Musgrave, University of Houston--Clear Lake. School of Human Sciences and Humanities, 2011 This thesis fills the gap in our knowledge of the Taos Society of Artists whose members forged exciting new directions that resulted in an authentic American art The site of the first New Mexico art colony was in Taos There artists found a refuge where they could experiment and develop personal styles The Taos Society of Artists was originally founded by Joseph Henry Sharp Bert Geer Phillips and Ernest L Blumenschein Within a few years Eanger Irving Couse Oscar E Berninghaus William Herbert Dunton Victor Higgins and Walter Ufer joined the group Histories of American art have largely neglected the important historical moment when American artists in the West moved away from classical artistic traditions into newer modern modes of painting The lives and artworks of the Taos group form an essential chapter in the formation of American modernism This thesis serves to begin the process of bridging the gap in American art history between classical and modern styles from the art of masters such as Fredric Remington and Charles Russell to Georgia O Keeffe and Maynard Dixon While the subject of early Taos paintings may be viewed as simply western or Indian their styles range from idealistic to realistic From the inception of the Taos Society of Artists influential patrons who played a large role in America s southwestern expansion valued their paintings and frequently paid large sums of money for them In spite of their prominence however there is little or no information about the group in widely used art history textbooks Art history classes taught at the college level typically do not include works by Taos artists or mention their important role in American art history This thesis aims to fill the lack of scholarly literature and to demonstrate the importance of the Taos Society of Artists in American art history Taos Society of Artists Ernest Leonard Blumenschein, 1927 The Taos Society of Artists Ernest C. operated the Atchison Topeka Santa Fe Railroad Together they helped to create the westward migration that resulted in vast cities and smaller towns that exist today And together the highly eccentric members of the Taos Society of Artists the last artists who would devote themselves to capturing the dying West on canves and in sculpture radically changed styles of American fine art and commercial illustration Enchanted Visions ,2005 The Taos Society of Artists Robert Rankin White,1998 This definitive documentary history of the Society that made the northern New Mexico town famous as an art colony Collection of 10 Prints Representing the Work of the Taos Society of Artists Taos Society of Artists,19??
