Aristotle "theorized about learning and memory, motivation and emotion, perception and personality."

In December 1879, Wilhelm Wundt set up the first-ever psychology lab at the University of Leipzig, Germany.

- He created a machine to measure the time between hearing a ball hit something and the listening participant pressing a telegraph key -- seeking to measure the "atoms of the mind."

Edward Bradford Titchener, a student of Wilhelm Wundt, introduced structuralism -- a concept that utilized introspection (the examination/observation of one's own mental and emotional processes) to explore the mind's structural elements.

William James, philosopher-psychologist, more wisely thought to consider the "evolved functions of our thoughts and feelings." A functionalist, James sought to explore down-to-earth emotions/consider the function of thoughts and feelings.

The younger science of psychology developed from the more established fields of philosophy and biology.

Psychology:

- Science of behavior and mental processes.
- Behavior: anything an organism does.
- Mental processes: internal experiences we infer from behavior.
 - The study of our inner feelings and behaviors.

Wundt and Titchener focused on inner sensations in the early days of psychology.

Sigmund Freud emphasized how emotional responses to childhood experiences and our unconscious thoughts affect our behavior.

Behaviorism:

- Psychology = objective science
- Studies behavior without reference to mental processes.
 - Most scientists follow the first definition, not second.
