Tourism Anthropocene Contemporary Geographies Mobility:

Tourism and the Anthropocene Martin Gren, Edward H. Huijbens, 2015-11-06 This book brings the field of tourism into dialogue with what is captured under the varied notions of the Anthropocene. It explores issues and challenges which the Anthropocene may pose for tourism and it offers significant insights into how it might reframe conceptual and empirical undertakings in tourism research. Furthermore, through the lens of the Anthropocene, this book also spurs thinking of the role of tourism in relation to sustainable development, planetary boundaries, ethics, and what is framed as geo ethics and refocused tourism theory to make sense of tourism's earthly entanglements and thinking tourism beyond Nature Society. The multidisciplinary nature of the material will appeal to a broad academic audience such as those working in tourism geography, anthropology, and sociology.

Anthropocene Ecologies Mary Mostafanezhad, Roger Norum, 2020-06-09 Anthropocene Ecologies brings political ecology and tourism studies to bear on the Anthropocene. Through a collective examination of political ecologies of the Anthropocene by leading scholars in anthropology, geography, and tourism studies, the book addresses critical themes of gender, health, conservation, agriculture, climate change, disaster, coastal, marine management, and sustainability. Each chapter theoretically and empirically unravels entanglements of tourism, nature, and imagination to expose the political, ecological drivers of the Anthropocene as a material and symbolic force and its deepening integration with tourism. Grounded in ethnographic and qualitative research, the volume is interdisciplinary in scope yet linked in its shared focus on the political threat as well as the social potential of the Anthropocene and its imaginaries. This collection contributes to emerging scholarship on tourism sustainability and global environmental change in the current geological epoch. Anthropocene Ecologies will be of great interest to political ecology focused scholars of tourism, socio environmental change, and the Anthropocene. The chapters were originally published as a special issue in the Journal of Sustainable Tourism.

The Global Arctic Handbook Matthias Finger, Lassi Heininen, 2018-06-27 This book offers a systematic and comprehensive introduction to the Arctic in the era of globalization or as it is referred to here the Global Arctic. It provides an overview of the current status of the Arctic as a result of global change while also considering the changes in the Arctic that have a global effect. It positions the Arctic within a broad international context; it addresses four main themes: economics and resources, environment and earth system dynamics, peoples and cultures, and geopolitics and governance. Gathering together expert authors and building on long term research activities, it serves as a valuable reference for future research endeavors.

The Routledge Handbook of Tourism Geographies Julie Wilson, Dieter K. Müller, 2024-10-24 The Routledge Handbook of Tourism Geographies 2nd Edition offers a comprehensive re-evaluation of the recent developments, conceptual, theoretical, and empirical debates, and critical issues in this field of study. Reflecting on and building from its original aim of rethinking geographical approaches to tourism, the volume explores contemporary tourism contexts and concepts as marked by the present era of polycrises, setting out renewed and reoriented

Stuck with Tourism Matilde Córdoba Azcárate, 2020-10-20 Tourism has become one of the most powerful forces organizing the predatory geographies of late capitalism. It creates entangled futures of exploitation and dependence extracting resources and labor and eclipsing other ways of doing living and imagining life. And yet tourism also creates jobs encourages infrastructure development and in many places inspires the only possibility of hope and well being. Stuck with Tourism explores the ambivalent nature of tourism by drawing on ethnographic evidence from the Mexican Yucatán Peninsula a region voraciously transformed by tourism development over the past forty years. Contrasting labor and lived experiences at the beach resorts of Cancún protected natural enclaves along the Gulf coast historical buildings of the colonial past and maquilas for souvenir production in the Maya heartland this book explores the moral political ecological and everyday dilemmas that emerge when as Yucatán's inhabitants put it people get stuck in tourism's grip.

Islandscapes and Tourism Joseph M Cheer, Solène Prince, Philip Hayward, 2023-04-07 The links between islands and tourism as sights of pleasure is embodied in the touristification of sun sand and sea. Islandscapes are central to the tourist imaginaries that shape islands as touristified places curated designed and commodified for both mass tourism and more niche inclined versions. Yet while islands are parlayed for touristic pleasure seekers islands are also home to longstanding communities that have variously battled with the tyranny of distance from metropolitan centres as well as the everyday challenges of climate change effects and benefitted from their isolation from modern day pressures. This anthology of articles previously published in the journal Shima explores emergent themes that describe how island peoples adapt and respond in localised cultural islandscapes as a consequence of tourism expansion. It is aimed at researchers in island studies tourism sustainability human geography cultural studies sociology and anthropology. The anthology will also be of interest to those with an abiding interest in the trajectories of islands and their peoples particularly where tourism has come to shape islandscapes.

