The History of Translation and Translators in the Ottoman Empire Mehmet Tahir Öncü,Ayla Akın,Ahu Selin Erkul Yağcı,2024-01-16 The Ottoman Empire covered a vast territory for more than five centuries and was therefore a multi ethnic and multicultural state from the very beginning Due to the need to negotiate military political and economic matters both within and outside its borders the state relied on the services of interpreters However despite the multicultural and linguistically diverse communication in the Ottoman Empire the practice of translation was not formally institutionalised by the state Until the modernisation efforts of the 18th century translation was mainly seen as a facilitating or ancillary activity in the diplomatic context The primary aim of this collection is to comprehensively analyse and define interpreting and translating activities within the Ottoman Empire Particular attention is paid to the reasons for the lack of institutional structure and the impact of this lack of structure on the practice of translation It also identifies individual actors especially those who acted as language and cultural mediators and thus provided important services to the Ottoman Empire By examining interpreting and translating activities and the agents involved in them this research contributes to a deeper understanding of the role of language mediation in the Ottoman Empire and the importance of this issue in the context of Ottoman history

The 1840 translation of the Gospel of Luke as a technology of power Itumeleng D. Mothoagae ,2024-07-26 In this book the author aims to explore the impact of 19th century translations of the Bible into indigenous languages with a specific focus on the Setswana translation The translations have had a profound effect on the religious cultural practices of the indigenous people leading to erosion and alteration of their traditions and identities I argue that it is crucial to consider the translator s intentions and the associated literature such as journals and letters to understand the translation process comprehensively The Setswana Bible was the first to be translated in Africa and tracing the intentions of Robert Moffat the first translator is imperative to understanding the impact of the translation on the receptor culture The methodology adopted is interdisciplinary drawing from linguistics African languages history English literature cultural studies black studies and theology I analyse the impact of the 1840 Gospel of Luke in the context of Setswana culture in South Africa and my findings demonstrate that translations cannot be distinct from the translator To gain a deep understanding of the implications of such texts I adopt a methodology that analyses significant historical literature and primary sources including the records and works of The British and Foreign Bible Society The History of the London Missionary Society and the journals letters and writings of missionaries such as Robert Moffat and John Campbell
