The Threat Of Race Reflections On Racial Neoliberalism:

The Threat of Race David Theo Goldberg, 2011-09-09 Written by a renowned scholar of critical race theory The Threat of Race explores how the concept of race has been historically produced and how it continues to be articulated if often denied in today's world A major new study of race and racism by a renowned scholar of critical race theory Explores how the concept of race has been historically produced and how it continues to be articulated if often denied in today's world Argues that it is the neoliberal society that fuels new forms of racism Surveys race dynamics throughout various regions of the world from Western and Northern Europe South Africa and Latin America and from Israel and Palestine to the United States

The Threat of Race Reflections on Racial Neoliberalism, 2015 The Politics of Race and Racialisation in the Middle East Burcu Ozcelik, 2022-06-08 This book explores the extent to which race and racialisation offer us an explanatory framework to study the contemporary politics of identity in the Middle East today Most studies of the Middle East commonly presume that the race signifier is reserved for the juxtaposition of Black and White identity to which the Arab Persian and Turkish world counts itself as exterior Up until now few works on the Middle East have discussed race as central to their analysis This book works to remedy this shortcoming by extending the critical scholarship on race and racial subordination to the region's states and societies Crucially how does race interact with and confront other categories of identity such as gender religion sect and nationality What can a consideration of racialisation reveal about structures of oppression in the Middle East and evolving forms of belonging and dispossession Adopting race as the focus of enquiry allows us to unpack what we are really talking about when we talk about difference in the region the reproduction and resilience of power and the insidious harmful mutations of identity based discrimination in unequal societies The Politics of Race and Racialisation in the Middle East is a significant new contribution to racial and ethnic studies and will be a great resource for academics researchers and advanced students of sociology politics history social anthropology political and cultural geography The chapters in this book were originally published as a special issue of Ethnic and Racial Studies Covering the Border War Sang Hea Kil, 2019-11-08 Covering the Border War How the News Media Create Crime Race Nation and the USA Mexico Divide examines the notion of the body politic in border newspaper coverage of the USA Mexico divide and how the nation and immigration are racially imagined in crime news discourse where whiteness is associated with order and brownness is associated with disorder in a variety of imaginative nativist ways By applying critical discourse analysis methodology to the Los Angeles Times Arizona Republic Albuquerque Journal and Houston Chronicle during a peak epoch of border militarization policies 1993 2006 brownness emerges through a news crime frame that reflexively shows the values and meanings of whiteness and the nation At the body scale border crossings threaten the whiteness of the national body through suggestions of rape and disfigurement Border news discourse feminizes the nation with nurturing resources and services under threat of immigrant rape as well as expresses racial anxiety about a changing face of the nation Border news coverage

constructs immigrants as home intruders at the house scale both human and animal Whiteness at this scale reflexively signifies a law abiding rightful owner of property protecting against criminal trespassing Brown immigrants are also seen as wild animals which constructs whiteness burdened with the task of animal management Whiteness at the regional scale suggests a masculinized militarized battleground or a settled region threatened by a brown cataclysmic flood Finally the nation scale complements the body scale but in a more contemporary and scientific way Whiteness reflects a body politic fighting the disease of cancer immigration in two ways with an imagined militaristic immune system and with hi tech aggressive operations This diseased body politic communicates whiteness and nativism about the border through discursive border symptoms and border operations that represent the intersection of immunology discourse the racial construction of the body politic and anxiety about postmodern economic transformation and its impact on national borders

Asians Wear Clothes on the Internet Minh-Ha T. Pham, 2015-11-13 In the first ever book devoted to a critical investigation of the personal style blogosphere Minh Ha T Pham examines the phenomenal rise of elite Asian bloggers who have made a career of posting photographs of themselves wearing clothes on the Internet Pham understands their online activities as taste work practices that generate myriad forms of capital for superbloggers and the brands they feature A multifaceted and detailed analysis Asians Wear Clothes on the Internet addresses questions concerning the status and meaning of Asian taste in the early twenty first century the kinds of cultural and economic work Asian tastes do and the fashion public and industry's appetite for certain kinds of racialized eliteness Situating blogging within the historical context of gendered and racialized fashion work while being attentive to the broader cultural technological and economic shifts in global consumer capitalism Asians Wear Clothes on the Internet has profound implications for understanding the changing and enduring dynamics of race gender and class in shaping some of the most popular work practices and spaces of the digital fashion media economy

Race and the Cultural Industries Anamik Saha, 2018-01-08 Studies of race and media are dominated by textual approaches that explore the politics of representation But there is little understanding of how and why representations of race in the media take the shape that they do How one might ask is race created by cultural industries In this important new book Anamik Saha encourages readers to focus on the production of representations of racial and ethnic minorities in film television music and the arts His interdisciplinary approach combines critical media studies and media industries research with postcolonial studies and critical race perspectives to reveal how political economic forces and legacies of empire shape industrial cultural production and in turn media discourses around race Race and the Cultural Industries is required reading for students and scholars of media and cultural studies as well as anyone interested in why historical representations of the Other persist in the media and how they are to be challenged

