Transforming Legal Education Transforming Legal Education:

Transforming Legal Education Paul Maharg, 2016-12-05 Paul Maharg presents a critical inquiry into the identity and possibilities of legal education and an exploration of transformational alternatives to our current theories and practices of teaching and learning the law His work takes the view that bodies of interdisciplinary theory and knowledge of the history of legal education are important to all stages of legal education He also argues that new learning designs such as transactional learning need to be developed to help students educators and lawyers deal with the transitions and challenges facing them now and in the foreseeable future Throughout discussions of theory are spliced with case studies of academic and professional legal learning particularly in the field of technology enhanced learning The content of the book will be updated in a community of practice wiki at <http://www.transforming.org.uk> which will also allow readers to comment and expand on the book's final chapter Transforming Legal Education Paul Maharg, 2011 Emotions in the Law School Emma

Jones, 2019-08-23 Law schools are failing both their staff and students by requiring them to prize reason and rationality and to suppress or ignore emotions Despite innovations in terms of both content and teaching techniques there is little evidence that emotions are effectively acknowledged or utilised within legal education Instead law schools are clinging to an out dated and erroneous perception of emotions as at best irrational and at worst dangerous In contrast to this educational and scientific developments have demonstrated that emotions are a fundamental inescapable part of learning teaching and skills development Harnessing these emotions will therefore have a transformative effect on legal education and enable it to adapt to the needs and demands of the twenty first century This book provides a theoretical overview of the role played by emotions in all aspects of the life of the law school It explores the relationship emotions have with key traditional and contemporary approaches to legal education the ways in which emotions can be conceptualised their interaction with the politics and policies of legal education and their role within teaching and learning The book also considers the importance of emotional wellbeing for both law students and legal academics Overall this book argues for a more holistic form of legal education in which emotions play a valuable and valued role This requires a new vision for law schools in which emotions are acknowledged and embedded at all levels institutional and personal Building on Best Practices Transforming Legal
