Transition to Postsecondary Education Nancy Hart-Fishwick, Roz Slovic, Brigid Flannery, Oregon Transition Systems Change Project, 1997 Postsecondary Education and Transition for Students with Learning Disabilities Loring Cowles Brinckerhoff, Joan McGuire, Stan F. Shaw, 2002

A Whole New World Warren Edward Whitaker, 2018 Since the inception of the Americans with Disabilities Act ADA of 1990 there has been a steady increase in the enrollment of students with disabilities in higher education With the postsecondary transition in educational supports from the Individuals with Disabilities in Education Act IDEA in high school to ADA in college there has been a lack of research related to the experiences of these students with disabilities while they are in college Considering the changes in disability experience resulting from education policy changes from high school IDEA to college ADA Section 504 the purpose of this study was to examine the experiences of first year students with disabilities at four year higher education institutions This study utilized components from Disability Studies in Education approach Disability Critical Race Studies DisCrit Acculturation and Diverse Learning Environment frameworks in analyzing first year students with disabilities experiences Using a mixed methods approach to investigate both attitudes and perceptions the researcher conducted a survey of 63 students representing five colleges and focus group interviews with 43 students representing three colleges Findings indicate that first year students with disabilities are assimilating into the mainstream non disabled culture in higher education First year students with disabilities heavily rely on adult s parents or disability service personnel knowledge in educational decision making Additionally the findings also highlight the impact of fee based specialized disability programs on first year student experiences and perceptions of campus climate This study contributes to the understanding of the conditions that support and challenge the higher education experiences of first year students with disabilities The findings also highlight a need for more research examining a broader range of disability categories and the intersection of disability and race

Preparing high school students with disabilities to successfully transition to postsecondary education Jessica Marzi, 2015 Research has shown that students with learning disabilities are not prepared to successfully transition to postsecondary education The Individuals with Disabilities Education Act IDEA recognizes the importance of postsecondary preparation and requires transition planning for eligible students This project reflects the background of students with disabilities transitioning to higher education and utilizes the American School Counselor Association National Model to recommend improvements to the current preparatory methods for students with learning disabilities. These improvements include the varying informational needs for students, educators, and parents during the process in an effort to help students find postsecondary success and close the achievement gap between students with learning disabilities and their non-disabled peers.

Transition Planning for Students with Disabilities Jeffery P. Bakken, Fesus E. Obiakor, 2008. The need for transition services for students with exceptionalities is apparent and critical for their success after high school. It is essential for school professionals, parents, and students to work collaboratively and consultively to determine each student's future goals and develop an effective plan to meet those goals successively. This book therefore focuses on all aspects of that transition planning from school to postschool levels. The text provides the reader with a foundation of transition services and a historical overview of models and practices and offers a critical look at transition services.

A Study of Transition to Postsecondary Education for Students with Learning Disabilities Jodie Marie Felling, 2000. This book provides a comprehensive overview of transition services for students with learning disabilities.

Think College! Meg Grigal, Debra Hart, 2010. Help students with intellectual disabilities succeed in college with this comprehensive resource. You'll discover the big picture of today's postsecondary options and learn how to support students with disabilities before, during, and after a successful transition.
