world's recent economic success stories Vietnam's rapid industrialization and passage into the middle income category the interest in cooperating to grow the economy overrode the elites instinct to allocate resources through the use of political power The book shows how the need to provide positive conditions for international investment altered pay off structures and pushed the all powerful Communist Party of Vietnam to engage in bargaining with provincial officials provincial officials with international investors and finally all coercive elites even with the working classes It describes the emergence of a harmony of interest among societal groups in which each group benefits from a growing economy and no one group can monopolize the benefits of growth without hurting itself The Vietnam case validates Nobel Prize winning economist Mancur Olson's proposition that elite predation can only be kept in check when the elite itself suffers from the economic decline it causes at least as much as it gains from the rents it collects