The ^APower of Race in Cuba Danielle Pilar Cleland, 2017-06-30 The Power of Race in Cuba analyzes racial ideologies that negate the existence of racism and their effect on racial progress racial attitudes and activism through the lens of Cuba This work gives a nuanced portrait of black identity and draws from the many black spaces both formal and informal to highlight black consciousness on the island

Handbook on Global Social Justice Gary Craig, 2018-07-27 In the fifty years since Rawls seminal work A Theory of Justice the concept has been debated with those on the political right and left advocating very different understandings This unique global collection written by a group of international experts offers wide ranging analyses of the meaning of social justice that challenge the ability of the market to provide social justice for all The Handbook also looks at how the theory of social justice informs practice within a range of occupations or welfare divisions

Islam and the Liberal State Stephen H. Jones, 2020-11-26 National identity and liberal democracy are recurrent themes in debates about Muslim minorities in the West Britain is no exception with politicians responding to claims about Muslims lack of integration by mandating the promotion of fundamental British values including democracy and individual liberty This book engages with both these themes addressing the lack of understanding about the character of British Islam and its relationship to the liberal state It charts a gradual but decisive shift in British institutions concerned with Islamic education Islamic law and Muslim representation since Muslims settled in the UK in large numbers in the 1950s Based on empirical research including interviews undertaken over a ten year period with Muslims and analysis of public events organized by Islamic institutions Stephen Jones challenges claims about the isolation of British Islamic organizations and shows that they have decisively shaped themselves around British public and institutional norms He argues that this amounts to the building of a distinctive British Islam Using this narrative the book makes the case for a variety of liberalism that is open to the expression of religious arguments in public and to associations between religious groups and the state It also offers a powerful challenge to claims about the insularity of British Islamic institutions by showing how the national orientation of Islam called for by British policymakers is in fact already happening

Race and Racism in International Relations Alexander Anievas, Nivi Manchanda, Robbie Shilliam, 2014-10-30 International Relations as a discipline does not grant race and racism explanatory agency in its conventional analyses despite such issues being integral to the birth of the discipline Race and Racism in International Relations seeks to remedy this oversight by acting as a catalyst for remembering exposing and critically re articulating the central importance of race and racism in International Relations Focusing especially on the theoretical and political legacy of W E B Du Bois s concept of the colour line the cutting edge contributions in this text provide an accessible entry point for both International Relations students and scholars into the literature and debates on race and racism by borrowing insights from disciplines such as history anthropology and sociology where race and race theory figures more prominently yet they also suggest that the field of IR is itself an intellectually and strategic field through which to further confront the global colour line Drawing together a wide range of contributors this much needed text will be essential reading for students and scholars in a range of areas including Postcolonial studies race racism in world politics and international relations theory

Stuart Hall and 'Race' Claire Alexander, 2014-01-02 It is impossible to overestimate the importance of Stuart Hall's work in shaping the field of racial and ethnic studies for nearly five decades From his groundbreaking work Policing the Crisis through to his paradigm shattering New Ethnicities Hall's writing has redefined how race research is thought and done while Hall himself stands as an exemplar of the public and politically engaged intellectual This collection of essays from established and emerging scholars critically engages with Hall's legacy across this body of work from the foundations of cultural studies as a field of enquiry through his work on race and articulation to his insights into the politics of difference and diaspora identities These essays both reflect back on Hall's interventions and locate them within some of the key spaces and questions of our time from the political theology of race in South Africa to the terrain of the contemporary city from reflections on memory nationhood and belonging to new ethnicities online and the formation of postcolonial subjectivities The collection includes an in depth conversation between Les Back and Stuart Hall in which Hall reflects on his career and explores the challenges facing contemporary multicultural multifaith societies in a globalised world This book was published as a special issue of Cultural Studies

History, Politics and the Bible from the Iron Age to the Media Age James G. Crossley, Jim West, 2016-12-01 As biblical studies becomes increasingly fragmented this collection of essays brings together a number of leading scholars in order to show how historical reconstruction philology metacriticism and reception history can be part of a collective vision for the future of the field This collection of essays focuses more specifically on critical questions surrounding the construction of ancient Israel's minimalism the ongoing significance of lexicography the development of early Judaism orientalism and the use of the Bible in contemporary political discourses Contributors include John van Seters Niels Peter Lemche Ingrid Hjelm and Philip R Davies

Race for Education Mark Hunter, 2019-01-24 An examination of families and schools in South Africa revealing how the marketisation of schooling works to uphold the privilege of whiteness