Economic Geography of Tourism João Romão, 2025-05-13 This book provides an in depth exploration of the dynamic intersections between economic geography and tourism highlighting how spatial economic and social processes shape tourism development and how tourism in turn transforms economic spaces. Combining theoretical insights with real world case studies it offers a comprehensive understanding of tourism's evolving role within economic geography. The first part lays a strong theoretical foundation introducing key concepts such as the Tourism Area Life Cycle path dependence agglomeration economies smart specialization and regional resilience within the context of tourism research. It explores spatial and temporal patterns in tourism development the growing influence of digitalization and smart tourism and the roles of innovation and competitiveness in shaping destination dynamics. The second part shifts focus to tourism's broader economic and social implications. It critically assesses urban tourism's links to gentrification circular economies and social conflicts while exploring strategies to address spatial enclaves and foster integrated tourism networks in low density and fragile regions Environmental challenges including the impact of tourism mobility on local communities and ecosystems are also examined The book concludes by addressing the tensions and future trajectories of tourism development questioning whether sustainable or regenerative tourism can thrive within market driven economies where decision making prioritizes individual preferences over collective well being It calls for a reassessment of contemporary policy and regulatory frameworks to align tourism with broader economic and environmental goals By bridging economic geography and tourism studies this book equips scholars policymakers and practitioners with analytical tools to rethink tourism development and advocate for strategies that are economically viable and effectively sustainable inclusive and resilient

Critical Theories in Dark Tourism Nitasha Sharma, Annaclaudia Martini, Dallen J. Timothy, 2024-12-02 This book facilitates a critical investigation of gaps in theorizing and framing dark tourism by navigating through some onto epistemological issues theoretical entanglements future possibilities and the application of critical theoretical perspectives related to affect and emotions human animal studies postcolonialism feminism trauma studies posthumanism power and identity In doing so it advances the need to connect critical theory pragmatism and contemporary issues of social and global relevance Given the growing body of critical research within tourism studies dark tourism has somewhat lagged behind For example critical tourism researchers have been examining postcolonialism for two decades but dark tourism research has only sporadically engaged with this topic Similarly the issue of gender has been curiously neglected within dark tourism In addition dark tourism research has tended to shy away from the big challenges facing contemporary societies Through its engagement with a range of critical theories this volume not only addresses gaps in the existing dark tourism literature but also moves the debate forward in exciting new directions This volume is well placed to demonstrate to other disciplines and fields that dark tourism research can be critical theoretically grounded and transformative Duncan Light The Question of Space Marijn Nieuwenhuis, David Crouch, 2017-09-29 The spatial turn has been deeply influential across the humanities and social sciences for several decades Yet despite this long term influence most volumes focus mainly on geography and tend to take a Eurocentric approach to the topic The Question of Space takes a multidisciplinary approach to understanding how the spatial turn has affected other disciplines By connecting developments across radically different fields the volume bridges the very borders that separate the academic space From new geographies through performance the internet politics and the arts the distinctive chapters undertake conversations that often surprisingly converge in approach questions and insights Together the chapters transcend longstanding disciplinary boundaries to build a constructive dialogue around the question of space

Island Futures Mimi Sheller, 2020-10-16 In Island Futures Mimi Sheller delves into the ecological crises and reconstruction challenges affecting the entire Caribbean region during a time of climate catastrophe Drawing on fieldwork on postearthquake reconstruction in Haiti flooding on the Haitian Dominican border and recent hurricanes Sheller shows how ecological vulnerability and the quest for a just recovery in the Caribbean emerge from specific transnational political economic and cultural dynamics Because foreigners are largely ignorant of Haiti's political cultural and economic contexts especially the historical role of the United States their efforts to help often exacerbate inequities Caribbean survival under ever worsening environmental and political conditions Sheller contends demands radical alternatives to the pervasive neocolonialism racial capitalism and US military domination that have perpetuated what she calls the colonality of climate Sheller insists that alternative projects for Haitian reconstruction social justice and climate resilience and the sustainability of the entire region must be grounded in radical Caribbean intellectual traditions that call for deeper transformations of
