Young Old Urban Utopias Of An Aging Society:

Young-old Deane Simpson, 2015 Young Old examines contemporary architectural and urban mutations that have emerged as a consequence of one of the key demographic transformations of our time population aging Distinguishing between different phases of old age it identifies the group known as the Young Old as a remarkable petri dish for experimental forms of subjectivity collectivity and environment In investigating this field of latent urban and architectural novelty Young Old asserts both the escapist and emancipatory dimensions of these practices Richly illustrated with drawings maps and photographs the volume documents phenomena ranging from the continuous golf cart accessible urban landscapes of the world's largest retirement community in Florida and the mono national urbanizaciones of the retirement home of Europe on Costa del Sol to the Dutch themed residential community at Huis Ten Bosch in the south of Japan AUTHOR Deane Simpson is an architect and urbanist teaching at the Royal Danish Academy School of Architecture Copenhagen and at BAS Bergen where he is professor of architecture and urbanism 250 illustrations Housing Design for an Increasingly Older Population Victor Regnier, 2018-09-12 Longer lifespans and the needs of the oldest old are challenging the senior living industry to find bold and compassionate solutions to combine programs and services with housing Victor Regnier's latest research provides a thoughtful and insightful roadmap that arrays new ways of thinking from small scale settings to community based options International case studies offer possible solutions with the best thinking from around the globe all with Vic's unique perspective of extracting themes and concepts that are broadly applicable and essential to addressing the needs of those that live on life's fragile edge David Hoglund FAIA Supporting the independence of the oldest old is a tough problem Victor Regnier addresses in his latest book on aging and housing Like previous work Victor relies on the best practices of northern Europeans to outline a three prong approach First providing extremely comprehensive home care services in an apartment for life setting Second reforming the conventional nursing home by exploring small group style accommodations Third combining new technology with community based services to age in place Case studies document the experiences of others in making these programs work here and abroad The magnitude of the 90 and 100 population increases in the next 50 years make it clear how important it is to address this concern today Edward Steinfeld Darch The movement of health care from the institution to the home is a theme that Regnier identifies as one of the most important lessons in rethinking the issue of how to support the ever growing and increasingly aged older population here and abroad He examines simple but profound approaches we can take in making long term care a more humane proposition Familiar themes like humanizing technology and optimizing the impact of the natural environment are brought together with clear policy thinking about what we need to do The timing is good because the impact of this growing segment of society will have major repercussions on health care for the next 50 70 years Stephan Verderber Ph D A comprehensive guide to designing housing for the world's aging population The dilemma of helping older people maintain their independence through better housing with services is growing This book presents innovative solutions for those who create and provide housing for the world's increasingly longer living population. By focusing on three specific housing and service arrangements it offers alternatives that provide greater freedom of choice than the current living arrangements that exist today. It presents selected examples of housing and service solutions from the US, Sweden, Denmark and the Netherlands to stimulate thinking about the possibilities of community-based service models. Housing Design for an Increasingly Older Population looks at a trio of options for housing the oldest old: the Dutch Apartment Condo for Life Model, AFL decentralized Small Green Houses and the provision of enhanced personal and health care for people who want to stay in their own home. It offers unique and eye-opening chapters covering what older people want, what age changes affect independence, demographics and living arrangements, how long-term care is defined, concepts and objectives for housing the frail, care giving and management practices that avoid an institutional lifestyle, innovative case studies, programs that encourage staying at home with service assistance, therapeutic use of outdoor spaces, how technology will help people stay independent and more. Based on the author's numerous conversations with other experts as well as his examinations of high-quality settings from Northern Europe and the US, Building case study examples showcase innovative and compassionate solutions. In-depth coverage of three major systems that work. Examines successful programs such as PACE, Friendly Cities, NORC and the Village to Village Network to demonstrate the progress made in helping older frail people stay in their own homes for as long as possible. Housing Design for an Increasingly Older Population: Redefining Assisted Living for the Mentally and Physically Frail is an important book for those who create design and manage assisted living and skilled nursing facilities as well as for those who set policies regarding health and personal care for our world's aging society.

Collaborative Housing, Ageing and Social Care Melissa Fernandez Arrigoitia, Aimee Felstead, Jim Hudson, Misa Izuhara, Kath Scanlon, Karen West, 2025-09-09. As ageing populations continue to grow worldwide, the increased need for adequate housing and social care comes into stark focus. This multi-disciplinary book explores how emerging citizen-led innovations in Collaborative Housing and care are challenging mainstream ways of living and ageing. Combining academic theory with practice, the book demonstrates the far-reaching impacts Collaborative Housing with care can have on independence, agency and wellbeing in later life. With contributions from France, Spain, Sweden, the Netherlands and the UK, it offers insights into the key challenges and opportunities associated with developing and sustaining models of Collaborative Housing with diverse forms of care and support over the life course. Essential reading for academics, practitioners and policy makers in housing, planning, social care, design and social gerontology, this book proposes a renewed focus on non-paternalistic forms of social and housing care that speak directly to older people's needs and that work against the marketisation of care and towards a community-led and co-managed approach in later life housing for all.

