Postcolonial Translocations Marga Munkelt, Markus Schmitz, Mark Stein, Silke Stroh, 2013 The sites from which postcolonial cultural articulations develop and the sites at which they are received have undergone profound transformations within the last decades This book traces the accelerating emergence of cultural crossovers and overlaps in a global perspective and through a variety of disciplinary approaches It starts from the premise that after the spatial turn human action and cultural representations can no longer be grasped as firmly located in or clearly demarcated by territorial entities The collection of essays investigates postcolonial articulations of various genres and media in their spatiality and locatedness while envisaging acts of location as dynamic cultural processes It explores the ways in which critical spatial thinking can be made Productive Testing the uses and limitations of translocation as an open exploratory model for a critically spatialized postcolonial studies it covers a wide range of cultural expressions from the anglophone world and beyond literature film TV photography and other forms of visual art philosophy historical memory and tourism The extensive introductory chapter charts various facets of spatial thinking from a variety of disciplines and critically discusses their implications for postcolonial studies The Contributors essays range from theoretical interventions into the critical routines of postcolonial criticism to case studies of specific cultural texts objects and events reflecting temporal and spatial material and intellectual physical and spiritual mobility What emerges is a fascinating survey of the multiple directions postcolonial translocations can take in the future This book is aimed at students and scholars of postcolonial literary and cultural studies diaspora studies migration studies transnational studies globalisation studies critical space studies urban studies film studies media studies art history philosophy history and anthropology Contributors Diana Brydon Lars Eckstein Paloma Fresno Calleja Lucia Kr mer Gesa Mackenthun Thomas Martinek Sandra Meyer Therese M Meyer Marga Munkelt Lynda Ng Claudia Perner Katharina Rennhak

K. Shinozaki,2015-05-06 Migrant Citizenship from Below explores the dynamic local and transnational lives of Filipina and Filipino migrant domestic workers living in Sch nberg Germany Shinozaki examines their irregular migrant citizenship status from above which is produced by complex interactions between Germany s welfare care and migration regimes and the Philippines gendered politics of overseas employment Despite the predominant representation of these workers as invisible these spatially immobile migrants maintain sustained transnational engagements through parenting and religious practices Shinozaki studies the reverse gendered process of international reproductive labor migration in which women traveled first and were later joined by men Despite their structural vulnerability participant observations and biographical interviews with the migrants demonstrate that they enact and negotiate migrant citizenship in the workplace transnational households religious practices and through accessing health provisions Transnationalism, Education and Empowerment

Niranjan Casinader,2017-02-03 Transnationalism Education and Empowerment challenges the prevailing notion that transnationalism is concerned fundamentally with the process of enhanced global population movement that has been allied with modern globalisation Instead it argues that transnationalism is a state of mind disassociated from the notion of place that can be observed equally in societies of the past Drawing on the context of colonial Sri Lanka and the British Empire the book discusses how education in the British Empire was the means by which some marginalised groups in colonised societies were able to activate their transnational dispositions Far from being a universal oppressor of colonised people as argued by postcolonial scholarship colonial education was capable of creating pathways to life improvement that did not exist before the European colonial period providing agency to those who did not possess it prior to colonial rule The book begins by exploring the meaning of transnationalism arguing that it needs to be redefined to meet the realities of past and current global societies It then moves on to examine the ways education was used within the period of 18th and 19th century European colonialism with a particular emphasis on Sri Lanka and other parts of the former British Empire Drawing from examples of his own family s ancestry Casinader then discusses how some marginalised groups in parts of the British Empire were able to use education as the key to unlocking their pre existing transnational dispositions in order to create pathways for more prosperous futures Rather than being subjugated by colonial education they harnessed the educational aspects of British colonial education for their own goals This book is one of the first to contest and critically evaluate the contemporary conceptualisation of transnationalism particularly in the educational context It will be of key interest to academics researchers and postgraduate students in the fields of education the history of education imperial and colonial history

Chaloyan, 2017-06-28 This book concerns various modes of being transnational among a diasporic population Armenians in Germany by drawing parallels between the first and second generation migrants It puts forth the questions as to whether or not and which kind of transactional activity ties practices survive over generations and to what extent transnational engagements influence self identification and the sense of belonging It also examines how various modes of transnationalism in turn impact the sense of belonging The book fleshes out new perspectives and interpretations of transnationalism by revealing specific aspects of border spanning ties and by showing that connections to the country of origin do not necessarily need to be sustained or intensive in order to survive They can instead fluctuate depending on various factors but still have the right to be called transnational Introduction to Migration Studies Peter Scholten, 2022-06-03 This open access textbook provides an introduction to theories concepts and methodological approaches concerning various facets of migration and migration related diversities It starts with an introduction to migration studies and continues with an introductory reading of migration drivers migration infrastructures migration flows and several transversal topics such as gender and migration It also covers politics policies and governance as well as specific research methods As an interactive guide this book develops an innovative format that brings a connection with various online sources This means that whereas the chapters bring together literature in a coherent way they are also connected to IMISCOE's online interactive Migration Research Hub for further reading and for more empirical material on migration and diversity As such this textbook provides a very useful introductory reading for undergraduate and graduate students as well as for policymakers policy advisors and all those interested in studies on migration and migration related diversities Bosnian Post-Refugee Transnationalism

Maja Halilovic-Pastuovic, 2020-05-27 This book develops a new concept of post refugee transnationalism to describe experiences of Bosnian refugees who settled in Ireland after fleeing the conflict in 1990s Bosnia and Herzegovina The book explores their ambivalent relationship with their host and home countries Ireland and Bosnia arguing that their current experiences are best described as post refugee transnationalism Post refugee transnationalism is characterised by Bosnians dividing their time between the two countries rather than permanently settling in either and by engaging in summer migrations and diasporic interconnections and affiliations The book proposes post refugee transnationalism as different to other instances of transnationalism by stressing its enforced origin provoked by the conflict and institutionalized by the Dayton Peace Agreement The book combines Foucault s biopolitics David Theo Goldberg s understanding of nation states as racial states and Giorgio Agamben s expansion on the idea of potentiality to develop the concept of post refugee transnationalism
