Transformative Research And Evaluation:

Transformative Research and Evaluation Donna M. Mertens, 2008-10-28 From distinguished scholar Donna M. Mertens this book provides a framework for making methodological decisions and conducting research and evaluations that promote social justice. The transformative paradigm has emerged from and guides a broad range of social and behavioral science research projects with communities that have been pushed to the margins such as ethnic racial and sexual minority group members and children and adults with disabilities. Mertens shows how to formulate research questions based on community needs, develop researcher community partnerships grounded in trust and respect, and skillfully apply quantitative, qualitative, and mixed methods data collection strategies. Practical aspects of analyzing and reporting results are addressed, and numerous sample studies are presented. Student and Instructor Friendly Features Include: Commentary on the sample studies that explains what makes them transformative; Explanations of key concepts related to oppression, social justice, and the role of research and evaluation; Questions for Thought to stimulate critical self-reflection and discussion; Advance chapter organizers and chapter summaries. Focused on fully discussing what is considered to be good research, Research and Evaluation in Education and Psychology explains quantitative, qualitative, and mixed methods and incorporates the viewpoints of various research paradigms into its descriptions of these methods. The work covers four major paradigms: postpositivist, constructivist, transformative, and pragmatic. Special emphasis is provided on conducting research in culturally complex communities based on the perspectives of feminists, ethnic racial minorities, and people with disabilities. In each chapter, Donna M. Mertens carefully explains a step of the research process from the literature review to analysis and reporting. Additionally, she includes a sample study and abstract in each chapter to illustrate the concepts discussed in that section of the book. Now in its third edition, Research and Evaluation in Education and Psychology is perfect as a core text for research courses in departments of education, psychology, and sociology, as well as social work and other human services disciplines. It can be used by itself or in conjunction with other texts focusing on specific methodologies. Key Features: Explains quantitative, qualitative, and mixed methods in detail. Covers
