Frankenstein, Sigmund Spaeth, 1927 Film and Television Scores, 1950-1979 Kristopher Spencer, 2014-01-10 Hollywood film scores underwent a supersonic transformation from the 1950s through the 1970s This genre by genre overview of film and television soundtrack music covers a period of tremendous artistic and commercial development in the medium Film and television composers bypassed the classical tradition favored by earlier screen composers to experiment with jazz rock funk and avant garde styles This bold approach brought a rich variety to film and television productions that often took on a life of its own through records and CDs From Bernard Herrmann to Ennio Morricone the composers of the Silver Age changed the way movie music was made used and heard The book contains more than 100 promotional film stills and soundtrack cover art images The Encyclopedia of Film Composers Thomas S. Hischak, 2015-04-16 For more than a century original music has been composed for the cinema From the early days when live music accompanied silent films to the present in which a composer can draw upon a full orchestra or a lone synthesizer to embody a composition music has been an integral element of most films By the late 1930s movie studios had established music departments and some of the greatest names in film music emerged during Hollywood's Golden Age including Alfred Newman Max Steiner Dimitri Tiomkin and Bernard Herrmann Over the decades other creators of screen music offered additional memorable scores and some composers such as Henry Mancini Randy Newman and John Williams have become household names The Encyclopedia of Film Composers features entries on more than 250 movie composers from around the world It not only provides facts about these artists but also explains what makes each composer notable and discusses his or her music in detail Each entry includes Biographical material Important dates Career highlights Analysis of the composer's musical style Complete list of movie credits This book brings recognition to the many men and women who have written music for movies over the past one hundred years In addition to composers from the United States and Great Britain artists from dozens of other countries are also represented A rich resource of movie music history The Encyclopedia of Film Composers will be of interest to fans of cinema in general as well as those who want to learn more about the many talented individuals who have created memorable scores

Stravinsky in the Americas H. Colin Slim, 2019-03-05 Stravinsky in the Americas explores the pre-Craft period of Igor Stravinsky's life from when he first landed on American shores in 1925 to the end of World War II in 1945 Through a rich archival trove of ephemera correspondence photographs and other documents eminent musicologist H. Colin Slim examines the twenty-year period that began with Stravinsky as a radical European art music composer and ended with him as a popular figure in American culture This collection traces Stravinsky's rise to fame catapulted in large part by his collaborations with Hollywood and Disney and marked by his extra-marital affairs his grappling with feelings of anti-Semitism and his encounters with contemporary musicians as the music industry was emerging and taking shape in mid-century America Slim's lively narrative records the composer's larger-than-life persona through a close look at his transatlantic tours and domestic excursions where Stravinsky's personal and professional life collided in often dramatic ways
