World Architecture ,2001 Intelligent Skins Michael Wigginton,Jude Harris,2013-06-17 Looking to the future Intelligent Skins sets out the principles for the design of the intelligent building envelope It highlights an exciting new approach to the area where the fabric of the building responds to external changes and internal demands The prime objective is to control internal environments through a responsive building fabric rather than by energy consuming building services systems The authors examine the potential for integral intelligence within the fabric of the building and explore the evolution of information technology and smart materials which have allowed a whole new category of design principles to be created

Sacred Buildings Rudolf Stegers,2008-05-16 The building of religious structures represents a rare opportunity for the architect to concentrate on the creation of volume space and form Sacred architecture is far less determined than other building tasks by functional requirements norms and standards As a rule it is free to unfold as pure architecture Thus in design terms this building task offers enormous freedoms to the architect At the same time however the special atmospherics of sacred spaces call on the part of the architect for a highly sensitive treatment of religion and the relevant cultural and architectural traditions In a systematic section this volume introduces the design technical and planning fundamentals of building churches synagogues and mosques In its project section it also presents about seventy realized structures from the last three decades Drawing upon his in depth knowledge of the subject and his many years of publishing experience the author offers a valuable analysis of the conceptual and formal aspects that combine to create the religious impact of spaces e g the ground plan the shapes of the spaces the incidence of light and materiality Constructing a Place of Critical

Architecture in China Guanghui Ding,2016-03-09 For the past 30 years The Chinese journal Time Architecture Shidai Jianzhu has focused on publishing innovative and exploratory work by emerging architects based in private design firms who were committed to new material theoretical and pedagogical practices In doing so this book argues that the journal has engaged in the presentation and production of a particular form of critical architecture described as an intermediate criticality as a response to the particular constraints of the Chinese cultural and political context The journal s publications displayed a dual critique a resistant attitude to the dominant modes of commercial building practice characterised by rapid and large scale urban expansion and an alternative publishing practice focusing on emerging independent architectural practitioners through the active integration of theoretical debates architectural projects and criticisms This dual critique is illustrated through a careful review and analysis of the history and programme of the journal By showing how the work of emerging architects including Yung Ho Chang Wang Shu Liu Jiakun and Urbanus are situated within the context of the journal s special thematic editions on experimental architecture exhibition group design new urban space and professional system the book assesses the contribution the journal has made to the emergence of a critical architecture in China in the context of how it was articulated debated presented and perhaps even produced within the pages of the publication itself The protagonists of critical architecture have endeavoured to construct an alternative mode of form and space with strong aesthetic and socio political implications to the predominant production of architecture under the current Chinese socialist market economy To rebel against certain forms of domination and suppression by capital and power is by no means to completely reject them rather it is to use them

American Institute of Architects Quarterly Bulletin American Institute of Architects, 1903 Global Governance and Transnationalizing Capitalist Hegemony Ian Taylor, 2016-11-25 This book is a critique of claims regarding how emerging economies are supposedly rewriting the rules of global governance and ushering in alternative models to neoliberal orthodoxy It argues that such assumptions are abstractions that ignore both the transnationalizing nature of the global political economy and the actual policy goals of the ruling classes within most emerging economies Considering the larger issues behind the emerging economies or powers debate the book deploys an adapted global capitalism perspective with insights from Gramsci Poulantzas and Cox to argue that the transnational nature of the global political economy and the actual policy goals of the dominant elites within most emerging economies merge to undermine any transformative element Far from challenging the global order these ostensible new rivals in fact seek to integrate their economies more and more within the existing liberal global economy Inter state dynamics and even inter elite tensions exist and it is clear that the nation state has not simply become a transmission belt for global capital but equally we must move beyond the surface phenomena that are most visible in global tensions to get at the underlying essence of social and class forces in the global political economy Looking at the largest emerging powers such as Brazil Russia India and China Taylor explains why the emerging powers elites although essentially subscribing to neoliberalism in all its variegated forms may confront the core in a myriad of ways but that these are not challenges to the ongoing world order and in fact the so called emerging powers serve a legitimizing function for the extant global system The book will be of great use to graduates and scholars of International Relations Global International Political Economy and International Development
