Thye Colour Of Sculpture 18401910:

The Colour of Sculpture, 1840-1910 Andreas Blühm, Van Gogh Museum, Amsterdam, 1996 Colour in Sculpture Hannelore Hägele, 2013-09-11 This book introduces the reader to the art of sculpture across five millennia up to the present and from the Near East to the west In each of the eleven chapters a number of selected works are discussed to exemplify the circumstances and conditions for making pieces of sculpture objects peculiar to place time and context Within each cultural framework characteristics are observable that suggest various reasons for the use of colour in sculpture These encompass local preferences customs or cultural requirements and others point to an impulse to enhance the expression of the phenomenal Whether colour is really necessary or even essential to sculpted works of art is a question especially pertinent since the Renaissance Surface finishes of sculptural representations may allude to the sensory world of colour without even having pigment applied to them What makes polychromy so special is that it functions as an overlay of another dimension that sometimes carries further encoded meaning In nature the colour is integral to the given object What the present survey suggests is that the relationship between colour and sculpture is a matter of intentional expression even where the colour is intrinsic as in the sculptor s materials

Perspectives on American Sculpture Before 1925 Thayer Tolles, 2003 The Metropolitan Museum of Art has long been renowned for its collection of American sculpture in particular its world famous American Neoclassical marbles This volume contains eight papers presented at a symposium held at the Museum on October 26 2001 upon the publication of American Sculpture in The Metropolitan Museum of Art The contributors who include art historians museum professionals and independent scholars offer a fascinating cross section of current thematic interests and scholarly approaches to American sculpture Each contributor takes as their starting point a sculpture or group of sculptures in the Metropolitan s collection presenting a wide variety of approaches to the study and understanding of these works

Sculpture and the Decorative in Britain and Europe Imogen Hart, Claire Jones, 2020-10-29 By foregrounding the overlaps between sculpture and the decorative this volume of essays offers a model for a more integrated form of art history writing Through distinct case studies from a seventeenth century Danish altarpiece to contemporary British ceramics it brings to centre stage makers objects concepts and spaces that have been marginalized by the enforcement of boundaries within art and design discourse These essays challenge the classed raced and gendered categories that have structured the histories and languages of art and its making Sculpture and the Decorative in Britain and Europe is essential reading for anyone interested in the history and practice of sculpture and the decorative arts and the methodologies of art history

"The British School of Sculpture, c.1760-1832 " Sarah Burnage, 2017-07-05 The British School of Sculpture c 1760 1832 represents the first edited collection exploring one of the most significant moments in British art history returning to centre stage a wide range of sculpture considered for the first time by some of the most important scholars in the field Following a historical and historiographical introduction by the editors situating British sculpture in relation to key events and developments in the period and the broader scholarship on British art more generally in the period and beyond the book contains nine wide ranging case studies that consider the place of antique and modern sculpture in British country houses in the period monuments to heroes of commerce and the Napoleonic Wars the key debates fought around ideal sculpture at the Royal Academy the reception of British sculpture across Europe the reception of Hindu sculpture deriving from India in Britain and the relationship of sculpture to emerging industrial markets both at home and abroad Challenging characterisations of the period as neoclassical the volume reveals British sculpture to be a much more eclectic and various field of endeavour both in service of the state and challenging it and open to sources ranging from the newly arrived Parthenon Frieze to contemporary print culture

"Sculptors and Design Reform in France, 1848 to 1895 " Claire Jones, 2017-07-05 Challenging distinctions between fine and decorative art this book begins with a critique of the Rodin scholarship to establish how the selective study of his oeuvre has limited our understanding of French nineteenth century sculpture The book's central argument is that we need to include the decorative in the study of sculpture in order to present a more accurate and comprehensive account of the practice and profession of sculpture in this period Drawing on new archival sources sculptors and objects this is the first sustained study of how and why French sculptors collaborated with state and private luxury goods manufacturers between 1848 and 1895 Organised chronologically the book identifies three historically situated frameworks through which sculptors attempted to validate themselves and their work in relation to industry industrial art decorative art and objet d'art Detailed readings are offered of sculptors who operated within and outside the Salon including S n Ch t Carrier Belleuse and Rodin and of diverse objects and materials from S es vases to pewter plates by Desbois and furniture by Barbedienne and Carabin By contesting the false separation of art from industry Claire Jones's study restores the importance of the sculptor manufacturer relationship and of the decorative to the history of sculpture