Race Defaced Rodolfo Torres, Christopher Kyriakides, 2012-09-05 From Manifest Destiny to the White Man's Burden Harold Macmillan to Tony Blair and John F Kennedy to Barack Obama the historical development of racial doctrine has been closely connected to the relationship between radical and conservative politics This book compares different forms of racism and anti racism in the United States and Great Britain from the 19th century to today situating the development of racial doctrine within the political movements of the modern capitalist world order In conversation with current debates this work places the treatment of racialized human beings within a wider dynamic of capitalist exploitation It unpacks the influence of anti emancipatory thought on race relations and argues that there is a consensus of thought across the political spectrum underpinned by the contemporary acceptance of the impossibility of human emancipation Ultimately Race Defaced is a heretical intervention into questions of race and racism that challenges both conservative and radical orthodoxies Race and the Politics of Deception Christopher Mele, 2017-01-10 Unpacks America's history of dealing with racial problems through the inequitable use of public space Focuses on Chester Pennsylvania a small city comprised of primarily low income black residents roughly twenty miles south of Philadelphia Like many cities throughout the United States Chester is experiencing post industrial decline A development plan touted as a way to save the city proposes to turn one section into a desirable waterfront destination while leaving the rest of the struggling residents in fractured communities Dividing the city into spaces of tourism and consumption versus the everyday spaces of low income residents While these development plans are described as socially inclusive and economically revitalizing Mele asserts that political leaders and real estate developers intentionally exclude certain types of people most often low income people of color

Race and Racialization, 2E Tania Das Gupta, Carl E. James, Chris Andersen, Grace-Edward Galabuzi, Roger C. A. Maaka, 2018-02-01 Few words have generated as much debate and controversy as the word race Through a critical examination of this complex subject this anthology brings together essential contributions to the study of race and racialization An excellent compilation of classic and contemporary works by academic and activist writers Race and Racialization provides historical comparative and global perspectives on race and its intersection with gender class ethnicity indigeneity and sexuality This well updated second edition includes a new section on state multiculturalism and a diverse ensemble of Canadian and international contributors who explore such relevant themes as colonialism institutional racism ethnocentrism privilege marginalization and resistance Featuring introductions to each piece written by the editors annotated lists of supplementary readings to encourage further exploration and contributions by activists from Idle No More and Black Lives Matter this comprehensive and highly accessible anthology is perfect for students studying race racism cultural diversity identity and belonging social inequality and social justice

Indian Classical Dance and the Making of Postcolonial National Identities Sitara Thobani, 2017-03-27 Indian Classical Dance and the Making of Postcolonial National Identities explores what happens when a national cultural production is reproduced outside the immediate social political and cultural context of its origin Whereas most previous studies have analysed Indian classical dance in the context of Indian history and culture this volume situates this dance practice in the longstanding transnational linkages between India and the UK What is the relation between the contemporary performance of Indian classical dance and the constitution of national diasporic and multicultural identity Where and how does Indian dance derive its productive power in the postcolonial moment How do diasporic and nationalist representations of Indian culture intersect with depictions of British culture and politics It is argued that classical Indian dance has become a key aspect of not only postcolonial South Asian diasporic identities but also of British multicultural and transnational identity Based on an extensive ethnographic study of performances of Indian classical dance in the UK this book will be of interest to scholars of anthropology sociology South Asian studies Postcolonial Transnational and Cultural studies and Theatre and Performance studies Why Race Still Matters Alana Lentin, 2020-04-22 Why are you making this about race This question is repeated daily in public and in the media Calling someone racist in these times of mounting white supremacy seems to be a worse insult than racism itself In our supposedly post racial society surely it s time to stop talking about race This powerful refutation is a call to notice not just when and how race still matters but when how and why it is said not to matter Race critical scholar Alana Lentin argues that society is in urgent need of developing the skills of racial literacy by jettisoning the idea that race is something and unveiling what race does as a key technology of modern rule hidden in plain sight Weaving together international examples she eviscerates misconceptions such as reverse racism and the newfound acceptability of race realism bursts the I m not racist but justification complicates the common criticisms of identity politics and warns against using concerns about antisemitism as a proxy for antiracism Dominant voices in society suggest we are talking too much about race Lentin shows why we actually need to talk about it more and how in doing so we can act to make it matter less Race(ing) Intercultural Communication Dreama Moon, Michelle Holling, 2017-10-02 Race ing Intercultural Communication signals a crucial intervention in the field as well as in wider society where social and political events are calling for new ways of making sense of race in the 21st century Contributors to this book work at multiple intersections theoretically and methodologically in order to highlight relational im possibilities for intercultural communication Chapters underscore the continuing importance of studying race and the diverse mechanisms that maintain racial logics both in the U S and globally In the so called post racial era in which we live not only are disrupting notions of colour blindness crucially important but so too are imagining new ways of thinking through racial matters Ranging from discussions of new media popular culture and political discourse to resistance literature gay culture and academia contributors produce incisive analyses of the operations of race and white domination including the myriad ways in which these discourses are reproduced and disrupted This book was originally published as a special issue of the Journal of International and Intercultural Communication
