Trampoline An Illustrated Novel:

Trampoline Robert Gipe, 2015 When Dawn Jewell fifteen restless curious and wry joins her grandmother's fight against mountaintop removal mining in spite of herself she has to decide whether to save a mountain or save herself be ruled by love or by anger remain in the land of her birth or run for her life Trampoline Robert Gipe, 2015-11-20 Dawn Jewell is fifteen She is restless curious and wry She listens to Black Flag speaks her mind and joins her grandmother's fight against mountaintop removal mining almost in spite of herself I write by ear says Robert Gipe and Dawn's voice is the essence of his debut novel Trampoline She lives in eastern Kentucky with her addict mother and her Mamaw whose stance against the coal companies has earned her the community's ire Jagged and honest Trampoline is a powerful portrait of a place struggling with the economic and social forces that threaten and define it Inspired by oral tradition and punctuated by Gipe's raw and whimsical drawings it is above all about its heroine Dawn as she decides whether to save a mountain or save herself be ruled by love or ruled by anger remain in the land of her birth or run for her life Pop Robert Gipe, 2021-02-26 A coming of age story of hope betrayal and familial legacy set in rural Appalachia Set in the run up and aftermath of the 2016 election Pop brings the Canard County trilogy to a close as Dawn the young narrator of Gipe's first novel Trampoline is now the mother of the seventeen year old Nicolette Whereas Dawn has become increasingly agoraphobic as the internet persuades her the world is descending into chaos Nicolette narrates an Appalachia where young people start businesses rooted in local food culture and work to build community But Nicolette's precocious rise in the regional culinary scene is interrupted when her policeman cousin violently assaults her setting in motion a chain of events that threaten to destroy the family and Canard County in the process In the tradition of Gipe's first two novels Pop's Appalachia is full of clear eyed caring creative and complicated people struggling to hang on to what is best about their world and reject what is not Their adventures reflect an Appalachia that is overrun by outside commentators looking for stories to tell about the region sometimes positive sometimes negative but almost always oversimplified Appalachia on the Table Erica Abrams Locklear, 2023-04-15 When her mother passed along a cookbook made and assembled by her grandmother Erica Abrams Locklear thought she knew what to expect But rather than finding a homemade cookbook full of apple stack cake leather britches pickled watermelon or other traditional mountain recipes Locklear discovered recipes for devil's food cake with coconut icing grape catsup and fig pickles Some recipes even relied on food products like Bisquick Swans Down flour and Calumet baking powder Where Locklear wondered did her Appalachian food script come from And what implicit judgments had she made about her grandmother based on the foods she imagined she would have been interested in cooking Appalachia on the Table argues in part that since the conception of Appalachia as a distinctly different region from the rest of the South and the United States the foods associated with the region and its people have often been used to socially categorize and stigmatize mountain people Rather than investigate the actual foods consumed in Appalachia Locklear instead focuses on the representations of foods consumed implied moral judgments about those foods and how those judgments shape reader perceptions of those depicted The question at the core of Locklear's analysis asks How did the dominant culinary narrative of the region come into existence and what consequences has that narrative had for people in the mountains

Writing Appalachia Katherine

Ledford, Theresa Lloyd, Rebecca Stephens, 2020-03-17 Despite the stereotypes and misconceptions surrounding Appalachia the region has nurtured and inspired some of the nation's finest writers Featuring dozens of authors born into or adopted by the region over the past two centuries Writing Appalachia showcases for the first time the nuances and contradictions that place Appalachia at the heart of American history This comprehensive anthology covers an exceedingly diverse range of subjects genres and time periods beginning with early Native American oral traditions and concluding with twenty-first century writers such as Wendell Berry bell hooks Silas House Barbara Kingsolver and Frank X Walker Slave narratives local color writing folklore work songs modernist prose each piece explores unique Appalachian struggles questions and values The collection also celebrates the significant contributions of women people of color and members of the LGBTQ community to the region's history and culture Alongside Southern and Central Appalachian voices the anthology features northern authors and selections that reflect the urban characteristics of the region As one text gives way to the next a more complete picture of Appalachia emerges a landscape of contrasting visions and possibilities

Dialects at School Jeffrey

Reaser, Carolyn Temple Adger, Walt Wolfram, Donna Christian, 2017-05-12 Like its predecessor Dialects in Schools and Communities this book illuminates major language-related issues that educational practitioners confront such as responding to dialect-related features in students' speech and writing teaching Standard English teaching students about dialects and distinguishing dialect difference from language disorders It approaches these issues from a practical perspective rooted in sociolinguistic research with a focus on the research base for accommodating dialect differences in schools Expanded coverage includes research on teaching and learning and attention to English language learners All chapters include essential information about language variation language attitudes and principles of handling dialect differences in schools classroom-based samples illustrating the application of these principles and an annotated resources list for further reading The text is supported by a Companion Website www.routledge.com/cw/Reaser providing additional resources including activities discussion questions and audio-visual enhancements that illustrate important information and/or pedagogical approaches Comprehensive and authoritative Dialects at School reflects both the relevant research bases in linguistics and education and educational practices concerning language variation The problems and examples included are authentic coming from the authors' own research observations and interactions in public school classrooms and feedback in workshops Highlights include chapters on oral language and reading and writing in dialectally diverse classrooms as well as a chapter on language awareness for students offering a clear and compelling overview of how teachers can inspire students to learn more about language variation including their own community language patterns An inventory of dialect features in the

