The Studio Whitechapel Documents Of Contemporary Art:

The Studio Jens Hoffmann, 2012-03-02 The evolution of studio and post studio practice over the last half century With the emergence of conceptual art in the mid 1960s the traditional notion of the studio became at least partly obsolete Other sites emerged for the generation of art leading to the idea of post studio practice But the studio never went away it was continually reinvented in response to new realities This collection expanding on current critical interest in issues of production and situation looks at the evolution of studio and post studio practice over the last half century In recent decades many artists have turned their studios into offices from which they organize a multiplicity of operations and interactions Others use the studio as a quasi exhibition space or work on a laptop computer mobile flexible and ready to follow the next commission Among the topics surveyed here are the changing portrayal and experience of the artist s role since 1960 the diversity of current studio and post studio practice the critical strategies of artists who have used the studio situation as the subject or point of origin for their work the insights to be gained from archival studio projects and the expanded field of production that arises from responding to new conditions in the world outside the studio The essays and artists statements in this volume explore these questions with a focus on examining the studio s transition from a workshop for physical production to a space with potential for multiple forms of creation and participation London Art Worlds Jo

Applin, Catherine Spencer, Amy Tobin, 2017-12-14 The essays in this collection explore the extraordinarily rich networks of international artists and art practices that emerged in and around London during the 1960s and 70s a period that saw an explosion of new media and fresh attitudes and approaches to making and thinking about art The contributors to London Art Worlds examine the many activities and movements that existed alongside more established institutions in this period from the rise of cybernetics and the founding of alternative publications to the public protests and new pedagogical models in London s art schools The essays explore how international artists and the rise of alternative venues publications and exhibitions along with a growing mobilization of artists around political and cultural issues ranging from feminism to democracy pushed the boundaries of the London art scene beyond the West End s familiar galleries and posed a radical challenge to established modes of making and understanding art Engaging wide ranging and original London Art Worlds provides a necessary perspective on the visual culture of the London art scene in the 1960s and 70s Art historians and scholars of the era will find these essays especially valuable and thought provoking In addition to the editors contributors to this volume are Elena Crippa Antony Hudek Dominic Johnson Carmen Juli Courtney J Martin Lucy Reynolds Joy Sleeman Isobel Whitelegg and Andrew Wilson Public Art (Now) Claire Doherty, 2015-03-09 Public Art Now Out of Time Out of Place is the first survey of progressive public art from around the world It presents some of the most significant artworks in the public realm from the last decade challenging preconceptions about where when and how public art takes place The face of public art is changing For decades art in the public realm has been characterized by the landmark sculpture or spectacular outdoor event that helps to define or brand a place But in recent years a new wave of international artists and producers has rejected the monumental scale and mass appeal of such artworks Instead these individuals and groups favour unconventional forms that unsettle rather than authenticate a place s identity disrupt rather than embellish a particular location and contest rather than validate the design and function of public space Performed interactions collaborative social movements and small scale subversive acts are just some of the unorthodox approaches taken by these artists Their works challenge preconceived ideas about the role of art in place making as they seek to remake places through radical forms and practices Public Art Now Out of Time Out of Place presents the artists who have been redefining the practice of public art over the past decade They directly address the most pressing issues of our time including the encroachment of corporate concerns on public space the implications of global migration and the isolation of the individual and the potential of collective action to share the future of our towns and cities Some forty key works from around the world are organized into five sections Displacement Intervention Disorientation Occupation and Perpetuation with detailed descriptions and dozens of installation and process shots Interviews and quotes from practitioners commissioners and commentators reveal the impetus and context for the projects while the editor s introduction sets out the conceptual practical and ethical issues raised by the works Bringing together the most significant artworks in the public realm of the last ten years from ephemeral interventions to long term ongoing projects this dynamic survey is an essential reference for anyone interested in the ideas issues and impulses behind progressive public art and an accessible introduction to one of the most vibrant areas of contemporary art
