranean by reframing classical themes from early Mediterraneanist anthropology. This edited volume showcases how anthropology can contribute to an understanding of ongoing transnational dynamics and the new wave of scholarship on the Mediterranean. The Mediterranean is back as a locus of international anxiety and academic concern. It has reemerged in the international news cycle as a space of desperate crossings and tragic endings as the site in which a refugee crisis rivalling that of the Second World War is playing out in real time for a global viewing public. The scale of the crisis has called into question Europe's humanitarian principles and internal political union making the Mediterranean into a mirror for long standing tensions between norms of universalism and demands for national security. These captivating events have further raised the tide of scholars' interest in the Mediterranean. How should ethnographers contribute to the new wave of scholarship on the Mediterranean? To what extent does the Mediterranean offer alternative forms of political relatedness to those construed from within Europe, North Africa and the Middle East? In this volume we reframe classical themes from early iterations of Mediterranean anthropology to address these questions in our examinations of changing dynamics across land and sea borders bringing ethnography back to the study of the Mediterranean and the Mediterranean with its Mediterraneanism back to ethnography. The chapters in this book were originally published as a special issue of the journal History and Anthropology.

Ethnic Groups and Boundaries Today Thomas Hylland Eriksen, Marek Jakoubek, 2018-12-07

The publication of Fredrik Barth's Ethnic Groups and Boundaries marked a milestone in the conceptualization of ethnicity and ethnic groups and opened a new field of enquiry in the social scientific study of ethnicity. Ethnic Groups and Boundaries Today: A Legacy of Fifty Years demonstrates the enduring significance of the work, identifying its shortcomings and showcasing the state of the art today, fifty years after the publication of the groundbreaking original. Bringing together a team of leading contributors, all of whom have been inspired by Barth's theory and have made significant contributions of their own to the theorisation and research of ethnicity, this volume assesses the theoretical approach presented in Ethnic Groups and Boundaries both in the context of its time and with the hindsight of the developments in the social sciences since then. It emphasizes the legacy of the original text and determines its significance whilst identifying and elaborating on the main lines of the subsequent developments of the concept of ethnicity that were influenced by Ethnic Groups and Boundaries but that have since developed and superseded the original. As such it will appeal to scholars across the social sciences with interests in the concept and study of ethnicity.

New Borders

Antonis Vradis, Evie Papada, Joe Painter, Anna Papoutsis, 2018-11-20 To many a border is a geographical fact But what happens when a border is subject to an emergency Today as millions are forced to migrate due to war famine and political unrest it is important to analyse how states use new bordering techniques to control populations New Borders focuses on the Greek island of Lesbos Since 2015 the island has come under intense scrutiny as more than one million people have disembarked on its shores During this time the authors spent two years studying the changing meanings and functions of the EU's border They observed how the reception of the refugees slid into detention and refuge became duress Examining how and why this happened they tackle questions on European policy the securitisation of national and EU borders and the real impacts this has had on everyday life determining who belongs where and when German as Contact Zone Russell

West-Pavlov, 2019-09-09 This book suggests that linguistic translation is one minute province of an immense process of creative activity that constitutes the world as an ongoing dynamism of unceasing transformation Building upon the speculative quantum gravity theory which provides a narrative of the push pull dynamics of transformative translation from the very smallest scales of reality to the very greatest this book argues that the so called translative turn of the 1990s was correct in positing translation as a paradigmatic concept of transformation More radically the book stages a provocative provincialization of linguistic translation so that literary translation in particular is shown to display a remarkable awareness of its own participation in a larger creative contact zone As a result the German language literary translations in and out of German and the German language classroom can be understood respectively as quantum contact zones Russell West Pavlov is Professor of Anglophone Literatures at the University of Tübingen and Research Associate at the University of Pretoria

Disaster-Related Psychiatric Disorders: Assessment, Recovery, Intervention Wenning Fu, Chao Wang, Samuel Law, Yong Gan, 2025-04-07 Over the past two decades disaster events such as public health emergencies and natural disasters have become more frequent and severe affecting emotional and mental health The multidimensional and overlapping social challenges of disaster events that disrupt all aspects of life coupled with enormous economic and work strain and drastically changing social norms and values pose unprecedented challenges to mental health When disaster strikes in the midst of chaos and fear we can easily panic and become angry sad or depressed And about one third or more of those exposed may develop post traumatic stress disorder PTSD or other long term psychiatric disorders But at the same time disastrous events also reveal our resilience and the ability to help ourselves calm down and creatively maximize our relief from pain Studies have indicated that socioeconomic lifestyle and psychosocial support resources may be key factors influencing people's mental health in the context of disaster events Analyzing and exploring how the key modifiable factors of psychiatric disorders can be rationally drawn upon and utilized will facilitate the development of specific strategies to further address psychiatric disorders and thereby promote and improve mental health Cultural Intimacy Michael Herzfeld, 2016-03-02 In the third edition of this important and influential book Michael Herzfeld revisits the idea of cultural intimacy The chapters examine a range of topics touching on the relationship between state and citizen and the notion of national character Herzfeld provides a developed theoretical framework and additional clarification of core concepts such as diaspora social poetics and structural nostalgia The text has been fully updated in light of recent scholarship and events including comment on Greece and the European Union There is new material drawn from regions such as Thailand and China and further consideration of religious intimacy and its impact on cities The book improves our understanding of how states societies and institutions function and illustrates the relevance of anthropology to contemporary issues such as globalization censorship ethnic conflict and nationalism Interkulturelle Bildung, Migration und Flucht Russell West-Pavlov, Andrée
