

Trusts Law

With its unique contextual emphasis and authoritative commentary, Trusts Law: Text and Materials is a book that no serious undergraduate on trust courses can afford to be without.

The book is divided into four main parts: trusts and the preservation of family wealth; trusts and family breakdown; trusts and commerce; and trusts and non-profit activity. Within each of these parts, leading cases, statutes, and historical and research materials are placed alongside the narrative of the author's text to give emphasis both to general theories of trust concepts and to the practical operation of trusts. Attention is also given to important themes such as the developing relationship between trusts law and other areas of private law, particularly the law of restitution, and the trend towards greater integration between Equity and the common law.

This new edition takes account of all relevant judicial and legislative developments since the third edition and incorporates discussion of current law reform proposals such as those relating to the law of charity. It also expands discussion of key themes in current developments of the law especially those relating to (i) the tensions between Trusts Law and the Law of Restitution and (ii) the consequences of the still extant division between common law and Equity.

Graham Moffat is Senior Lecturer in Law at Warwick University, and teaches Trusts Law, Equity and Law of Labour Relations at undergraduate and postgraduate level. He has published widely on trusts law and charity law.
