Things Supernatural and Causeless Marco Mincoff, 1992 After centuries of denigration Shakespeare s romances in the 1950s 1960s and 1970s came to be seen by many critics as among Shakespeare s most profound works as extensions of his tragic vision as experiments in dramatic form as deeply significant statements about art about nature about life Marco Mincoff s Things Supernatural and Causeless a work published in Sofia Bulgaria in 1987 just before his death but clearly written in the mid 1970s sets out to show why this evaluation of the romances is wrong and to propose another way of looking at and evaluating Pericles and the plays that followed it For Mincoff romance is an inherently inferior genre that no matter what

dramatic skills Shakespeare lavished on it could never yield great drama He argues that none of the romances has a profound message whatever meaning one finds in Pericles for instance can be found just as readily in Apollonius of Tyre Thus to look to these plays for greatness or for profound themes or ideas is to be inevitably disappointed or self deluded What one does find in the romances though are plays that diverge sharply from their sources and analogues and from other drama of the period in the attention given to the creation of a sense of wonder Mincoff finds in the systematic control of language crafting of scenes and altering of sources in the plays the suggestion of supernatural influence upon the play s action that exploits the wonderful inherent in Heliodorian romance Mincoff suspects that this sense of wonder really was important to Shakespeare and finds Lafew s words in All s Well That Ends Well both a rather bitter commentary on Jacobean society and a clue to our better understanding of the romances They say miracles are past and we have our philosophical persons to make modern and familiar things supernatural and causeless Hence it is that we make trifles of terrors ensconcing ourselves into seeming knowledge when we should submit ourselves to an unknown fear Mincoff can spot that which is truly unusual in the romances because of his extensive knowledge of the other drama and other literature of the period and because of his ability to place the plays within the context of their own time He places the above quotation for example within contemporary responses to skepticism he discusses such dramaturgical devices as Presenters and expository supernumeraries in the context of other plays that Shakespeare s audiences would have been seeing he is alert to the differences between our present day understanding of life and language and that of Shakespeare s age showing how words like art and nature are today understood in postromantic terms that make them far different words representing far different concepts from those used by Shakespeare in his romances

Buch, 2009-08-01 Drawing on hundreds of operas, singspiels, ballets and plays with supernatural themes Magic Flutes and Enchanted Forests argues that the tension between fantasy and Enlightenment era rationality shaped some of the most important works of eighteenth century musical theater and profoundly influenced how audiences and critics responded to them David J. Buch reveals that despite and perhaps even because of their fundamental irrationality, fantastic and exotic themes acquired extraordinary force and popularity during the period pervading theatrical works with music in the French, German and Italian mainstream. Considering prominent compositions by Gluck, Rameau and Haydn as well as many seminal contributions by lesser known artists, Buch locates the origins of these magical elements in such historical sources as ancient mythology, European fairy tales, the Arabian Nights and the occult. He concludes with a brilliant excavation of the supernatural roots of Mozart's The Magic Flute and Don Giovanni, building a new foundation for our understanding of the magical themes that proliferated in Mozart's wake An American Dictionary of the English Language Noah Webster, 1875 Cinefantastique, 1990 Chamber's Journal of Popular Literature, Science and Arts, 1897 The Athenaeum James Silk Buckingham, John Sterling, Frederick Denison Maurice, Henry Stebbing, Charles Wentworth Dilke, Thomas Kibble Hervey, William Hepworth Dixon, Norman Maccoll, Vernon Horace Rendall, John Middleton Murry, 1830 New York Journal of Romance, General Literature, Science and Art, 1855 Rock N Roll Gold Rush Maury Dean, 2003 This monster Rock n Roll survey focuses on the songs and the vibrant personalities who create them for college audiences and the general public.