Appendix organizes and expands on the structural descriptions presented in the chapters

Rx Appalachia Lesly-Marie Buer, 2020-05-12 Riveting A necessary book for those seeking to understand the opioid crisis and the broader political economy of which it is part Jessica Wilkerson author of To Live Here You Have to Fight Prescription opioids are associated with rising rates of overdose deaths and hepatitis C and HIV infection in the US including in rural Central Appalachia Yet despite extensive media attention there is a dearth of studies examining rural opioid use Challenging popular understandings of Appalachia spread by such pundits as JD Vance Rx Appalachia documents how women families and communities cope with generational systems of oppression Using the narratives of women who use or have used drugs RX Appalachia explores the gendered inequalities that situate women's encounters with substance abuse treatment as well as additional state interventions targeted at them in one of the most impoverished regions in the United States

What You Are Getting Wrong About Appalachia Elizabeth Catte, 2018-02-06 An antidote to bigotry and a perfect primer for readers seeking factual realistic portrayals of the rural and working class experience Los Angeles Times In 2016 headlines declared Appalachia ground zero for America's forgotten tribe of white working class voters Journalists flocked to the region to extract sympathetic profiles of families devastated by poverty abandoned by establishment politics and eager to consume cheap campaign promises What You Are Getting Wrong About Appalachia is a frank assessment of America's recent fascination with the people and problems of the region The book analyzes trends in contemporary writing on Appalachia presents a brief history of Appalachia with an eye toward unpacking stereotypes and provides examples of writing art and policy created by Appalachians as opposed to for Appalachians ultimately offering a much needed insider's perspective on the region The most damning critique of Hillbilly Elegy New York Review of Books Succeeds in providing a richer more complex view Publishers Weekly A necessary response to the bigotry against a much maligned culture Chris Offutt award winning author of Code of the Hills

Appalachian Ecocriticism and the Paradox of Place Laura Wright, Jessica Cory, 2023-05 Ecocriticism and Appalachian studies continue to grow and thrive in academia as they expand on their foundational works to move in new and exciting directions When researching these areas separately there is a wealth of information However when researching Appalachian ecocriticism specifically the lack of consolidated scholarship is apparent With Appalachian Ecocriticism and the Paradox of Place editors Jessica Cory and Laura Wright have created the only book length scholarly collection of Appalachian ecocriticism Appalachian Ecocriticism and the Paradox of Place is a collection of scholarly essays that engage environmental and ecocritical theories and Appalachian literature and film These essays many from well established Appalachian studies and southern studies scholars and ecocritics engage with a variety of ecocritical methodologies including ecofeminism ecospiritualism queer ecocriticism and materialist ecocriticism to name a few Adding Appalachian voices to the larger ecocritical discourse is vital not only for the sake of increased diversity but also to allow those unfamiliar with the region and its works to better understand the Appalachian region in a critical and authentic way Including Appalachia in the larger

ecocritical community allows for the study of how the region its issues and its texts intersect with a variety of communities thus allowing boundless possibilities for learning and analysis     Empowering Youth to Confront the Climate Crisis in English Language Arts Allen Webb, Richard Beach, Jeff Share, 2024-12-24 Discover how English teachers and their students confront the climate crisis using critical inquiry focusing on justice and taking action Working in today s politically polarized environment these teachers know first hand about teaching and learning in communities that support and resist climate education This much needed book describes outstanding English instruction that includes creative and analytical writing critical place based learning contemporary cli fi young adult Indigenous and youth authored literature Afrofuturism critical media analysis digital media production and many other ways in which students can explore the crisis and have their voices heard and respected While the focus is on high school and middle school English Language Arts there are also relevant and inspiring elementary and college examples This resource provides everything teachers need to help young people understand and address the climate emergency through supportive and empowering transformational learning Book Features Emphasizes addressing the climate crisis as an important dimension of English language arts Illustrates relevant and effective ways to use writing critical inquiry literature media speaking the arts and publishing Provides examples of students connecting local climate impacts with national and global events critically analyzing climate denial delay and inaction considering questions of justice imagining different futures and developing their voices and activism Shares teaching methods classroom stories and student work from cities suburbs and rural classrooms Examines questions of climate justice Who causes the crisis Who suffers Why do governments fail to act What is the experience of climate refugees What type of world will young people inherit Explains how students can take action join with others and become involved in solutions Additional resources are available for each chapter at <http://climatecrisisela.pbworks.com>
