The Structure Of Language An Introduction To Grammatical Analysis:

The Structure of Language Emma L. Pavey, 2010-08-19 Most of the time we communicate using language without considering the complex activity we are undertaking forming words and sentences in a split second This book introduces the analysis of language structure combining both description and theory within a single practical text It begins by examining words and parts of words and then looks at how words work together to form sentences that communicate meaning Sentence patterns across languages are also studied looking at the similarities and the differences we find in how languages communicate meaning The book also discusses how context can affect how we structure our sentences the context of a particular language and its structures the context of old and new information for us and our addressee s and the context of our culture

African languages from a Role and Reference Grammar perspective Jens Fleischhauer, Claudius Patrick Kihara, 2023-05-08 The volume is a collection of papers which apply Role Reference Grammar RRG to African languages RRG is a functional theory of syntax which has been developed on the basis of two leading questions First how would a syntactic theory look like which starts from exotic languages rather than English Second how can the interaction between syntax semantics and pragmatics in different grammatical systems best modelled and explained Although RRG took linguistic diversity serious from its very beginning African languages have been underrepresented in the development of the theory Given the sheer number African languages deserve a wider coverage in a syntactic theory which takes linguistic diversity seriously The volume is intended to fill this gap and comprises a selection of papers which investigate different aspects related to the syntax semantics pragmatics interface of different African languages This includes argument doubling and dislocation in isiZulu complex referential phrases in G k y serial verb constructions in Igbo locative complements in Hausa and Zarma Chiine and focus constructions in Emai The papers will extent the current RRG approach to new languages and phenomena

The Questions of Jesus in John Douglas Charles Estes, 2012-10-19 Why do the New Testament gospels depict a Jesus who asks questions almost as often as he gives answers In The Questions of Jesus in John Douglas Estes crafts a highly interdisciplinary theory of question asking based on insights from ancient rhetoric and modern erotetics the study of interrogatives in order to investigate the logical and rhetorical purposes of Jesus questions in the Gospel of John While scholarly discussion about Jesus cares more for what he says and not what he asks Estes argues a better understanding of the rhetorical and dialectical roles of questions in ancient narratives sheds a more accurate light on both John s narrative art and Jesus message in the Fourth Gospel

Verbs, Clauses and Constructions Raquel Vea Escaza, Pilar Guerrero Medina, 2018-11-22 This volume brings together a collection of twenty contributions which offer a diversity of methodological tools and analytical issues concerning the study of different aspects of the role of verbs clauses and constructions in a rich variety of languages such as Present Day English Old English Old Saxon French Spanish Arabic German Upper Sorbian Latvian Sino Tibetan and the Australian dialects Pitjantjatjara Yankunytjatjara and Ngaanyatjarra The use of empirical data and the wide range of languages are the two main challenges addressed here. The book will serve to contribute to current literature on functional oriented linguistics incorporating linguistic typology and corpus based and contrastive perspectives. The volume is divided into three main parts. The first brings together eight contributions centrally related to the category of the verb both from a synchronic and diachronic perspective. The second part consists of five chapters which revolve around the syntax and semantics of clauses. Finally the seven essays in the third section explore different formal and functional aspects of the study of constructions in an assortment of languages.

Challenges at the Syntax-Semantics-Pragmatics Interface Robert D. Van Valin Jr., 2021-05-18. This volume brings together recent scholarship addressing a number of significant issues in linguistic theory and description including verb classification, case marking, comparative constructions, noun phrase structure, clause linkage and reference tracking in discourse. These topics are discussed with respect to a wide range of languages including Bamunka, Bantu, Biblical Hebrew, Japanese, Persian, Pitjantjatjara, Australian, Russian and Taiwan Sign Language. The theoretical perspective employed in these analyses is that of Role and Reference Grammar (RRG), a theory which strives to describe language structure and grammatical phenomena in terms of the interaction of syntax, semantics and discourse pragmatics. RRG differs from other parallel architecture, constructionally oriented theories in important ways, particularly with respect to the ability to formulate cross linguistic generalizations. The ability of RRG to facilitate the formulation of cross linguistic generalizations is exemplified well in the contributions to this volume. As such, this text makes important theoretical and descriptive contributions to contemporary linguistic discussions.

Causation, Permission, and Transfer Brian Nolan, Gudrun Rawoens, Elke Diedrichsen, 2015-01-14. This book offers a comprehensive investigative study of the argument realisation of the concepts of causative, purpose, permit, let, allow and transfer in a broad cross linguistic typologically diverse mix of languages with GIVE, GET, TAKE, PUT and LET verbs. This volume stands as the first systematic exploration of these verbs and concepts as they occur in complex events and clauses. This book brings together scholars and researchers from a variety of functionally inspired theoretical backgrounds that have worked on these verbs within one language or from a cross linguistic perspective. The objective is to understand the linguistic behaviour of the verbs and their inter relationships within a contemporary cognitive functional linguistic perspective. The languages represented include Irish, German, Slavic, West Slavic, Polish, Czech, Slovak and Sorbian and Western South Slavic, Slovenian and Bosnian, Croatian, Serbian, Germanic, Romance, Gan, Chinese, Yichun dialect, Mori, Bohairic, Coptic, Shaowu, Chinese, Hebrew, English, Lithuanian, Estonian, the Australian dialects Pitjantjatjara and Yankunytjatjara, Italian and Persian. Topics discussed include argument structure and the encoding of arguments under causation, permission and transfer verbs, their lexical semantics and event structure.

Niederehe, Kees Versteegh, 2008-07-14 Volume 2 treats in great detail and at times quite innovatively the individual stages of development of the study of language as an autonomous discipline from the growing awareness in 17th and 18th century Europe of genetic relationships among a host of languages to the establishment of comparative historical Indo European linguistics in the 19th century from the generation of the Schlegels Bopp Rask and Grimm to the Neogrammarians and the application of the comparative method to non Indo European languages from all over the globe Typological linguistic interests first synthesized by Humboldt as well as the development of various other non historical endeavours in the 19th and the first half of the 20th century such as language and psychology semantics phonetics and dialectology receive ample attention

Information Structure and Sentence Form Knud Lambrecht, 1994 Why do speakers of all languages use different grammatical structures under different communicative circumstances to express the same idea Professor Lambrecht explores the relationship between the structure of the sentence and the linguistic and extra linguistic context in which it is used His analysis is based on the observation that the structure of a sentence reflects a speaker's assumption about the hearer's state of knowledge and consciousness at the time of the utterance This relationship between speaker assumptions and formal sentence structure is governed by rules and conventions of grammar in a component called information structure Four independent but interrelated categories are analysed presupposition and assertion identifiability and activation topic and focus

Syntactic Analysis and Description David Lockwood, 2005-12-07 This book is designed to teach undergraduate and beginning graduate students how to understand analyse and describe syntactic phenomena in different languages The book covers every aspect of syntax from the basics to more specialised topics such as clitics which have grammatical importance but cannot be used in isolation and negation in which a construction contradicts the meaning of a sentence The approach taken combines concepts from different theoretical schools which view syntax differently These include M A K Halliday's systemic functional linguistics the stratificational school advocated by Sydney Lamb and Kenneth L Pike's tagmemic model The emphasis of the book is on syntactic structures rather than linguistic meaning and the book stresses the difference between a well formed sentence and a meaningful one The final chapter brings these two aspects together to show the connections between syntax and semology Each chapter concludes with exercises from a diverse range of languages and a list of major technical terms The book also includes a glossary as an essential resource for students approaching this difficult subject for the first time
