Traumatic Realism The Demands Of Holocaust Representation:

Traumatic Realism Michael Rothberg, 2000 Drawing on a wide range of texts Michael Rothberg puts forth an overarching framework for understanding representations of the Holocaust Through close readings of such writers and thinkers as Theodor Adorno Maurice Blanchot Ruth Kluger Charlotte Delbo Art Spiegelman and Philip Roth and an examination of films by Steven Spielberg and Claude Lanzmann Rothberg demonstrates how the Holocaust as a traumatic event makes three fundamental demands on representation a demand for documentation a demand for reflection on the limits of representation and a demand for engagement with the public

Traumatism Realism Michael Rothberg, 2000-08-10 How to approach the Holocaust and its relationship to late twentieth century society While some stress the impossibility of comprehending this event others attempt representations in forms as different as the nonfiction novel and Hollywood blockbuster Schindler's List the documentary Shoah and the comic book Maus This problem is at the center of Michael Rothberg's book a focused account of the psychic intellectual and cultural aftermath of the Holocaust Drawing on a wide range of texts Michael Rothberg puts forth an overarching framework for understanding representations of the Holocaust Through close readings of such writers and thinkers as Theodor Adorno Maurice Blanchot Ruth Kluger Charlotte Delbo Art Spiegelman and Philip Roth and an examination of films by Steven Spielberg and Claude Lanzmann Rothberg demonstrates how the Holocaust as a traumatic event makes three fundamental demands on representation a demand for documentation a demand for reflection on the limits of representation and a demand for engagement with the public sphere and commodity culture As it establishes new grounding for Holocaust studies his book provides a new understanding of realism modernism and postmodernism as responses to the demands of history

The Future of Trauma Theory Gert Buelens, Samuel Durrant, Robert Eaglestone, 2013-10-30 This collection analyses the future of trauma theory a major theoretical discourse in contemporary criticism and theory The chapters advance the current state of the field by exploring new areas asking new questions and making new connections Part one History and Culture begins by developing trauma theory in its more familiar post deconstructive mode and explores how these insights might still be productive It goes on via a critique of existing positions to relocate trauma theory in a postcolonial and globalized world theoretically aesthetically and materially and focuses on non Western accounts and understandings of trauma memory and suffering Part two Politics and Subjectivity turns explicitly to politics and subjectivity focussing on the state and the various forms of subjection to which it gives rise and on human rights biopolitics and community Each chapter in different ways advocates a movement beyond the sort of texts and concepts that are the usual focus for trauma criticism and moves this dynamic network of ideas forward With contributions from an international selection of leading critics and thinkers from the US and Europe this volume will be a key critical intervention in one of the most important areas in contemporary literary criticism and theory

The Literature of Absolute War Nil Santiáñez, 2020-05-28 This book explores for the first time the literature of absolute war in connection to World War II From a transnational and comparative standpoint it addresses a set of theoretical historical and literary questions shedding new light on the nature of absolute war the literature on the world war of 1939 45 and modern war writing in general It determines the main features of the language of absolute war and how it gravitates around fundamental semantic clusters such as the horror terror and the specter The Literature of Absolute War studies the variegated responses given by literary authors to the extreme and seemingly unsolvable challenges posed by absolute war to epistemology ethics and language It also delves into the different poetics that articulate the writing on absolute war placing special emphasis on four literary practices traditional realism traumatic realism the fantastic and catastrophic modernism

Eva Figes' Writings Silvia Pellicer-Ortin, 2015-10-13 This book provides a general overview of the life and literary career of the prolific writer Eva Figes placing her extensive production within the various literary movements that have shaped the last century and drawing on the main features of her works and the different stages in her production Having recourse to the tools provided by narratology and using the theoretical background of the disciplines of ethics Holocaust and trauma studies together with other related fields such as theories of artistic representation identity questions concerning Jewishness contemporary history and philosophy it carries out a comprehensive analysis of Figes's main works The main starting hypothesis explored throughout the book is that an evolution may be traced in the aesthetics employed by Figes throughout her career from her initial Modernist phase to her more realist position to depict individual and collective traumas This development is a result of her need to find a mode of representing various traumatic events that have given shape to her personal and family history and to our recent collective history from the two World Wars and the Holocaust to the social exclusion suffered by minority groups like women or the Jewish immigrant communities This evolution will be also approached thematically as there is a development from her early interest in depicting isolated male traumatised characters to the traumas suffered by women under patriarchal structures and then to the encounter with her own suffering as a Holocaust survivor The author's evolution in the topics and narrative techniques employed mirrors the different stages in the individual and collective processes of recovery from traumatic experiences from the process of acting out to the eventual healing phase Thus the conclusions detailed here will be useful not only to make Figes work known to a wider audience but also to gain an insight into the evolution of the literary tendencies of the last few decades in trying to represent some of the most horrible events of the modern age

Film is Like a Battleground Marsha Gordon, 2017 Film is Like a Battleground Sam Fuller's War Movies is the first book to focus on the genre that best defined the American director's career the war film It draws on previously unexplored archival materials such as Fuller's Federal Bureau of Investigation files and WWII era 16mm films to explore the director's lifelong interest in making challenging thought provoking and often politically dangerous movies about war After establishing the roots of Fuller's cinematographic schooling in the trenches during World War II including careful consideration of his 16mm footage of a Nazi camp at the end of that war Film is Like a Battleground explores Fuller's first forays into hot war representation in Hollywood with the pioneering Korean conflict films The Steel Helmet 1951 and Fixed Bayonets 1951 This pair of films introduced Fuller to his first run ins with the American political machine when they triggered both FBI and Department of Defense investigations into his political sympathies and affiliations Fuller's cold war films Pickup on South Street 1953 and though it veers into hot war territory Hell and High Water 1954 are Fuller's responses to the political pressures he had now personally experienced and resented A chapter on Fuller's representation of pre American invasion Vietnam in China Gate 1957 alongside his unrealized Vietnam war screenplay The Rifle ca late 1960s illustrates the degree to which Fuller's representation of war and nation shifted even as he continued to probe war's impossible contradictions Film is Like a Battleground would be incomplete without a thorough exploration of the films depicting the war Fuller personally experienced and spent a lifetime contemplating WWII Verboten 1959 Merrill's Marauder's 1962 and The Big Red One 1980 demonstrate Fuller's representation of a morally justifiable war Fuller's 1959 CBS television pilot Dogface offers a glimpse at one of Fuller's failed attempts to bring his WWII story into American living rooms The book concludes with a chapter about a documentary film made late in the director's life that returns Fuller to the actual site of the Nazi's Falkenau camp at which he discusses his experiences there and that powerful unforgettable footage he shot in the spring of 1945
