Resilience in Childhood Erica Joslyn, 2015-12-01 With an emphasis on promoting self reliance autonomy and independence this exciting new book provides a contemporary and holistic analysis of the childhood resilience It recognises resilience in childhood as a complex construct critically deconstructs it by drawing upon a wide range of academic disciplines and practices and provides an account of the factors that help and hinder the development of resilience during childhood and adolescence Part I unpacks definitions of resilience and its construction over the last 50 years Part II examines psychological sociological and neurobiological perspectives that contribute to our understanding of how childhood resilience can be developed and fostered

Part III explores strategies and approaches relating theory to current intervention practice and policy drivers. Application to professional practice within a multi agency context is explored throughout. Importantly this book seeks to develop the notion of the promise of resilience and establish the bond between capabilities built up in childhood and the promise of a positive successful future. Efforts to foster and build effective skills that lead to resilience will result in long lasting abilities to positively navigate through life's challenges and to become the key architect of one's own success in later life.

Autonomy, Accountability and Social Justice Amanda Keddie, Martin Mills, 2019-04-10. Autonomy, Accountability and Social Justice provides an account of recent developments in English state education with a particular focus on the academisation of schooling. It examines how head teachers, teachers and others working in diverse education settings navigate the current policy environment. The authors provide readers with insight into the complex decision making processes that shape school responses to current educational agendas and examine the social justice implications of these responses. The book draws on Nancy Fraser's social justice framework and her theorising of neoliberalism to explore current tensions associated with moves towards both greater autonomy for and accountability of state schooling. These tensions are presented through four case studies that centre upon 1 a group of local authority primary schools, 2 an academy chain, 3 a co-operative secondary school and 4 an alternative education setting. The book identifies the emancipatory possibilities of these approaches amid the complex demands of autonomy and accountability. Informed by a consideration of market parameters and social protectionist ideals, this examination provides rich insights into how English schools have emancipatory capacity. Autonomy, Accountability and Social Justice makes a major theoretical contribution to understandings of how the market is working alongside the regulation of schooling and the implications of this for social justice. By drawing on the experiences of those working in schools, it demonstrates that the tensions associated with autonomy and accountability within the current education policy environment can be both productive and unproductive for social justice.

Domestic Violence and Protecting Children Cathy Humphreys, Nicky Stanley, 2015-08-21. In this volume the authors present an overview of the innovative work taking place in relation to domestic violence and child protection. This book looks at new prevention initiatives and how interventions for children exposed to domestic violence have been developed. It shows how services for abusive fathers have evolved and provides discussion and critique of a number of new initiatives in the field of interagency risk assessment. With international perspectives and examples drawn from social care, health care and voluntary sectors, this book brings together established ideas with recent thinking to provide an authoritative summary of current domestic violence and child protection practice. As a valuable source of guidance on how to work safely with children living with domestic violence, this is a key reference for social workers, health professionals and policy makers.