Architecture for Residential Care and Ageing Communities Sten Gromark, Björn Andersson, 2020-10-19. Architecture for Residential Care and Ageing Communities confronts urgent architectural design challenges within residential innovation, ageing communities and

Shrinking Cities in Reunified East Germany Agim Kërçuku,2022-10-03 The book explores the relationship between the shrinking process and architecture and urban design practices Starting from a journey in former East Germany six different scenes are explored in which plans projects and policies have dealt with shrinkage since the 1990s The book is a sequence of scenes that reveals the main characteristics dynamics narratives reasons and ambiguities of the shrinking cities transformations in the face of a long transition The first scene concerns the demolition and transformation of social mass housing in Leinefelde Worbis The second scene deals with the temporary appropriation of abandoned buildings in Halle Neustadt The third scene observed in Leipzig shows the results of green space projects in urban voids The scene of the fourth situation observes the extraordinary efforts to renaturise a mining territory in the Lausitz region The fifth scene takes us to Hoyerswerda where emigration and ageing process required a reduction and demolition in housing stock and social infrastructures The border city of Grlitz the sixth and last scene deals with the repopulation policies that aim to attract retirees from the West

Food Wheel James Brazil, 2018-11-27 The Food Wheel is an urban activator proposed to be developed as a butterfly building a light and movable pavilion which may activate temporary public space around the concept of food It was conceptualized as a response to challenges experienced in connecting food people and place during the development of the MKTplace project MKTplace is a community driven prepared food market and public space project that serves to activate vacant space in underserved neighborhoods by providing inexpensive incubator space for vendors and a venue for community events arts and culture Urban Prototyping seeks to adapt a Fabrication Information Modeling into the design and build prototyping of urban interventions Furthermore we aim to explore the spatial and urban implications where the role of civic engagement will propose a new method of architectural practice The goal is to create an associative and collaborative environment that empowers designers to develop integrated fabrication concepts for the public realm

Designing the Rural Joshua Bolchover, John Lin, Christiane Lange, 2016-08-15 The rural is not what it used to be No longer simply a site for agricultural production for the city the relationship between the rural and urban has become much more complex Established categories such as rural urban and village city no longer hold true Rural and urban conditions have become increasingly blurred so how can we identify and distinguish their specific characteristics Where is the rural and what role does it play in an urbanised world In developing countries the countryside is a volatile and contradictory landscape legally designated rural areas look like dense slums factories intersect fields and farmers no longer farm In contrast in developed regions the rural has become a highly controlled landscape of production and consumption industrialised agriculture coexists with leisure landscapes for tourism retirement and recreation This issue of AD investigates how architects and researchers are critically engaging with the rural as an experimental field of exploration Contributors Neil Brenner Christiane Lange Charlotte Malterre Barthes Sandra Parvu Cole Roskam Grahame Shane Deane Simpson and Milica Topalovic and Bas Princen Architects Anders Abraham Joshua Bolchover and John Lin Rural Urban Framework Ambra Fabi and Giovanni Piovene Piovenefabi Rainer Hehl Stephan Petermann OMA Huang Sheng Yuan FieldOffice and Sandeep Virmani Hunnarshala

Spazi che contano Cristina Bianchetti, 2016-10-07T00:00:00+02:00 L'attacco al riduzionismo funzionalista negli anni settanta veniva portato avanti entro almeno due differenti angolazioni Da un lato Henri Lefebvre a sfidare l'ortodossia marxista. Dall'altro la pista anarchica di Colin Ward. La critica al riduzionismo funzionalista ci tutta l'compresa negli attacchi rivolti all'incapacità del funzionalismo di cogliere l'essenza della città. Oggi il progetto urbanistico rischia di finire entro le maglie di un nuovo funzionalismo. Questa l'ipotesi che il libro propone a valle di alcune ampie ricerche condotte su territori europei. Il progetto contemporaneo di nuovo un progetto funzionalista perché gioca tutto su aspetti percettivi di sensibilità di comfort sulla necessità di rinforzare identità e abitabilità per un soggetto scarnificato e astratto rende lo spazio e la società piatti. Spazio e società non sono piatti neppure negli anni della crisi che molte cose ha ridotto. Al contrario i territori europei mostrano questioni complesse che hanno a che fare con le ambiguità del vivere assieme in società individualizzate con l'intimità e l'esibizione con il deflagrare dei diritti relativi all'abitare in un'epoca segnata dalla loro forte restrizione. Scopo di questo libro mettere in evidenza questi snodi affinché essi mantengano la loro problematicità. Gli spazi della condivisione dello stare entre nous dell'abitare felice nella dispersione delle passioni gioiose e di quelle tristi dell'intimità e dell'estimità. Gli urban interiors gli spazi generati dalla desingolarizzazione dei diritti funzionano in questo modo. Hanno una certa efficacia nel disvelare teatralizzandolo l'orizzonte normativo del reale. Sono spazi che contano esattamente in questo senso per rapporto ai soggetti ai corpi alle passioni alle pratiche.

Ageing in Place in Urban Environments Tine Buffel, Chris Phillipson, 2023-07-13. Ageing in Place in Urban Environments considers together two major trends influencing economic and social life: population ageing on the one side and urbanisation on the other. Both have been identified as dominant demographic trends of the twenty-first century. Cities are where the majority of people of all ages now live and where they will spend their old age. Nevertheless cities are typically imagined and structured with a younger working age population in mind while older people are rarely incorporated into the mainstream of thinking and planning around urban environments. Cities can contribute to vulnerability arising from high levels of population turnover, environmental problems, gentrification and reduced availability of affordable housing. However they can also provide innovative forms of support and services essential to promoting the quality of life of older people. Policies in Europe have emphasised the role of the local environment in promoting ageing in place, a term used to describe the goal of helping people to remain in their own homes and communities for as long as they wish. However while this has been the dominant approach the places in which older people are ageing have often proved to be challenging environments. The book explores the forces behind these developments and how older people have responded. Drawing upon approaches from social gerontology, urban studies, geography and sociology this book will be essential reading for researchers, policymakers and practitioners searching for innovative ways to improve the lives of older people living in urban environments.
