Fabricating Architecture Robert Corser, 2012-03-20 In this increasingly digitized world, any investigation of architecture inevitably leads to considerations of fabrication. But despite its omnipresence in contemporary practice and theory, digital design remains a fluid concept; its development and current influence discussed in scattered articles.

Making Camp Martin Hogue, 2023-05-09 A visual exploration and history of one of America's favorite pastimes: Car camping, hike-in tent camping, bivouacking, mountaineering, RV camping, glamping, backyard camping—whatever your style, outdoor adventure awaits. For camping enthusiasts, this fascinating and packable volume holds a comprehensive look at the origins of the practice and the ways that bring all these enthusiasts together. From the early days of recreational camping in the late nineteenth century through the multitude of modern camping options available today, Making Camp explores the history and evolution of the popular activity through the lens of its most important and familiar components: the campsite, the campfire, the picnic table, the map, the tent, the sleeping bag, as well as the oft-invisible systems for delivering water and managing trash. Find out how early nineteenth-century German peasants fashioned rudimentary sleeping bags by burrowing into bags full of leaves for the night. Look back over several millennia to learn about the progression of tents from animal skins, goat's hair, and heavy canvas to featherweight nylon. Learn about the ways in which the skills to build and maintain a campfire have been displaced by the portable gas stove. Pinpoint the details of the essential campground map and its unique place in the camping imagination. Each chapter includes a broad range of visuals to help illustrate the rich history of camping and our collective devotion to it, including drawings, patents, diagrams, sketches, paintings, advertisements, and historical photographs. A must-have for avid campers, nature lovers, and all who seek to connect with the universe by sleeping under the stars.

Heading Out Terence Young, 2017-06-06 Who are the real campers? Through hiking, backpackers traversing the Appalachian Trail, the family in an SUV making a tour of national parks and sleeping in tents at campgrounds, people committed to the RV lifestyle who move their homes from state to state as season and whim dictate. Terence Young would say all of the above. Camping is one of the country's most popular pastimes; tens of millions of Americans go camping every year. Whether on foot, on horseback, or in RVs, campers have been enjoying themselves for well more than a century, during which time camping's appeal has shifted and evolved. In Heading Out, Young takes readers into nature and explores with them the history of camping in the United States Young shows how camping progressed from an impulse among city dwellers to seek temporary retreat from their exhausting everyday surroundings to a form of recreation so popular that an industry grew up around it to provide an endless supply of ever lighter and more convenient gear Young humanizes camping's history by spotlighting key figures in its development and a sampling of the campers and the variety of their excursions Readers will meet William H H Murray who launched a craze for camping in 1869 Mary Bedell who car camped around America for 12 000 miles in 1922 William Trent Jr who struggled to end racial segregation in national park campgrounds before World War II and Carolyn Patterson who worked with the U S Department of State in the 1960s and 1970s to introduce foreign service personnel to the real America through trailer camping These and many additional characters give readers a reason to don a headlamp pull up a chair beside the campfire and discover the invigorating and refreshing history of sleeping under the stars
