Advanced Composite Materials for Wastewater Treatment Norzita Ngadi, R.A. Ilyas, Nur Hafizah Ab Hamid, S.M. Sapuan, 2025-05-08 Advanced Composite Materials for Wastewater Treatment presents the latest technological advancements in this important research field. This book explores recent advances in manufacturing fabrication and the introduction of functional groups such as tailored layered double hydroxide (LDH) based nanocomposites and three dimensional hierarchical nanostructures. Among several discussed composites, those that show maximum efficiency including graphene composites, bio-based composites, alginate natural fiber rubber, etc., biochar metal organic frameworks, geopolymers, nanocomposites, and LDH are all discussed. This book is an essential reference resource for researchers, scientists, and industrial professionals as well as postgraduate students, providing them with an in-depth understanding of cutting edge developments in this field. It provides readers with an overview of the evolution of composites in water and wastewater treatment applications. Covers wastewater treatment processes using composite materials. Introduces different types of composite materials with an emphasis on performance related to wastewater treatment. Showcases valuable techniques in producing composite materials for wastewater treatment.

Advances in Biofuels Pogaku Ravindra, Rosalam Hj. Sarbatly, 2013-03-02 Biofuels will play a key role in the 21st century as the world faces two critical problems: volatile fuel prices and global climatic changes. Both of these are linked to the overdependence on the fossil fuels: petroleum, natural gas, and coal. Transportation is almost totally dependent on petroleum based fuels such as gasoline, diesel fuel, liquefied petroleum gas, and on natural gas. Despite a significant amount of research into biofuels, the field has not been able to replace fossil fuels. Recent advances will change this scenario. Extracting fuel from biomass has been very expensive, both monetarily and in land usage, time consuming, unusable byproducts, etc. Technology to obtain liquid fuel from non fossil sources must be improved to be faster, more efficient, and more cost effective. This book will cover the current technology used for a variety of plant types and explore shortcomings with each.

Edible Oils Smain Chemat, 2017-07-12 Global oilseeds industry is expected to expand in the future but would also constitute a platform for a variety of other products from processing waste such as protein meals and aromatic compounds. Edible Oils: Extraction, Processing, and Applications intends to present up to date technologies that are currently used for the extraction and refining of Edible Oils while proposing potential applications for its derivatives. This contribution pushes to consider market transformation driven by environmental concerns and customer's envy to bring quality attributes, energy efficiency, and waste disposal into the heart of innovation. This work is aimed at professionals and academics including researchers, engineers, and managers engaged in food and green engineering disciplines and ambitions to stand as a reference for students and lecturers. The readers will find a wealth of knowledge about the fundamentals of unit operations such as extraction and separation while presenting concepts of biorefinery for product and value creation from certain edible seeds. Novelty includes novel approaches for green solvent development in extraction and examples of life cycle assessment of production systems for certain vegetable oils comprising product service and waste management systems Furthermore this book focuses attention to production processing and current applications of palm oil as an important commodity in Asia and addresses global market changes and important factors that influence its future prospects

Utilization of Palm Oil Mill Wastes Waya Phutdhawong, Melissa Agustin, Weerachai Phutdhawong, 2013 The increasing production of wastes from the fast growing palm oil industry calls for the development of new waste management strategies before its negative impact prevails To address this issue and to give added value to palm oil mill wastes the investigation of the feasibility of using palm oil mill wastes which include the oil palm kernel meal OPKM and the palm oil mill effluent POME as raw materials for the production of natural rubber NR antioxidant are reported Annual Report Malaysia.
