Waves Of Resistance Surfing And History In Twentieth Century Hawaii:

Waves of Resistance Isaiah Helekunihi Walker, 2011-03-02 Surfing has been a significant sport and cultural practice in Hawaii for more than 1 500 years In the last century facing increased marginalization on land many Native Hawaiians have found refuge autonomy and identity in the waves In Waves of Resistance Isaiah Walker argues that throughout the twentieth century Hawaiian surfers have successfully resisted colonial encroachment in the po ina nalu surf zone The struggle against foreign domination of the waves goes back to the early 1900s shortly after the overthrow of the Hawaiian kingdom when proponents of this political seizure helped establish the Outrigger Canoe Club a haoles whites only surfing organization in Waikiki A group of Hawaiian surfers led by Duke Kahanamoku united under Hui Nalu to compete openly against their Outrigger rivals and established their authority in the surf Drawing from Hawaiian language newspapers and oral history interviews Walker s history of the struggle for the po ina nalu revises previous surf history accounts and unveils the relationship between surfing and colonialism in Hawaii This work begins with a brief look at surfing in ancient Hawaii before moving on to chapters detailing Hui Nalu and other Waikiki surfers of the early twentieth century including Prince Jonah Kuhio the 1960s radical antidevelopment group Save Our Surf professional Hawaiian surfers like Eddie Aikau whose success helped inspire a newfound pride in Hawaiian cultural identity and finally the North Shore s Hui O He e Nalu formed in 1976 in response to the burgeoning professional surfing industry that threatened to exclude local surfers from their own beaches Walker also examines how Hawaiian surfers have been empowered by their defiance of haole ideas of how Hawaiian males should behave For example Hui Nalu surfers successfully combated annexationists married white women ran lucrative businesses and dictated what non Hawaiians could and could not do in their surf even as the popular tourist driven media portrayed Hawaiian men as harmless and effeminate Decades later the media were labeling Hawaiian surfers as violent extremists who terrorized haole surfers on the North Shore Yet Hawaiians contested rewrote or creatively negotiated with these stereotypes in the waves The po ina nalu became a place where resistance proved historically meaningful and where colonial hierarchies and categories could be transposed 25 illus Waves of Resistance Isaiah Helekunihi Walker, 2011 Surfing has been a significant sport and cultural practice in Hawaii for more than 1 500 years In the last century facing increased marginalization on land many Native Hawaiians have found refuge autonomy and identity in the waves This work argues that throughout the twentieth century Hawaiian surfers have successfully resisted colonial encroachment in the po inanalulu surf zone Ethno-Aesthetics of Surf in Florida Anne Barjolin-Smith, 2020-09-21 Ethno aesthetics of Surf in Florida discusses surf and music as glocal sociocultural constructs Focusing on Florida s unexplored surfing culture the book illustrates how musical experience begets representations about the world that highlight ways of acting and being of various sociocultural communities Based on the conceptualization of ethno aesthetics this ethnographic study provides an analysis of the Space Coast surfers community s collaborative effort to build social cohesion through their musicking This transdisciplinary research in American Studies draws upon various theoretical perspectives from both the humanities and social sciences including ethnomusicology social psychology and sociolinguistics to propose new ways of exploring the links between surfing and musicking This monograph looks past the myth of iconic 1960s Californian surf music to show how as a result of the globalization of surfing the musicking of Floridian surfers has allowed them to express their subjectivities and to make sense of their world This book contributes to the debate on the disputed notions of identity and representations by establishing connections between a local expression of the surf lifestyle and its music It proposes theoretical models that explain cultural hybridization appropriation and belonging in surfing It also develops concepts and notions such as surfanization surf strand lifestyle crossover and identity marking to illustrate how global practices such as surfing are endowed with various modes of expression exemplified by the emergence of unique regional subcultures of surfing
