

Introduction

At times, when unfortunate disasters occurred, people were introduced with social characters that were quite generous, and kind enough to help them to overcome the stress. These characters have often been rewarded with the recognition of a hero in many instances as can be observed in mythological stories. The non-fiction literature by Dave Eggers in the year 2009 and titled as "Zeitoun" is also one of such creations. In this book, Dave Eggers brings together the two most influencing powers of the then United States political and climatic environments; the upset of terrorism and war along with the trauma of natural disasters such as Hurricane Katrina. This literature is stated to be based on a real life story of Abdulrahman Zeitoun (Pilkington, "The Amazing True Story of Zeitoun"). In his writing, Dave Eggers showcases the entire scenario as follows.

Abdulrahman Zeitoun was a Syrian-American living in New Orleans and the owner of a decorating company, a building and several houses that demanded continuous maintenances. At the day when Hurricane Katrina struck the coastal areas of New Orleans, Abdulrahman Zeitoun decided to help his neighbors and other people in need of rescue and treatment on a second hand canoe. However, on his mission he had suddenly disappeared. Later it was revealed that he was imprisoned as a suspected terrorist and was kept under custody for nearly 23 days (Rahim, "Zeitoun by Dave Eggers: Review").

Subject of the Event Sebastian Huber, 2017-11-30 What does falling in love have in common with the fall of the Berlin Wall Or the fall of the Twin Towers In the light of postmodernism s programmatic critique of a humanist notion of the subject and an emphatic understanding of events Subject of the Event shows that selected American novels after 2000 offer an alternative to the death of the subject As the first book to comprehensively engage with Alain Badiou s writings outside of a philosophical context Subject of the Event analyzes five critically acclaimed novels of the new millennium Cormac McCarthy s The Road 2006 Jess Walter s The Zero 2006 Mark Z Danielewski s Only Revolutions 2006 Paul Beatty s Slumberland 2008 and Thomas Pynchon s Against the Day 2006 and argues that they create different subjects of the event that are empowered with reagency The subject of the event and its empowerment what this book calls reagency implies that subjects only evolve out of their confrontation with the revolutionary impetus that events propel Unlike a humanist capability of having agency reagency is defined as a repetitive subjective praxis that is contingent upon events which is given a concrete literary form in the novels under investigation

Sebastian Huber explores how the American penchant for events new beginnings clean slates apocalypse is being critically dealt with in the novels at hand while still offering an emphatic idea of singular disruptions that open up ways for subjects to affirm and become empowered by the new propositions of these happenings English Literature Ezekiel

Leon,2019-01-28 The book methodically graphs the direction of the English novel from its rise as the chief scholarly class in the mid twentieth century to its mid twenty first century status of unpredictable greatness in new media conditions Precise parts address The English Novel as a Distinctly Modern Genre The Novel in the Economy Genres Gender performativity masculinities woman s rights eccentric and The Burden of Representation class and ethnicity Broadened contextualized close readings of more than twenty key writings from Joseph Conrad s Heart of Darkness 1899 to Tom McCarthy s Satin Island 2015 supplement the methodical approach and energize future research by giving reviews of gathering and hypothetical points of view Expanding specialization inside the teach of English and American Studies has moved the concentration of insightful dialog toward hypothetical reflection and social settings These improvements have profited the train in more courses than one yet they have likewise brought about a specific disregard of close perusing Therefore understudies and scientists inspired by such material are compelled to swing to grant from the 1970s quite a bit of which depends on dated methodological and ideological presuppositions The handbook means to fill this hole by giving new readings of writings that figure unmistakably in the writing classroom and in academic level headed discussion aE from James The Ambassadors to McCarthy s The Road A River Flows Through It Selina Ho,2020-12-17 A River Flows Through It A Comparative Study of Transboundary Water Disputes and Cooperation in Asia explores water disputes in Asia and addresses the question of how states sharing a river system can be incentivized to cooperate Water scarcity is a major environmental societal and economic problem around the world Increasing demand for water as a result of rapid economic development high population growth and density has depleted the world s water resources leading to floods droughts environmental disasters and societal displacement Shared river basins are therefore often a source of tension and conflict between states In regions where relations between countries have historically been conflictual scarce river water resources have exacerbated tensions and have even sparked wars Yet more often than not states sharing a river basin are able to come to some form of agreement whether they are far reaching ones such as water sharing agreements or those that are more limited such as the sharing of hydrological data Why do riparian states cooperate especially when power asymmetries between upstream and downstream countries are characteristic of transboundary river basins How do non state actors affect the management of international rivers What are the conditions that facilitate or hinder cooperation This book wrestles with these questions by exploring water disputes and cooperation in the major river systems in Asia and by comparing them with cases in Africa Europe and the United States This book will be of great value to scholars students and policymakers interested in transboundary water disputes and cooperation hydro diplomacy and river activism It was originally published as special issues of Water

International Mobilities of Return John Taylor, Helen Lee, 2017-12-15 In recent decades the term mobility has emerged as a defining paradigm within the humanities For scholars engaged in the multidisciplinary topics and perspectives now often embraced by the term Pacific Studies it has been a much more longstanding and persistent concern Even so specific questions regarding mobilities of return that is the movement of people back to places that are designated however ambiguously or ambivalently as home have tended to take a back seat within more recent discussions of mobility transnationalism and migration This volume situates return mobility as a starting point for understanding the broader context and experience of human mobility community and identity in the Pacific region and beyond Through diverse case studies spanning the Pacific region it demonstrates the extent to which the prospect and practice of returning home or of navigating returns between multiple homes is a central rather than peripheral component of contemporary Pacific Islander mobilities and identities everywhere Sobornost ,1998
