

Speaker Positioning

For a typical setup, use 5 speakers: 2 front speakers, center speaker, 2 rear speakers and subwoofer.

• Front Speakers

Put on the speakers at an equal distance from your listening position. For best hearing position, set up surround sound system at 45 degree.

• Center Speaker

It is ideal if the center speaker and front speakers are at the same height. But normally place the center speaker above or below the television or monitor.

• Rear Speakers

Place the rear surround speakers to the left and right behind the primary listening area. These speakers provide sound effects and atmospheric background sound. To maximize the rear speakers for the best listening experience, install them just above the listening area. It is also effective to place the rear speakers behind and on the opposite side of the sound. This surround system will be effective to hear the real world when the rear speakers are placed with other rear speakers at 45 to 60 degree about the speaker's rear.

• Subwoofer

This can be placed in any front position.
